ON CUTTING EDGE

SHS surges into future...

Everyone talks about the crisis in education today in American society. Streetsboro Schools are making the move toward the 21st century by investing heavily in computers, programs and computer education. Gone are the days of typewriters being used for typing and business classes.

Also, gone are the days of painstaking layout and gluing of newspaper and yearbook layouts. Reports for classes are a snap with computer aided word processing.

And, it is just the beginning. With 50 Macintosh computers in the high school and more being ordered, the sky is the limit on the technological advancements that will be opened to students of Streetsboro City Schools.

The book you are holding is one example of where that technology is taking us. Every headline, screen and piece of copy was done by the Golden Key staff on computers. So, sit back, remember 1991, and COMPUTE THIS...

What a week!

Seniors cop top spirit week competitions

Excitement and exhilaration is contagious the week of October 8 1990, as the traditional homecoming spirit week begins. The week's festivities began with each class dressing in different dress codes.

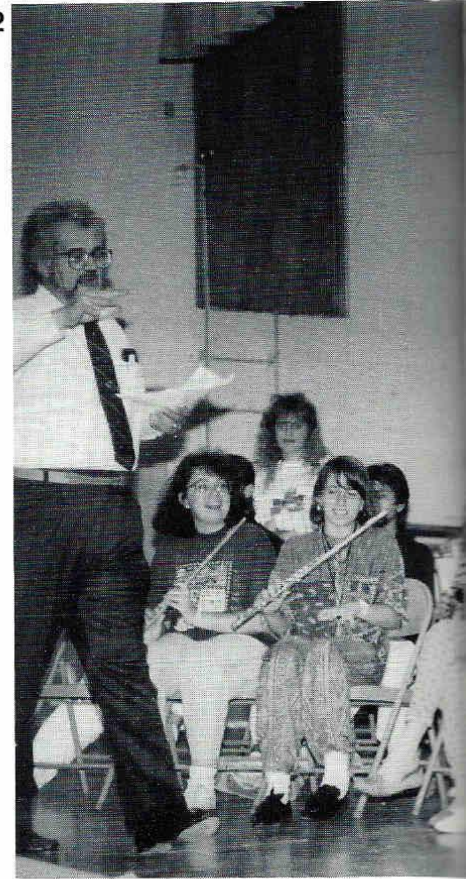

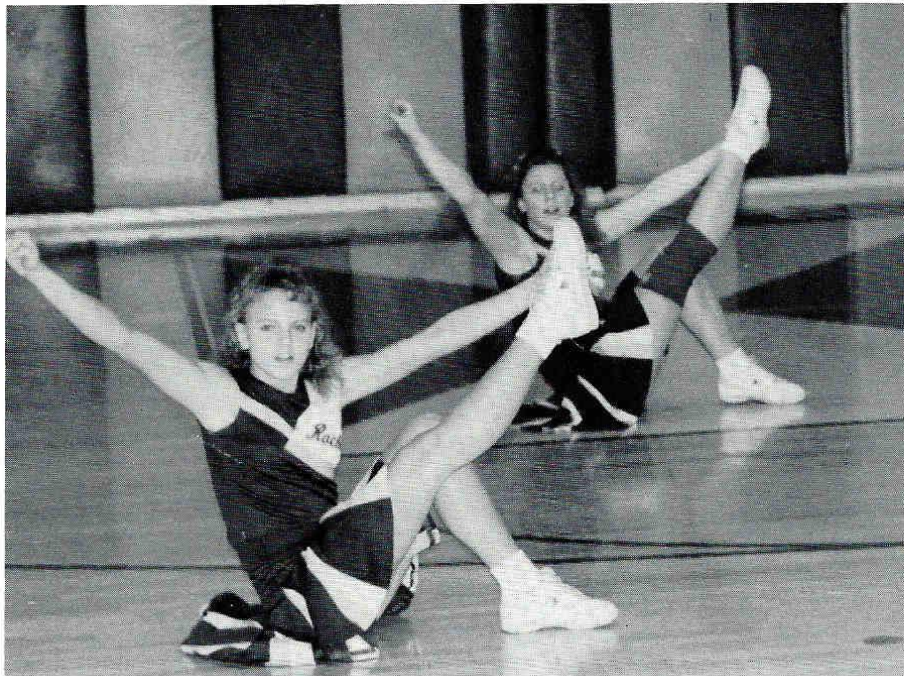

Monday everyone wore hats, sweat-shirts and sweatpants. Tuesday, freshmen wore polka dots, sophomores wore plaids, juniors wore floral prints and the seniors continued the tradition by wearing Togas. The teachers participated by wearing their favorite college sweats.

On Wednesday, a few showed their "true" side by dressing as the classic nerd. Topping off the week on Thursday was Blue and Gold day and the traditional Bon Fire in the evening at 7:30 in the Streetsboro City Park. Even though there were difficulties starting the fire, the cheerleaders kept the spirit glowing with chants and cheers.

Friday evening, as the crowd roared with anticipation for the kick-off, the Rockets exploded to the victory over the Woodridge Bulldogs and Tammy Riffle was named homecoming queen with Al Marez being named her king. Saturday ended the big week in the Streetsboro gymnasium with the Homecoming dance. The theme of the dance was Carnival as the gym was decorated with balloons and a carousel in the middle of the floor.

The annual contests between the four classes ended with the seniors winning both the hall decoration and the spirit link competitions.

CHEERS

Keeping school spirit alive at a high school is a tough job for anyone, but the Streetsboro High School cheerleaders have gotten this job covered. With the new cheers and their optimistic attitude, these girls get the crowds moving and the fans cheering along with them. This year the cheerleaders went out of their way to get more pep rallies scheduled and came out and fired up the crowd. It was evident that due to their effort there was a greater response than in years past. One sign of that was the Streetsboro High "Bleacher Creatures," a new addition to the SHS crowd. The "creatures" number around 75 and can be seen at any home sports activity.

End season with .500 record

This seasons football team ended with a .500 record. They had two people named to the All PCL team. Seniors Bryon Scheffel and Al Marez were both named as receivers.

Second team went to seniors Joe Brock and Andy LaFlame as linemen. Also receiving second team honors was junior Chris Huber for his efforts as quarterback. Honorable Mention were Senior Pat Gahagan as Defensive back, junior Jim Schumaker as Full Back, and sophomore Kevin Kasarda as Half Back.

The team had many goals such as the obvious, to win the PCL, and to have the best record ever at Streetsboro. During the end of the season the team had a game amongst themselves. It was the seniors against the rest of the team. The seniors called themselves the Best Friends and the others called themselves the Dorks. The seniors won the game 7-0.

"It was sad playing the last game of my high school career. I've had a lot of fun these last four years, especially playing with the guys. I'm going to miss them," said senior Rick Deal.

“ Obviously, we were not real happy with a 5-5 record, but we did win the last three out of four after meeting the top teams in the league for three straight weeks. ”

Flags, majorettes twirl for victory

In the 1990-91 season, the Flag Corps and majorette squad showed their true colors. This year for the first time freshman were allowed to join the Flag Corps. "I think Freshman should be allowed to try out, alot of girls were good enough as freshman but never got the chance," stated Sophomore Jennifer Rusnak. The captains of the Flag Corps this year were Senior, Nicole LaBant and Sophomore Laurel Darrah. The other members of the squad consisted of sophomores Jill Vorell, Susan Todd, Jennifer Rusnak, Seniors Lisa Char-ron, Wendy Sedola, and Freshman, Michelle Kolazar.

The majorette squad was lead by Senior captain, Kelli Reynolds. Kelli had been on the squad for 3 years and was really looking forward to her senior year. "Twirling the Batan is alot of fun. I am really going to miss it." stated Kelli. The other members of the team were Junior Susan-Hunt and Freshman Denise Hovanetz.

Cinderella Ending!

Varsity volleyball team is district runner-up in tournament.

Lady Rocket Volleyball team had a disappointing season. But came out strong in the end when they traveled to Chagrin Falls to district tournament at the end of their season.

The first match against Garfield was very close but the lady Rocket came out in the end as winners. Excitement and energy was an important factor in the next match as they began the game against the number one seeded team Woodridge.

The first game the they won 15-13. The next game was really close but they lost 6-15. Finally in the last game the rockets showed it their all to once again win another game 15-10. After that match the ladies had a week off to practice. Once again they traveled back to Chagrin where they played two more games. They won the first and lost the second game. So that is the Fairy Tale of the Lady Rocket who ended their season as District Runner-ups.

Harriers reach deep for stamina

Strettsboro High School's 1990 Cross Country team was hurt by their inexperience but still never lost their desire to win. Led by seniors Mike Moldvay, Chris Longo, Doug Yoder, Bud Washinski and Todd Jankowski, the team struggled to a 1-9 record. Rounding out the team were freshman Matt Gillespie and Rodney Yoder. With his first year coaching Mr. Robert Galasso led the team through the struggling season. With all things considered it was not a bad season for the Rockets.

Overall times improved over the course of the year. Moldvay set the pace by running a 18:06 for his yearly best time at home, by placing fifth against Crestwood and Mogadore. Washinski was a close seventh on the team by running a 18:50 at the same meet.

The lady Rockets won against Mogadore by a margin of 50-45 and they beat Aurora by 20, of a score 57-37.

Rocket wrestlers capture 10th place in state tourney

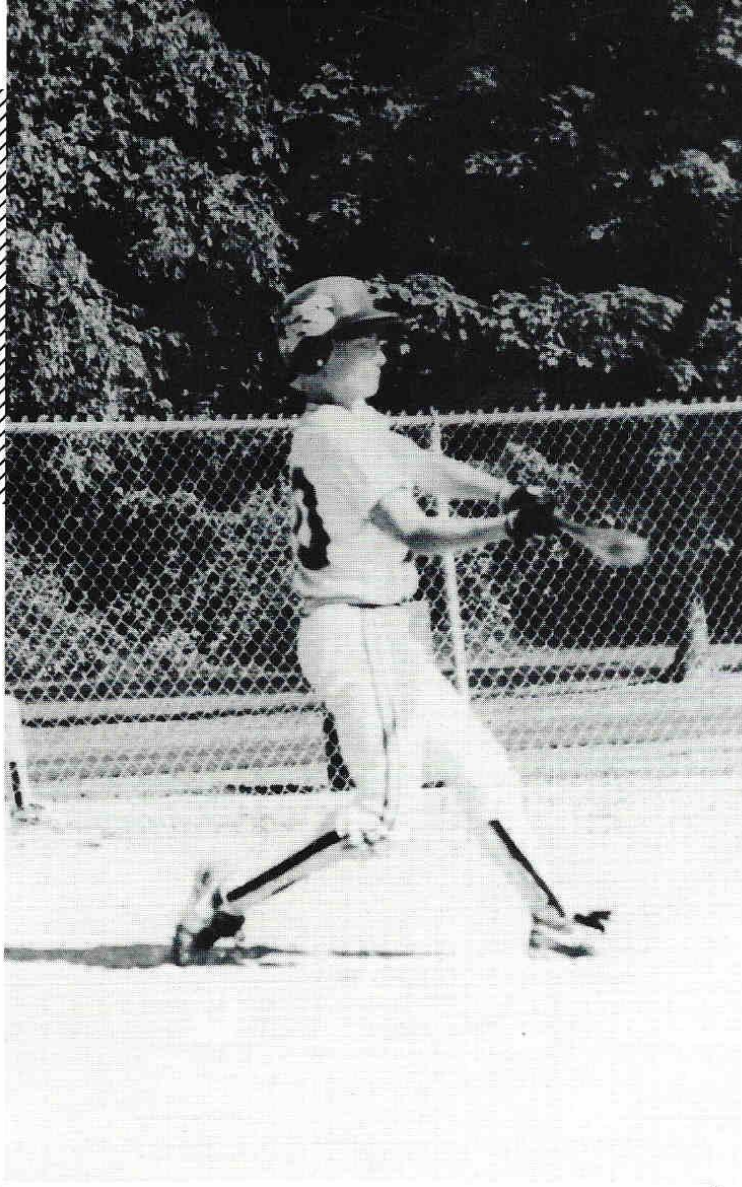

The wrestling team this year had its ups and downs. Performing well in tournaments and having trouble in dual meets hurt the teams overall record. A disappointing injury to an improving Jason Smith left the 189 pound weight class as the only forfeit. "I really think I could have helped the team a lot," said Jason. "Next year I will do my best to be back and better than ever." At the beginning of the year 103 the pound weight class was wide open, but sophomore Branden Cox adequately filled the gap. "I improved a lot this year and was glad to help out the team," stated Branden.

Having a good year in the Sectionals the wrestlers came out with five placers advancing to Districts. Four of those five advanced again to the State Finals. Jeff Futo led the Rockets with a second place at the 145 weight class. The Boardwine brothers, Joe and Jim, both took a sixth place. The team overall was 10th in the state, a pretty good showing for the Rockets.

"We got going at the right time," stated sophomore Tim Huffman. "We turned it on when we had to."

The Rockets won their Sectional game and went on to Districts. In the first round they beat top seed Aurora to advance to the finals, where the team lost a tough one to Bedford 12-7.

It was a good season for the Rockets with sophomore Bob Wirth leading the way on the mound and senior Fred Rice doing it at the plate. Both were named to the All-PCL team.

This year the softball team had a better year than expected.

Led by seniors Michelle Winters, Tammy Riffle and Erin Brewster, hitting really improved from last year's team average. Sophomore Sharon Vasickanin was the leading hitter with senior Michelle Winters and juniors Tina Riffle following. "I am really pleased with the season this year," stated Winters. "We gave Field their only loss of the season and that means a lot."

The lady Rockets had a very good season with an overall record of 14-9 (12-9 in the league). Since the team has a good foundation for next year, it should be right in the thick of things for the PCL title.

Computing the record

TRACK

Track team struggles to recapture glory

The boys' track team had a shakey but promising year. "Looking at this year's record you get the conclusion that it was a disappointing year," said head coach Jerry Judd. "Success is not always measured with wins and losses. Success can also be measured by improvement, and I believe we improved a lot."

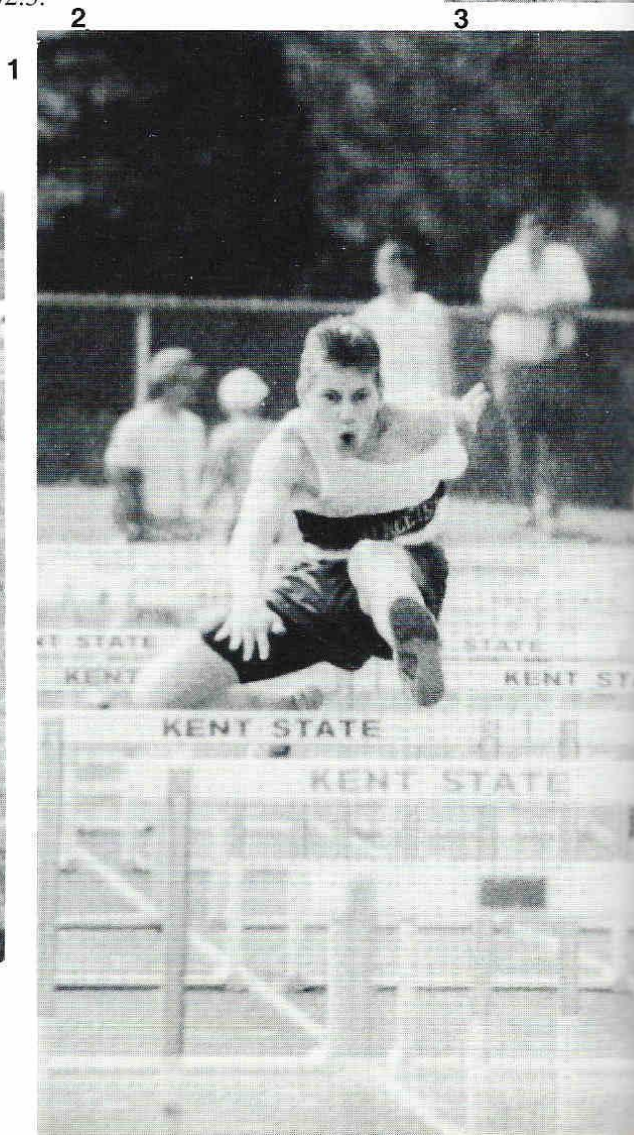

A rebuilding team always looks to start with strong underclassmen. "The future looks promising," said Coach Judd. "We had a good crop of freshman, who showed hard work and skills. Combined with the junior high team we look pretty good for next year."

"I think we should do better. Of course we all hope to do better than this year," said discus thrower junior Greg Vance. "I wish to improve myself for next season."

The coaches for the boys' track team were Mr. John Dawson and Coach Judd. They led the team to two victories, one at Ravenna and a win over Windham.

The field events award for the year went to Al Marez, while the long distance award went Michael Moldvay. The most valuable sprinter award went to Chris Josephites. One of the main highlights of the season was senior Bryon Scheffel. Scheffel broke his own school record in the 400 meter dash by running a 52.3.

Girl Tracksters

Small team wins three meets

Lack of numbers led to a disappointing girls' track season. Starting with 12 girls, the team lost girls in the middle of the season from many injuries and ended up running three meets with four girls. Despite everything the girls defeated Ravenna, Mogadore and Windham. "It's been a struggle," said Coach Dave Hostetler. "Low numbers and injuries were hard to deal with, but we did well under the circumstances." The track coaches this year for the lady Rockets were Mr. David Hostetler, Ms. Danielle Davis, and

Ms. Robyn Vasickinan.

Even though the record does not show it, the team worked hard. "Our girls stuck with it and never gave up. It is a real feat that we could win three meets with under ten girls," said Coach Hostetler.

MVP honors for the year went to Christine Liguori. In the field events Amy Marez was tops for her shot and discus efforts. The flick sisters, Mimi and Tracey, tied for the distance MVP. The sprinters award went to Angie DePetro, who broke the school record with 48.5 in the 300 meter hurdles.

Student Council

Student Council at Streetsboro High performs many functions. Twice each year they sponsor a bloodmobile to collect blood for the needy people in the area. And, with well over 60 units of blood being collected each time the Red Cross visits our school, the void is slowly but surely being filled.

Another event sponsored by student council at the high school is the senior auction. At this auction, seniors are offered to anyone that will pay money for them. The senior must then become a slave for the entire day.

"Being on the staff of the yearbook is a lot more work than I had thought it would be, but it turns out that it is a lot more fun than I thought it would be too," said junior Mike Simmons.

All layouts are now done on the computers along with all other publications at the high school.

Deadlines are what the journalism classes at Streetsboro High School are all about. With over 140 members to the ORBITER staff, every aspect of the entire school is covered in one of the seven or eight issues of the paper put out in a year. Even issues concerning the community are included in the paper if they have any interest to the student body.

Journalism has changed over the past few years at Streetsboro High. No more cutting and gluing pages together for each edition of the paper. All layouts are done mainly on one the 47 Macintosh computers that the school has purchased using the state lottery money. Gone are the days of gallons of rubber cement found in the journalism room. Gone are the days of fitting the stories together perfectly so that the pages look neat and professional. Gone also though, are the days of expensive printing costs. Using the Macintosh computers has cut the cost in half. Eventually, the machines will pay for themselves. The education that the students receive will put them ahead of the competition.

Sound of Music

Chorus improves in size, quality

“Do, Re, Mi...” Those are sounds people hear coming from the music room in the mornings at SHS. Who is it and what are they doing? Despite some down recent years, chorus really caught on this year.

Over 50 students make up this year's group and a lot of the credit goes to Miss Susan Spurlock, the choir director. “We might have had even more singers, but sometimes scheduling is a problem with the class scheduled only during first period,” said Miss Spurlock.

This year, the choir sang at the National Honor Society induction ceremony. The choir also performed a winter concert and a spring concert in May.

Spanish club welcomes South American students

This year the Spanish club welcomed the addition of two foreign exchange students who were both fluent in Spanish. Rachel Roure of Uruguay and Carmela Flores of Argentina shared insight to their cultures as well as their native language.

"I really enjoyed having them in the club this year," stated Senior Chrissy Wagner. "I learned a lot from them, and had a lot of fun too."

The Spanish Club did its part for the community by hosting the senior citizens Christmas party. They traveled to Maplewood nursing home, and served refreshments and played games.

"It was surprisingly a lot of fun," stated senior president Stephanie Bernardo. "I was expecting it to be boring, but I made some friends that I never expected I would."

Stepping into the teaching future

Future Teachers of America strive to help younger students

Future Teachers of America under the direction of Miss Brenda Alderson have put forth some good teaching talents over the past year. Many periods during the day are spent for those members of FTA down at Campus Elementary School tutoring and working with some of the children.

"Working with younger children helps them develop a technique for the field of education as well as gives them a feeling of accomplishment," said Miss Alderson.

Since 1964 FTA has opened many doors into the world of teaching and education through the club of FTA. This

Future nurses of America show commitment

Future Nurses of America along with director Miss Brenda Alderson have had many interesting new projects over the past year.

When US troops went to war over in the Gulf, FNA decided it was time for them to do their part and try to help the morale of the troops over in the Middle East who were Streetsboro Graduates.

FNA collected items for two weeks. Students brought in paper, pens, pencils, candy, gum, and some canned foods to be packed in boxes and sent directly to our SHS troop graduates.

Some of the remaining items were sent to the Red Cross in Ravenna where they were evenly distributed among the families of those in the Middle East.

"It was a great idea, and it caught on quickly with the student body because so many people were affected by the war," said advisor Ms. Brenda Alderson.

Quiz Bowl team knows questions looks for answers

This year's 1990-1991 Quiz Bowl under the direction of Mrs. Diane Bonham, has put forth quite a performance. The team with senior captain Mike Stoughton, have shown that they can work together as a team and still come out ahead.

"I did not know what to expect this year out of the team," said Mrs. Bonham, "I was impressed with how the students worked together as a unit."

"All of us on the team would like to thank Mrs. Bonham for being such a good advisor," said Steve Finley. "This was her first year as advisor of the team, and she did a good job."

The categories the team are asked are in the subject matter of history, geography, fine arts, math and science. There are three teams that compete in each match. The match is sponsored by the county board of education and held at Maplewood JVS. Each team is asked a question and has 10 seconds to answer or it is up for grabs among the three teams.

The team lost a dual meet to Crestwood and Windham and then dropped its other match to Kent Roosevelt and Southeast. "We were winning against Roosevelt and Southeast, but we lost it in the lightening round," said Mrs. Bonham.

Mr. Easter's science club explores unknown

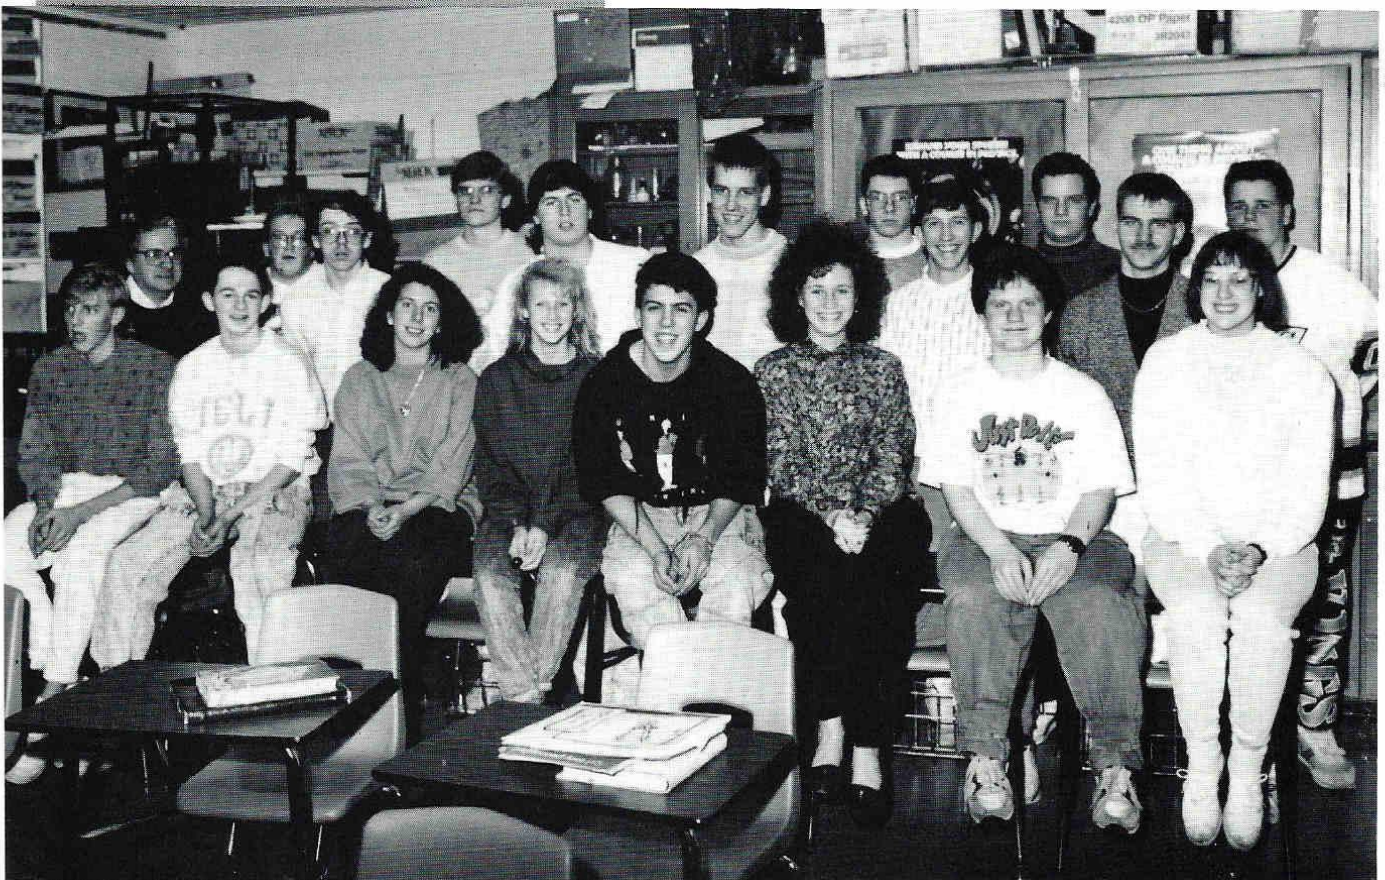

Club offers science activities

No cures for the common cold were discovered this year, but that does not mean the science club was idle.

"The science club at Streetsboro has been around for 15 years," states advisor Mr. Gene Easter. "Its purpose is to expand one's horizons in the field of science by doing things that are fun for the student body."

This year's club participated in the Science Olympiad, traveled to Columbus, explored science through experiments and helped Mr. Easter with his Saturday physics seminars.

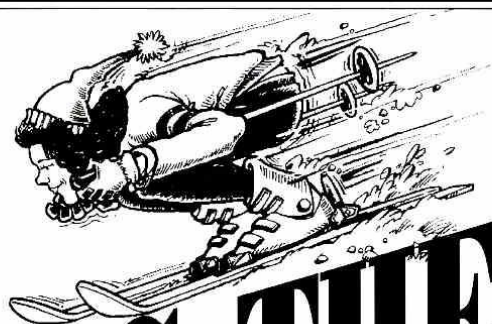

"I feel that the club is fun and educational and everyone should take part. The club is in existence for the students," explained Mr. Easter.

Peek 'N Peak in New York was the site of this year's ski club trip. Ski club, advised by Mr. Dave Evans and Mr. Jerry Judd, had a busy winter ski season. Thursday trips to Brandywine ski lodge were a weekly occurrence.

The trip to New York was still the highlight of the season. "I was happy to go on the trip to New York. The trip was a lot of fun because there is so much more to do out there than around here. The hills are a lot better and bigger," said Jennifer Talpas.

Some of the students involved are thinking of business as a way of life. "I feel it will further my ideas, because I plan to go into business after my schooling," said Christine McDonnell. "It is fun to work with your friends." This is one club the students will be able to use through their lives. "It is a group effort," said Christine.

Radio personnel keep music going

WSTB 91.5 FM is Portage county's first and only radio station. The radio station is run by Streetsboro High School students. Advisor Mr. Bob Long has had vast experience in radio broadcasting.

Mr. Long has worked at WKNT am/fm (now WNIR/WJMP) for eight years, WHLO for three years, and WAUP (now WZIP) for three years.

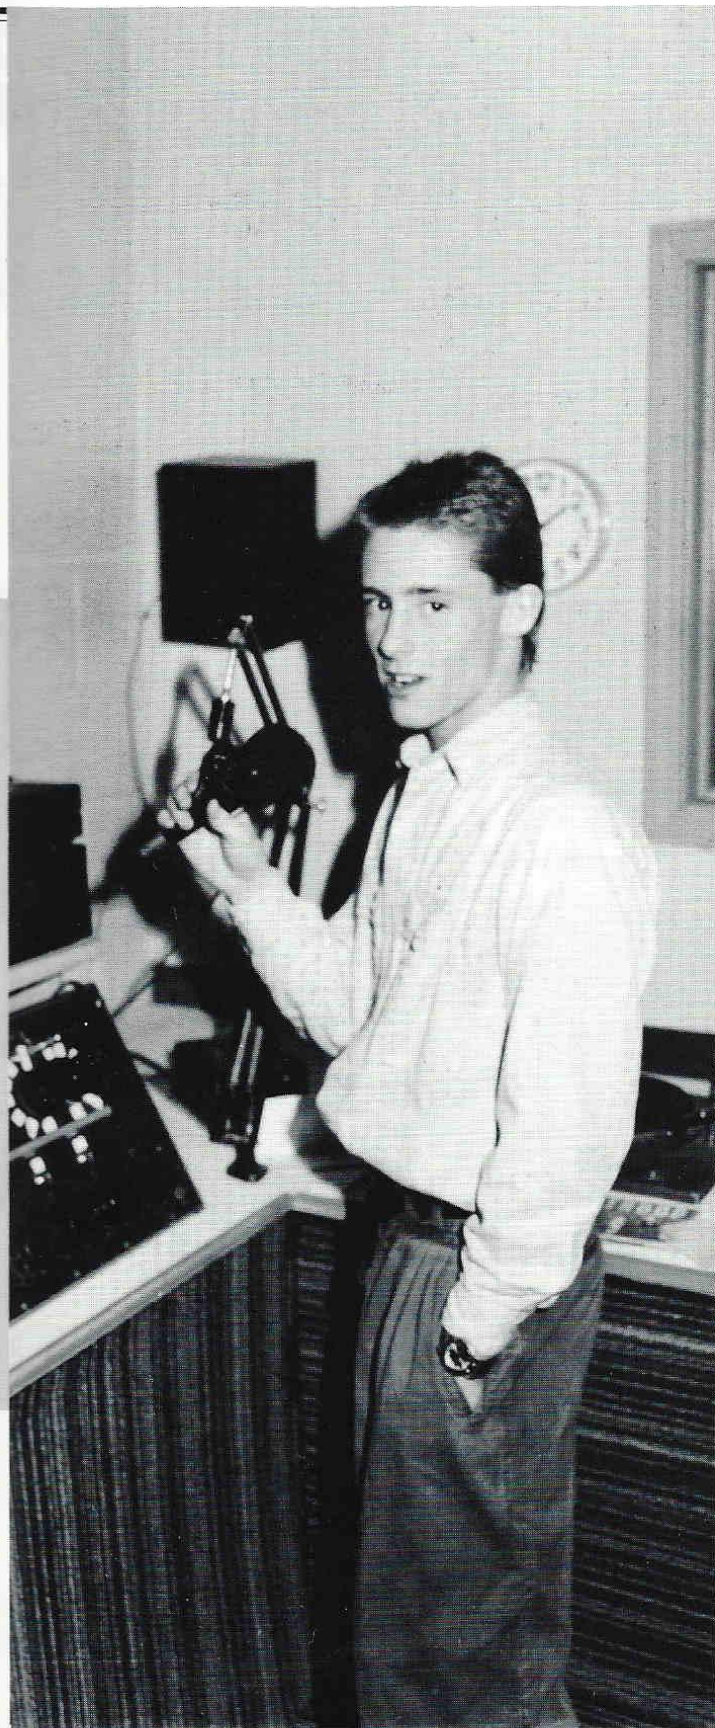

"It is a good program this year everything is running smooth, I enjoy coming in the mornings," said Mr. Long.

"Working with the radio station is hard work," said senior Buddy Washinski. "It teaches you a lot of responsibility because Mr. Long can not always be around, and you have to make your own decisions."

Continuity and traffic director Brian Rhinehart finds being on the staff challenging. "I like being on the radio because it is different than being in a normal class. The hardest part is knowing what to say when you turn on the microphone. It is really a good experience."

Occupational work experience must for smart career planning

The students that are involved in this work experience seem to enjoy what they are doing. This experience will give a first hand look at the real working world. "It is an experience which will help me after I graduate and to reach the goals I want to reach," said Nikki Fedelischak.

Senior auction raises $200 for student council

This year's 1990-91 senior auction went very well. Student Council had seniors Kari Carney, Chris Longo, Bryon Scheffel, Al Marez, Tammy Riffle, Missy Staples, Joe Brock, Joe Dias, Pat Gahagan, Steve Finley, and Erin Brewster auctioned off. "It was a great day for the auction, the only problem was that our time was limited and we did not make as much money as last year," said Karen Maskol. The day turned out great, the students had fun and student council made $200.

For the first time ever student council auctioned off a teacher, Mr. Larry Marek. Here Mr. Ken Stoner, auctioneer, accepts a bid $40, (1).

A group bid went for seniors Joe Dias (sun glasses), Chris Longo and Joe Brock. The three went for $45, (2).

Senior Tiffany Flefle, made the right bid in landing the trio. She obviously is planning on enjoying the attention, (3).

Here Comes the Bride

Marriage imitates real life

Marcie Prejna the daughter of Mr. Terry Peterson, wed Joseph Ulatowski on January 11, 1991 at Streetsboro High School.

The bridal party consisted of, Erin Brewster, Jill Schuman, Susan Whitlam, and Bobbie Jo Miller. The ushers were, Chris Moore, Ray Hebebrand, John Baldwin, and Marty Huntsman.

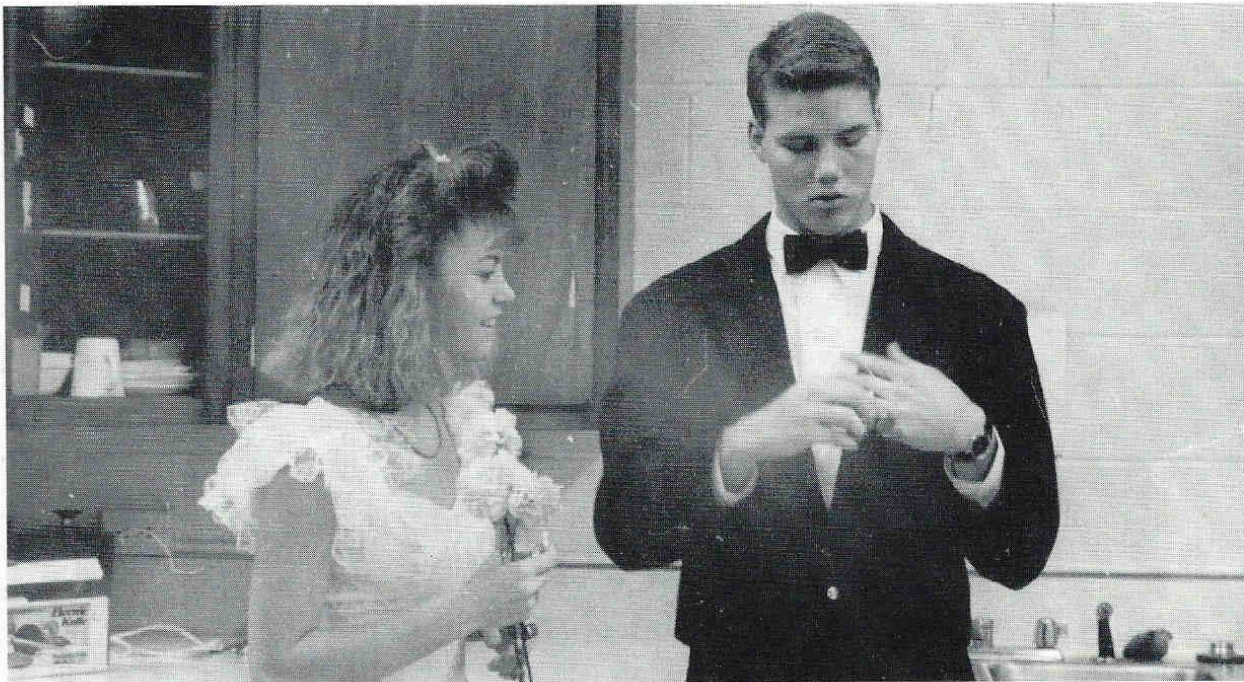

The happy couple walked down the aisle to the song "We've Only Just Begun" by The Carpenters. The reception was held in room 205 immediately after the ceremony.

Catering was provided by a local business establishment.

The play's the thing...

'Cheaper' hit with critics, audience

This year students at Streetsboro High School performed the play "Cheaper by the Dozen". The play was performed Friday and Saturday night, April 26th and 27th. On Friday night there were about 300 people, and on Saturday there were about 150 people. "I was very pleased with the number of staff members and students that attended the play," said Mrs. Nannette Peterson, director of the play.

The cast of Cheaper by the Dozen was: Bryon Scheffel as the dad, Kim Summers as the mom, Stephanie Bernardo as Anne Gilbreth, Wendy Sedola as Ernestine Gilbreth, Dan Beach as Frank Gilbreth, Todd Jankowski as Fred Gilbreth, Rachel Scheffel as Martha Gilbreth, Pat Gahagan as Dan Gilbreth, Tracey Flick as Lilian Gilbreth, Brian King as Bill Gilbreth, Shannon Gahagan as Jackie Gilbreth, Chris Longo as Joe Scales, Scott King as Bruno, Laura Brown as Miss Brill, Brian Rhinehart as Dr. Burton, Tiffany Flefle as Mrs. Fitzgerald, and Al Marez as Larry.

The crew members in charge of lighting and sound effects were: Kevin Ka-sarda, Melanie Lesko, Heather Scheffel and Jason Marksberry.

"I was pleased with the effort and performance ability to handle what went wrong during practice and in front of the audience. The first play I did could not have been better," said Mrs. Peterson.

As Larry and Anne share a tender moment, Anne's brother, Bill interrupts them, (1).

The two cheerleaders, Joe and Bruno of the play show off their leaping ability, (2). Seniors Bryon Scheffel, and Stephanie Bernardo led the play in the leading roles as the father and Anne Gilbreth, (3).

COMPUTERIZED INSTRUCTIONS!

Teachers set pace for future

"The knowledge that the student receives from the teacher will definitely help broaden their horizons." This is a statement that has been heard by many. Although some doubt it, an education is supposed to prepare a student to lead a productive, satisfying life. Teachers are the foundation of the system.

Teachers devote much time and dedication into their profession. From working day to day with students who sometimes are not always that cooperative, to putting in long hours after school.

At the beginning of this year, Streetsboro High School had many new changes to adjust to. Among them were, new principal Mr. Thomas Jesse and some new staff members. Miss Koppel, Mr. Greg Cielec, Mrs. Nannette Peterson, Mrs. Kathy Lawson and Mr. Jerry Judd have all added to the process of a better education.

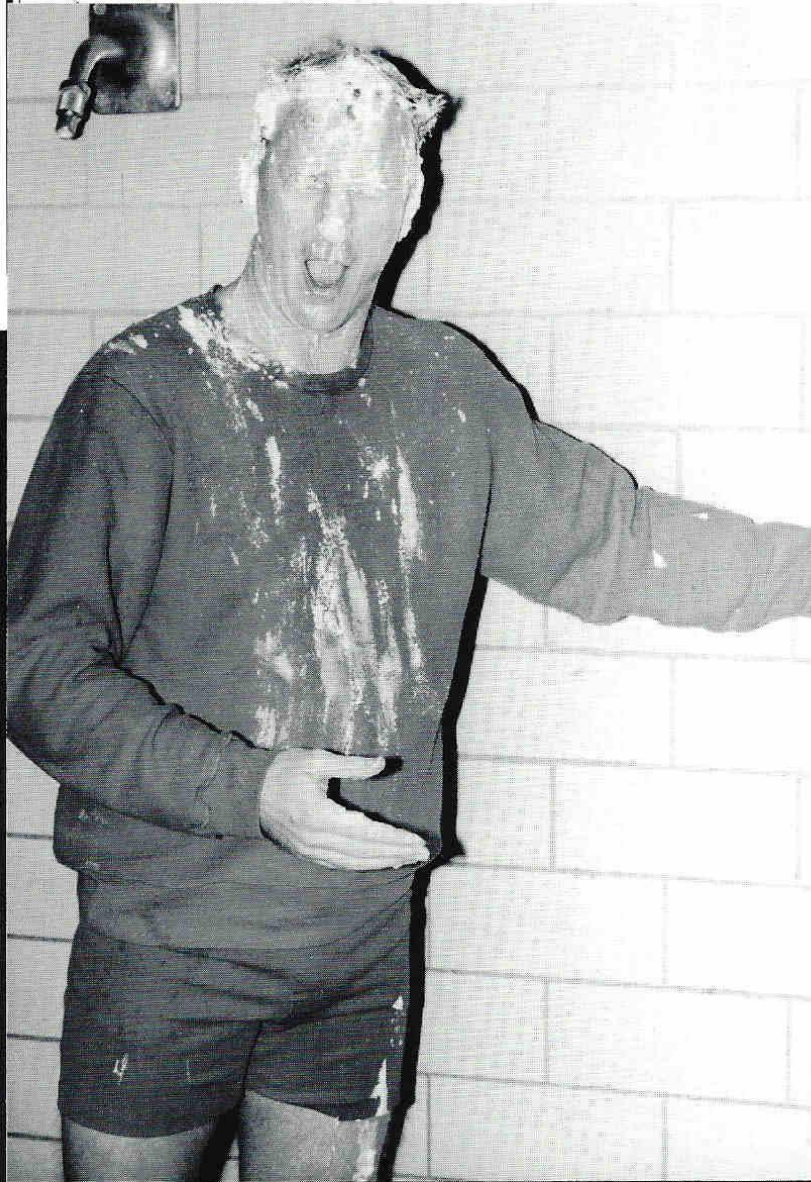

Teachers and students play a big part in each others lives during the day to day routine. Much of the information teachers have given to students in the past remains a piece of our future and although learning to some only seems a part of school, the product of a good education will follow their footsteps throughout life.

"I was the type of student that all the teachers¹ loved. I was an "A" student and a leader around my classmates and the school. I was also considered a "Jock" as I was in three sports. I was also involved in National Honor Society, student council, Varsity C Club, and Fellowship of Christian Athletes," said Mr. Terry Peterson, (1).

"I was a very quiet student that often did not work to my potential. I did participate in football, basketball, baseball, track and National Honors Society. I had the same type curriculum but computers were not in our school," said Mr. Tom Pollock, (3).

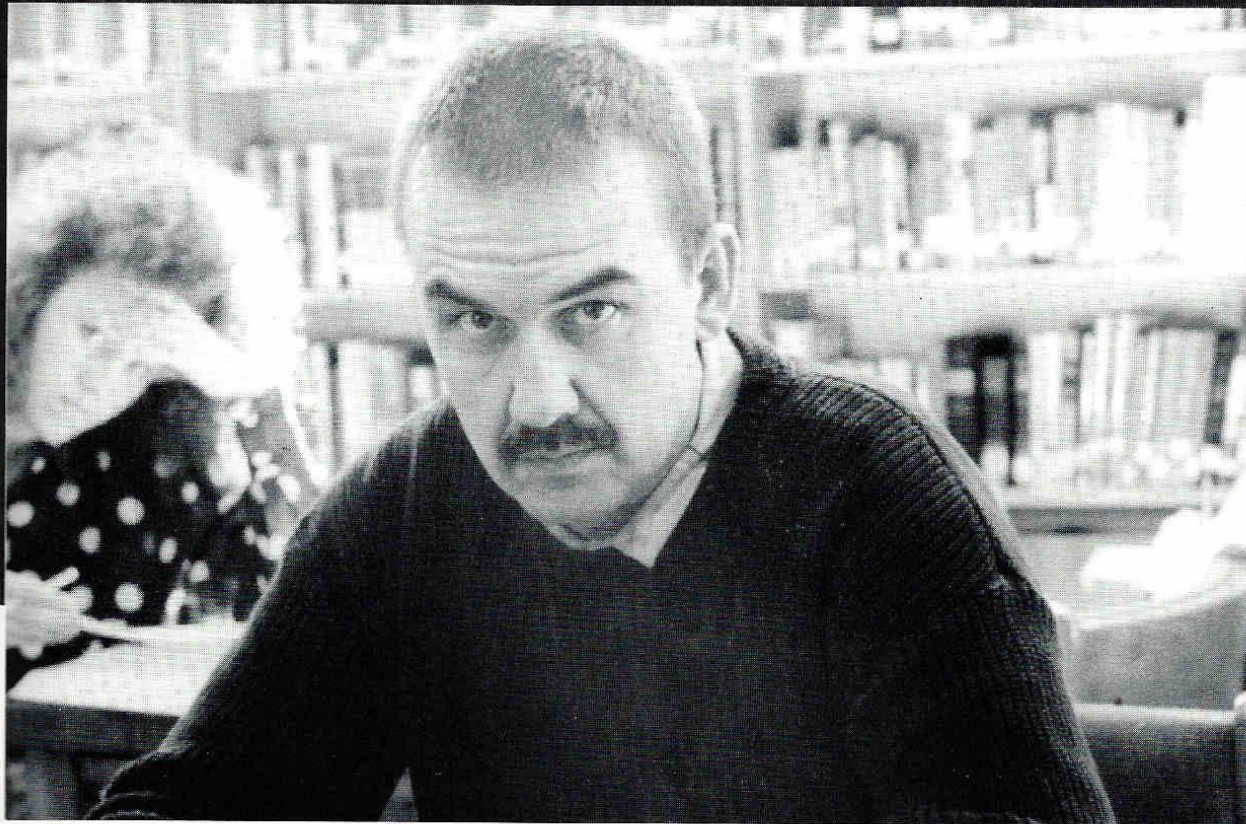

Rocket teachers relate their past experiences

English teacher Miss Cherie Harsh recalls her best high school memories. "Falling in love with the stud football player, playing three times on the PCL championship basketball team, and making memories with my friends on the weekend are among some of the best times," (2).

"I was a member of the varsity wrestling team for three years. As a farm boy I didn't have a lot of time for other activities. Often I would have to do my chores after 2-3 hours of practice," said Mr. Marek, (4).

Custodians, cafeteria workers strive to meet student needs

Helping students in every way

The most familiar of the custodians, Andy Jandrokovic is always busy fixing various things at the school, (1).

Taking the time from the hot ovens, Dianna Ondash, Joan Demich, Lorraine Simmons, and Rosanne Moldvay, the friendly cafeteria workers pose for a quick picture, (2).

Night-time custodian Bill Farres is preparing the rooms for the next days classes. Not pictured are custodians Mark Stidd and Dennis Ellsworth, (3).

Throughout the day there are people that seem to always be ready to help the students progress, but receive little appreciation for the fine jobs they do. These people are commonly known as the custodians and cafeteria workers. These fine group of people makes sure that students have a warm meal and a clean place to eat them. Without them the day would not flow as easily as one would think. Often students seem to take the things that custodians and cafeteria workers do for granted, but ask any of the workers and they will say it is a very tough and difficult job.

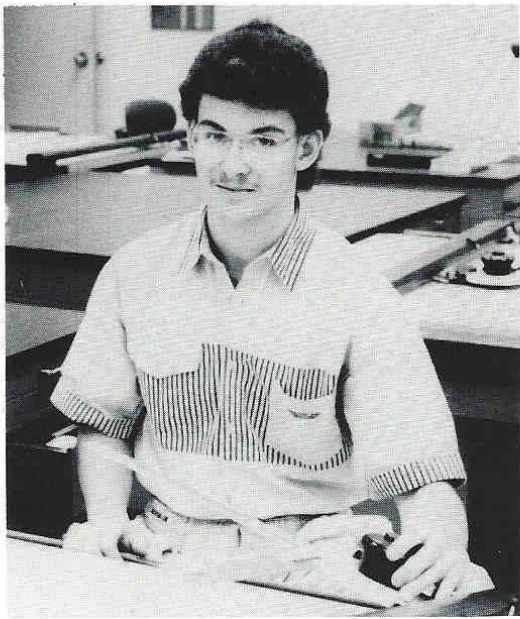

"The job is very fulfilling, but it is a challenge," stated Mrs. Dianna Ondash, a very familiar face in the lunch room. "The hardest part is trying to make the best meal for the best price."

One often wonders who would want a job that is not as rewarding as others, but ask any one of these people admit that they would not want to be anywhere else but here at SHS.

"Being in the school has its moments and can be enjoyed. I love it and really enjoy working here," said Mrs. Ondash. So next time one sees a custodian or cafeteria worker throw in a thank-you and watch the great response.

All captions are done in 8 point bold Helvetica and body copy is done in 10 point Times Roman using capitalization as the emphasis type face. Heads appear in 18-72 point Typestyle post script fonts. Some heads and subheads are done in Helvetica.
