 The 1992-1993 school year at Streetsboro High School will always be remembered for the failed emergency levy and the cut-backs and fees that followed. It was a tough year to be an active student at SHS. A $15 activity/club fee and a $35 sports participation fee were imposed, along with the controversial $10 parking fee.

Everyone prepared for the worst as the February emergency approached, but the money situation was not comfortable for students and staff even before February. The busing of high school students was eliminated to allow six bus drivers to be laid off. Supplies were low at SHS because the money required to purchase paper, chalk and other necessities was not available.

The outlook for the next school year could be grim. More cut-backs could be on the way ranging from staff cuts, class cuts, activity/sports cuts and more material cuts. The lack of state funds and community support placed SHS students in an awkward position. Some students complained about the situation while others tried to fix it, but everyone was affected in some way by the losses.

A lot of community effort was used to promote the February levy from public rallies to phone surveys. Director of Curriculum, Mr. Bob Love, filled in the seat of Mr. Jack Carney after he retired in December. Mr. Love publicized the levy to students and community members by distributing leaflets and talking to them.

Everyone at SHS is adapting to a new way of life. With the lack of funds and the students' continued concern in getting the most they can out of Streetsboro High School, a battle for a proper education, although an important and necessary conflict, will always need to be fought. In the meantime, the students of SHS must make due with what they have and keep up the Rocket Spirit which holds the school together. In the meantime, the students of Streetsboro High School will be sweating it out.

JUNIOR OLYMPICS

Going for the gold

Cartwheels, jello and eggs were just a few of the ingredients that made up Streetsboro High Schools 1993 Junior Olympics. Five teams participated in this year's events. There was a team to represent each class and a teachers team. The Junior Olympics ended the 1993 Prom Spirit Week with a burst of fun and excitement. All who attended and participated had a great time.

Coming in last place was the teachers team, representing the teachers were Mr. Jerry Judd, Mr. Will O'Donnell, Mr. Tom Fessmeyer, Mrs. Pam Rumsey, Mrs. Janet Peare, Ms. Connie French. The fourth place frosh team consisted of Danny Doll, JC Sell, Dawn Klimak, Jamie Conner, Shalon Cotrill and Dan Rogan. Returning champions, the seniors, came in the third place. Brian Hanko, Jayme Messenger, Jennie Stuntz, Rick Barzal, Alfonso Fort and Jenny Rusnak combined to make up the senior team. The juniors, who stole second place from the seniors in a tie breaker, were Amy Miller, Brandon Danner, Jenny Dye, Julie Lawson, Dave Podwoski and Gary Bennett. Taking first place were the sophomores. The team was made up of Kara Vargo, Sara Toplovich, Jason Barrish, Matt Murphy, Kenny Kasarda, BJ Alexander and Melanie Cullen.

HALLOWEEN

Students Reserve Halloween Spirit By Dressing Up

As the leaves begin to fall from the trees, and the wind starts getting chilly, one can tell when costumes and candy are stocked up in store isles that Halloween is soon to follow. Once again students at SHS took part in the Halloween festivities. Many students participated in the dress up day. Costumes varied from maids to basketball playing nuns. Even teachers took part in the ghoulish spirit. It was an event all students and faculty could enjoy.

HOMECOMING '92

Rockets search for 'Love Around the World'

Love Around the World" was the theme at SHS when the Student Council hosted the annual Homecoming dance.

The honorary court selected consisted of freshman Jamie Schuman, sophomore Christine Scheffel, juniors Jessica Schuman and Heather Scheffel, and seniors Justina Beres and Tracy Cambell. The kings court consisted of seniors Joe Boardwine and Tim Huffman. Katie Murdoch was announced Homecoming Queen and Kevin Kasarda received the King crown, during the pregame activities the night before.

The dance's atmosphere was unusually spectacular this year. In each corner of the gym a monument stood for a different part of the world. Big Ben, the Eiffel Tower, and pyramids from Egypt displayed the landmarks for the theme. Junior, Melissa Bloomquist helped set up the the Homecoming entrance, an Amazon Rain Forest. "Putting the forest together took a lot of time but the end result was worth it."

Spirit Week

Dress-up days, victory highlight
annual festivities

School spirit is shown in many different ways throughout the year. At Homecoming time, the school shows a little extra effort by participating in spirit week. The student council designed spirit week consists of different dress-up days in which students participate. The 1992 spirit week was made up of dress like the opposite sex day and blue and gold day. The week also contained a day where each class dressed differently, such as freshmen in stripes and seniors in togas. The spirit week ended in the climactic pep rally before the Homecoming game against Rootstown that the Rockets won 14-13.

Back to Back

Gridders take second straight Crown

The 1992 Streetsboro Rocket football team finished the season once again as PCL champions. The Rockets amassed a record of 9-1 throughout their PCL schedule. This record broke an existing school record of 8-1-1 to become the best season in Streetsboro history.

In the division IV playoffs the Rockets lost a close game, 28-14, against the Manchester Panthers. The playoff game was the first of its kind in the history of Streetsboro football.

The incredible season landed the team a lot of press this season. Among the many honors, senior quarterback John Zelenak received the TV 23 Player of the Week award and best offensive back awards, senior co-captain and linebacker Tim Huffman received the Akron Beacon Journal Player of the Week and Player of the Year awards, and senior wide receiver Bob Wirth received the East Central Ohio Player of the Week and best defensive back awards.

Junior tackle Joe Harshbarger received the rookie of the year award, and junior defensive back Jamey Long received the most improved player crown. Senior linebacker Mike Giebel took away the Coaches Award this season. Senior co-captains, tackle Brian King and defensive tackle Jason Smith took home the best offensive and defensive lineman awards for the second consecutive year, and junior defensive back Dave Podwoski won the best defensive back award.

Head coach Dave Hostetler also received PCL and Akron Beacon Journal Portage County Coach of the Year honors for the season.

VOLLEYBALL

Youth paces Rocket spikers

 olleyball season this year began with a lot of doubts, including the team being unsure of themselves and doubt of the new coaches. The past seasons brought on most of the worries, which caused a lot of difficulties within the team. But, by the end of the year, they all came together as one.

Senior captain Amy Marez will be missed next year, for she was starting setter and a leader for the volleyball team. Her experience led the young team and help in the tough PCL race.

The teams most memorable win came against Windham as they defeated the state ranked Bombers.

With the final season's outcome being 6-14, the team has realized what needs to be worked on for next year. "We are ready for a fresh new start", says sophomore Christine Scheffel. "We're going to put all the mistakes in the past and leave them there."

The 1992 season was a productive one for the Streetsboro Rocket cheerleaders. The cheerleaders attended NCA cheerleading camp during the summer to get an early jump on their skills. The girls were taught many new cheers and chants which they used throughout the football and basketball seasons.

The cheerleaders put in a lot of extra time this season. One extra activity was working in concession stands at Cleveland Municipal Stadium to raise money for their new uniforms. The girls also enrolled in a Cavs cheerleading class where they learned to do different dances and acrobatics.

The season was highlighted by a chance to cheer in the state playoffs, due to the success of the football team and an appearance at halftime of a Cleveland Cavaliers game. "I will never forget cheering in the playoff game," said senior Melissa Flick. "It was incredible."

Majorettes and Flags Spin Away

Streetsboro High Schools 1992-93 majorette and flag corps worked together at the football games and parades.

This year's flags and majorettes attended Fred J. Miller Clinic held at Walsh College in Canton, Ohio. The girls also attended the Band Camp that was held in Muskingham, Ohio. Senior Laurel Darrah received most outstanding flag girl at the Fred J. Miller Clinic. She was picked out of over 200 girls who attended the clinic. The flag corp also received a superior rating in competition.

Along with the flag corp the majorettes also won an award at the clinic. During their competition they received a superior rating for their twirling.

The Majorettes and Flags devote most of their summer to their twirling by attending both camps and attending their practices held every Wednesday. Since the flags and majorettes are together a lot they become quite close. "Having the corp feel like a family is really important to me," said captain Laurel Darrah.

Band Grooves to PERFECTION!

he 1992 Streetsboro High School Rocket Marching Band had many accomplishments to fit under its belt for this year. The season started out gloomy with the Band not being able to compete in the annual Mogadore Band Show, but as time went on, the band showed all, young and old, that our band is not one to mess with. Complementing the band's accomplishments, Dan Spurlock, a Junior said, "When August rolled around, I didn't really want to be in the band. I'm extremely glad that Mr. Granville called me and convinced me to play!" Senior Majorette, Lisa Grillo said, "Having to go to two different camps wasn't very cool. But after we go to band camp, I actually saw what our band could do. The only reason we're as good as we are is because everyone has learned to work together as a team. We can't have people fighting with each other and we can't have people who refuse to work with other people. When we realized how good we really were it was a moral boost! Mogadore band was at our band camp also. It felt really good when we had to play for each other. It showed them that Streetsboro isn't one to mess with. That was after we blew them off the field!"

Jammin' to the Sounds of Music

As one walks down the band room hallway, they might hear beautifully arranged pieces of music. Other times they might hear rock style music as the band is preparing for marching season. Showing the agony of holding his tuba, Jim Nanassy pauses for a second to get his picture taken, (1).

As time goes by, the members of the Streetsboro High School Marching Band not only learn to work as a team, they also learn to put differences aside. Some people think that seeing someone almost every day since August would cause them to fight and not like each other. But, for band members, teamwork is based on friendship. Junior Teresa Rumsey, Senior Lisa Grillo, and Freshman Andrea Anderson pause from rehearsal for a group picture during concert band, (2).

During the year, students must bring different supplies to class. For example, in accounting class students must bring a calculator, in journalism class, a disk is needed. For the students in band different materials are needed. Senior Susan Todd puts together her clarinet during her 9th period band class, (3).

As part of marching season, a student must memorize their music. Taking an instrument home to practice is how many band members learn their marching music. But, for Staci Dalton, practicing in the band room before class is quite enough for one day, (4).

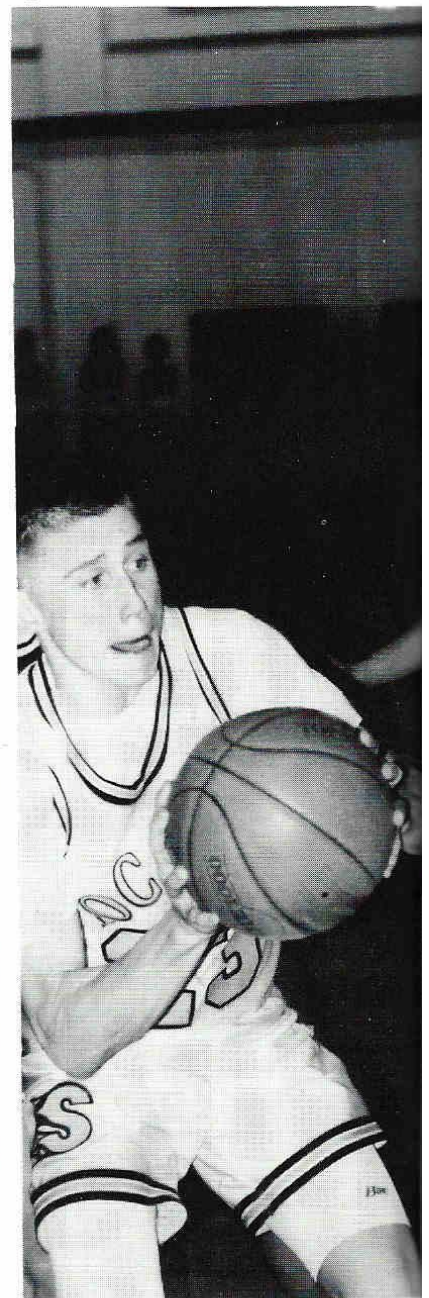

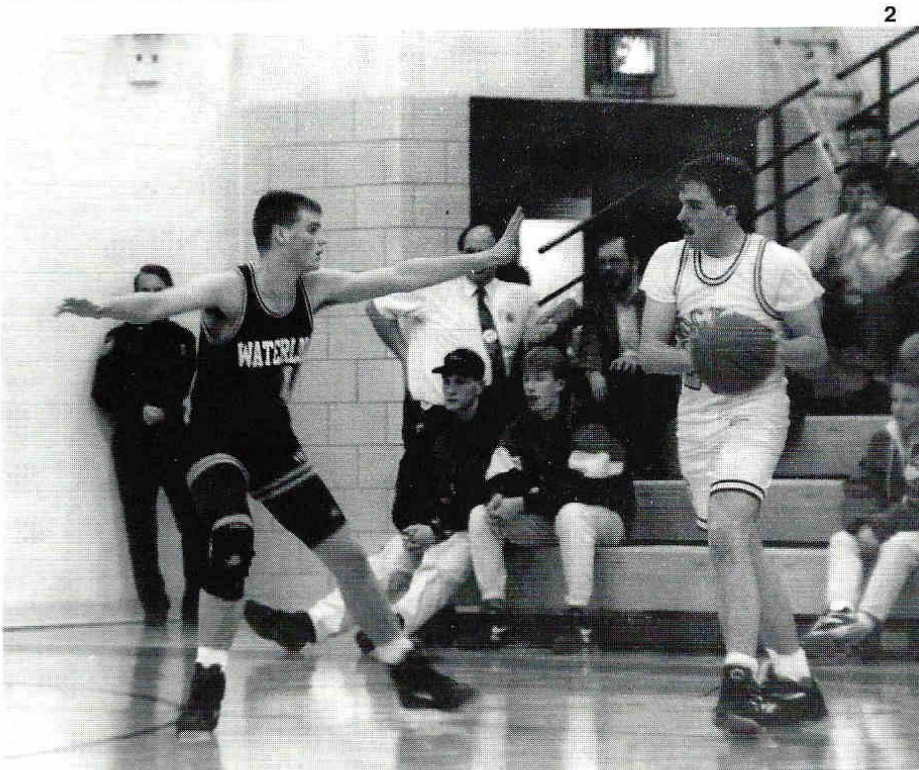

Knowing your music is a big factor in band. Sophomore, Tim Pavlick asks a question during rehearsal. Scott Adkins and Erika Brandlehner are also shown looking on with blank minds, (5).

Disappointment...

Cagers plagued by injuries and inexperience

The 1992-93 Streetsboro basketball team had a troubling season this year, finishing a disappointing 6-13 on the season. The Rockets struggled due to injuries and a younger team than the rest of the league. The team did, however, show definite signs of improvement and finished the season strong. "With only two seniors, six juniors, and four sophomores it took a while to get experience," said head coach Terry Peterson. "The only way to get experience is to get some time on the court in a game situation."

The bright spot on the Rockets this season was without question the defense. As the offense struggled the defense shined. The Rockets were tough on the defensive side of the game and frustrated many of the leagues top scorers. "Our defense was excellent this season," said assistant coach Tom Pollock. "Without good play from them we would not have been as close to every team as we were."

Senior John Zelenak led the team this season. Zelenak scored an average of 19.9 points a game and shot 40% from the field. Zelenak was also a major contributor to the Rocket defense. "I don't think the offense had that bad of a year," said Zelenak. "We did not win many games but we played pretty good."

The Rockets are looking forward to bigger and better things in the upcoming years. "With only two seniors leaving we should be a tough team to beat next year," said junior Dave Podwoski.

Completing a nifty behind the back pass is sophomore Jim Wirth, (4).

GIRL GNAGERS

miss elusive win

Rough season is putting it mildly when speaking of this year's girls' basketball team. A winless season is tough on any team, and the Rockets were no different.

"Since we didn't win this season, it was very frustrating. The results of the year (0-21) did not show all the effort we put in at practice. It was very hard to go out again after losing the night before. The whole team put in a lot of effort and tried their very best to perform on the court," said junior Melissa Bloomquist.

To be fair the girls played with only two seniors. The inexperience showed probably the most during the team's District playoff game against winless Beachwood. Playing a strong first half the girls came up short in the fourth period.

"Beachwood hadn't won a game either, and maybe we came out and tried a little too hard to get the win," said senior Krista Sabo. "We started out aggressively, but our offense never got into sync. It was really frustrating."

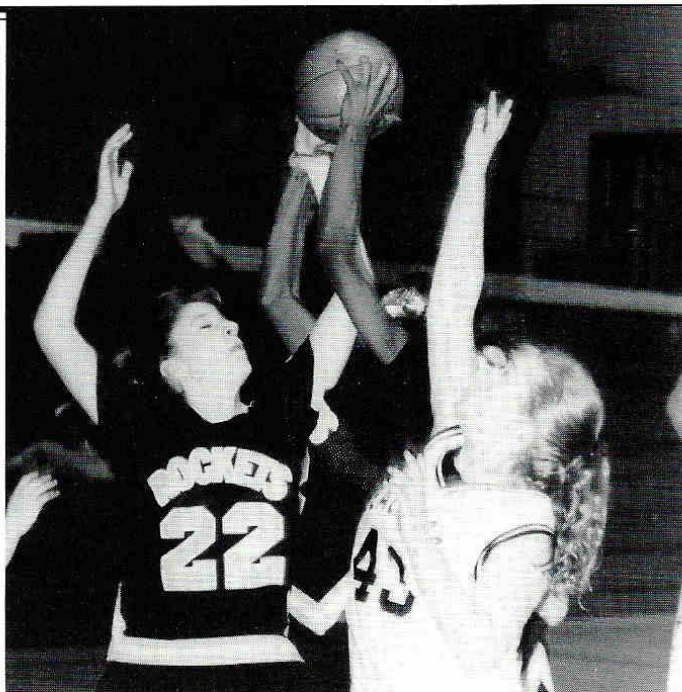

Frustrating pretty much summed up the entire season.

Grapplers Speak

Sweating out sixth place state finish

 he 1992-93 wrestling team started out the season with a common goal, to win the PCL championship. The team fell short of this goal, however, they accomplished as much as any team ever has. The Rockets placed a close second to Southeast in PCL standings and also earned a sixth place finish in the Division III state tournament. The season on the whole was outstanding, by any standards. "Although we did not win the PCL title, I was still happy with our year," said senior heavyweight Jason Smith. "We had a good year."

The Rockets finished the season with an overall record of 8-2, with a 8-1 PCL record. The PCL tournament was another good showing for the grapplers, who again placed second, having four guys named to the All PCL team. Sophomore Kenny Kasarda, and Seniors Jason Smith, Joe Boardwine, and Kevin Kasarda advanced to the state tournament in Dayton. Kevin Kasarda earned a fourth place finish and Boardwine earned his second straight state championship. "Before my first state championship match, I managed to not be really nervous since I had never been there before," said Boardwine. "I did not realize what that one single match meant. This year all the stress of the match hit me, but luckily I overcame it."

Baseball

Frustrating season for Rockets

Finishing off the 1993 season with a 9-16 overall record, the Rockets baseball team did not get to boast a very successful season. They placed sixth in the PCL. "We did not have that much success this season," said sophomore player Kris Jankowski. "We did get a lot of experience that will help us out next year." Highlighting the season for the Rockets were some excellent performances. Senior John Zelenak finished the season by leading the team with a .380 batting average. He led the team in eight different batting categories and eight more pitching stats. Senior Brian Hanko led the team in runs batted in and led the PCL with five home runs. "My goal has always been to lead the PCL in home runs, and I finally did it," said Hanko. Other players with .300 batting averages or better were junior Jamie Long with .303, sophomore Jim Wirth with .310, and junior Shawn Hackbart with .304.

1 The Lady Rockets softball team finished the season with both the new school record of 16 wins and a second place finish in the PCL. Success was due to exceptional defense, a strong pitcher, and the Rockets will to win. With five returning starters and strength from other varsity players, the Lady Rockets had the potential to compete for the PCL title. Though they did not capture the title this season, they earned respect from other PCL teams and found pride within the team.

The major element to the Lady Rockets success was their ability to play defense. With hurler Rachel Steffner on the mound, and a solid infield consisting of senior catcher Sharon Vasickanin, first baseman Julie Lawson, second baseman Melissa Bloomquist, shortstop Stephanie Berry, and third baseman Jenny Dye, the opposing teams found it hard to get a hit. When the opponents did make contact, the Lady Rockets also had good gloves in the outfield such as, Dawn Klimak, Bernadette Alexander, Heather Schaffer, Shannon Gahagan, seniors Susan Todd and Tracy Campbell.

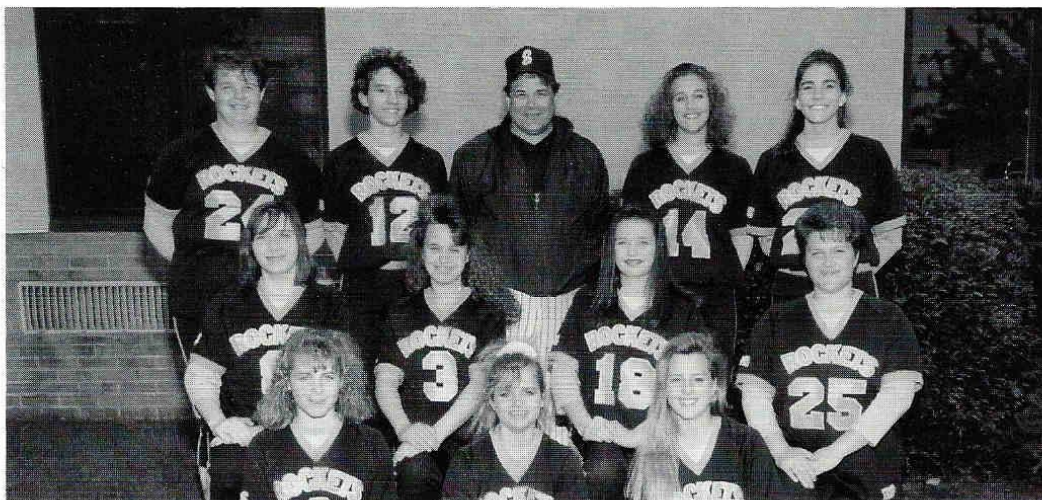

Hitting was also a major factor in producing a good season. Leading the team with the highest batting average was junior Jenny Dye. Although Dye had the highest average, a number of girls were not far behind, such as Melissa Bloomquist and Sharon Vasickanin. By the end of the season the Lady Rockets were in a slump, averaging four hits per game. In their last game, the seniors broke out of the slump and enabled the Lady Rockets to win their final game and clinch second place.

The Rocket golf team ended its season with disappointment but high hopes for the future. The young Rocket team struggled and managed only a seventh place finish in the Portage County League. "We are not used to finishing that low," said Coach Bill Buemi. "Last year we did much better."

The team had some bright points but had difficulty pulling it all together. "We made a lot of progress this season, and we constantly got better," said Coach Buemi. "Bryan Sell and Kris Jankowski led the team for the entire season."

Receiving individual honors for the Rockets this season were Sell and Jankowski. Both golfers earned the mark of the second team All-PCL. "These guys were there for us all season long," said Coach Buemi. "They are our two best golfers, and they deserved the recognition."

The Rockets swung to a sixth place finish in the PCL tournament which follows the season and consists of a competition between all the PCL golfers. This will be the last of the season finale PCL tournaments though; with the new division split, the league has done away with it. "I kind of hate to see a tradition like that go," said Coach Buemi. "It was one time of the year when everyone involved with PCL golf got together to enjoy the game."

Girls Track

The Streetsboro girls' track team record does not show the effort the girls really put forth. They ended with only one win, to Mogadore, but an enormous amount of pride. The girls had a successful season considering that the majority of the team was made up of freshmen.

The reason for their low amount of wins could be blamed on lack of experience. Eleven out of the 17 girls were freshmen, there were four sophomores, and two seniors.

"Towards the end of the year, everyone's times started to get better, so hopefully next year we will have a good team," said sophomore Becky Gorbe.

Senior Amy Marez had an excellent year. She broke the school record for shot put at the Garfield meet with a throw of 35'1.75". She ended the season with 140 points. At the PCL meet at the Kent State track, Amy took second in shot and fifth in discus.

The high scorer for the team was, freshman Tahira Harris who had 169 points.

team continues to regain winning tr

A sure sign that a sports program is turning around is when long time school records begin to fall. Even better when these records fall to underclassmen. That was pretty much the highlight of the boys' track season.

"We worked hard this season, and with a strong nucleus of underclassmen coming back, there is no way to go but up," said head coach Jerry Judd.

One record to fall was the 100 meter record. Junior Dave Podwoski traveled the century race in 11.02 to shatter the 10 year record of 11.2.

Also putting his name in the record books was sophomore Mark McClendon. His time of 52.0 got him close to a regional track berth in the 400 meters.

Chorus

This years chorus class consisted of two different choirs. An all girls choir and a mixed choir as well. During class time each section practices their own parts, and the different sections are not added together until concert time. The choir performs two concerts throughout the year. One concert is presented during the Christmas season, the last performed during spring. Students were excited because they got to perform during this years NHS assembly. Students are dedicated to their singing as they are asked to give up study halls as well as some lunch periods to go rehearse for an upcoming performance they have.

Student Council

Expanding minds to make a better school.

 tudent council plays a big part in every day school activities. It is through student council that there is a homecoming, a spirit week, a blood drive, and various other activities that make the school year more interesting. Under the direction of Mr. J.J. Huber, members went all out in support of the levy. Currently, student council is working with the city to put a gazebo in Public Square. A lot of credit goes out to the members of student council and especially to student council officers who are Melissa Flick, Bryan Sell, Bernadette Alexander and Tracy Campbell.

International Culture Club

Parlez-Vous Francais? A phrase commonly spoken by the ICC or International Culture Club. ICC is a club organized by french teacher Ms. Deborah Volk to promote cultural awareness and kindness towards all people. The club holds many activities and services both in school and in the community throughout the year.

One of the ICC's most recognized activities is the Christmas toy drive for the needy children. The club collects extra lunch money from students in the cafeteria and with this money they purchase toys from local stores and distribute the toys to the children. The ICC also organizes the flower message sales in the school which are advertised for every holiday.

Club officers include: president Michele Kolazar, vice-president Jennifer Perry, and secretary/treasurer Laura Brown.

They also went to see the Ballet Folkloco of Mexico at the Palace Theater. The Spanish Club had several guest speakers and planned to host a foreign exchange student forum. As a fundraiser, the members sold the popular El Grande Pops. New to the school and Spanish Club this year were foreign exchange students Ximena Gonzalez from Chile and Susana Pujalt from Peru.

NHS

Excellence marks NHS members.

 The National Honor Society is a group comprised of SHS juniors and seniors who set an excellent example for their peers at SHS. To be admitted into NHS, students must have a GPA of at least 3.5 and participate in either school or community activities. Students are admitted into NHS on the basis of character, service, leadership, and GPA.

NHS members participate in many community and school projects throughout the year. Much of NHS's success can be attributed to advisor Mrs. Barbara McKee, who has been in charge of NHS for the past eight years. Currently, they are working with the county on an in-school recycling program. Aside from these group projects, NHS members are also required to take on an individual project which they must carry on throughout the school year.

NHS is an excellent group which brings much pride to Streetsboro High.

Beta Club

Students strive for excellence

Getting better grades is in the minds of every SHS student at one time or another. For most, college is in their futures and making it happen is the motto of all. Sacrificing lots of activities, experiences, and just fun time with friends must happen to make room for the work that is expected. For many, just getting into Beta Club is the best thing in school that has happened. It's a job; it's an activity; it's an experience. Beta Club restarted after a long break. Junior Amy Miller said, "I feel the induction ceremonies went very well considering that it was the first in so many years." Many people think that the club is an experience. It also helps the youths in becoming mature adults that can handle responsibilities.

Quiz Bowl

The 1993 quiz bowl team represented Streetsboro High School by participating in many different quiz bowls that took place throughout Ohio. SHS quiz bowl members received recognition by bringing home a third place win in the Portage County January Quiz Bowl competition this year. This year's team was built around a rather young team, consisting of only one senior, two juniors, five sophomores, and one freshman. Those students who participated on the 1993 SHS quiz bowl team were Justin Ogden, Bryan Sell, Jacob Snyder, Bernadette Alexander, Ryan Balis, Kris Jankowski, Andy Murray, Matt Murphy, and Chrissie Pistek.

The main goal of the club was to have fun, win, and to gain a wide variety of knowledge. Although the team did not appear on the television show "Academic Challenge" this year, they hope to develop a strong team for their next television appearance in two years.

Checkmate! The word that the Chess Club members love to say. The 1992-1993 Chess Club team finished with an overall record of five wins, two loses, and on decision. With that record, the team was able to move onto the playoffs. Leading the club was senior Dave Munkres who had a record of 6-2-2, which was one of the top records in the league. The team itself placed forth in the playoffs behind Kent, Walsh and CVCA.

The Chess Club takes part in the Akron Chess League and is part of the Reserve Division. This year's top five players consisted of seniors Dave Munkres, Justin Ogden, Dave Breyley, Keith Luchka, and freshman James Munkres. The back-ups on the team are juniors Jason Morrow and Brad Johnson. Although the team did well this year, Mr. Larry Marek would like to see more students participate in the club.

V-Rock hits airwaves

Changes continued to occur throughout the school year for the staff of 91.5 V-Rock. The station has established some connections with record companies which has enabled V-Rock to receive most of its music for free. V-Rock has also began to give away promotional merchandise and started a staff incentive plan to increase audience and staff productivity. The most important change at V-Rock is the increased number of listeners from last year.

The V-Rock staff is made up completely by students and their general manager Bob Long. Seniors Joe Boardwine, program director, and Rod Taiclet, operations manager, are next in the chain of command. Seniors Steve Robison, director of special programing, Jeff Whitson, director of continuity and traffic, and Kevin Kasarda, music director, also play a role in the management of the station.

A Wonderful Tonight

Prom lives up to expectations

Prom, one of the biggest events of the school year was highlighted by a beautiful night with a gazebo overlooking a lake. The junior-senior prom was held at the Sun Valley Party Center in Aurora for the second year in a row. Pictures were being taken in the gazebo outside, and inside the guests were eating, dancing, and having a great time.

The king and queen crowning was a major event that took place during the evening. Students cast their votes as they entered the dance. When the king and queen took their reign over the prom court, the guests and King and Queen, Joe Boardwine and Justina Beres seemed a little surprised.

Others on Prom Court were King candidates Tim Huffman, Brian Hanko and Kevin Kasarda. Queen candidates were Sharon Vasickanin, Melissa Flick, and Katie Murdoch.

Overall Prom was an exciting event for many people. It let some students live a dream. "I really enjoyed prom, it was better than I had expected it to be," said junior Ben Finley.; "I really look forward to going back next year."

Journalists

The Rocket Press rolls on

Journalism and Yearbook students at SHS are solely responsible for the putting together of both the award-winning Orbiter newspaper and the Golden Key Yearbook. All pages are laid out on the computer and printed over and over again until they are done perfectly! Students under the direction of Mr. Dave Hostetler have become familiar with the term deadline and in most cases students are always in a frantic rush to meet theirs!

Yearbook editors, Jayme Mesenger and Andrew Robitaille, feel that though there is a lot of satisfaction in the final product, a lot of stress goes into getting the end result. Pages must be set up, captions and copy written, pictures chosen, cropped, and labeled, and finally the page is complete-if there are no errors.

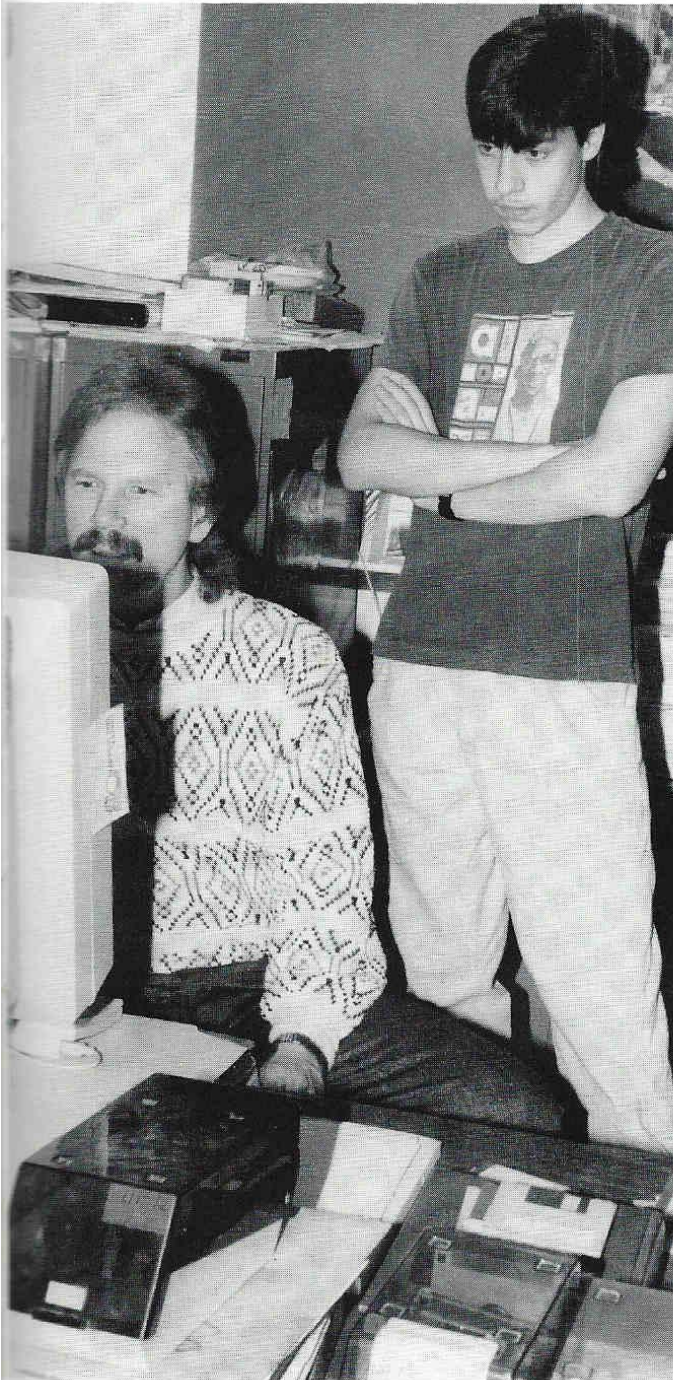

Members of the newspaper staff go through the same ordeal. Despite all the hassle of putting the paper together, the staff always manages to produce an award-winning paper!

The Man Who Came to Dinner

his years' play "The Man Who Came to Dinner" was directed by eleventh grade English teacher Mrs. Nanette Peterson. This play was a zany comedy about an arrogant radio talk show host who breaks his hip on a wealthy Ohio family's doorstep and has to stay with them for a while. This play was written in the 1930s and has a lot of verbal and a little physical humor. The play included many different characters, so many students were able to participate in the event. The main characters in the play were Brian King as Sheridan Whiteside and Melissa Flick as Maggie Cutler. Other characters in the play included Kalli Vimr as Mrs. Stanley, Brian Sell as Mr. Stanley, Andrew Robitalle as Richard Stanley and Amanda Young as June Stanley. There were also people that helped back stage with props, make up and curtain and scene changes to make the play the success that it was.

The play was performed on May 8 and May 9. The performance on May 9 was a dinner theatre and was a sold out event. "Last year for the second time, Streetsboro High School had a dinner theatre and it turned as well as the first," Mrs. Peterson said. "That is why we had another one this year."

"This years' play was a lot of fun, and I enjoyed being a part of it again. I thought that the play went really well, and I thought that the audience enjoyed it a lot," said play member Ben Finley.

Acting to perfection!

Teachers

ew challenges were brought to the teaching staff in the 1992-93 school year. Money problems forced the staff to "sweat out" such challenges as a chalk shortage and limit on photocopying. Established programs faced discontinuation and staff members faced lay-offs. Heaven forbid, the yearbook itself faced its end.

You Graduate.

They tell you...

"YOU are THE FUTURE"

So
you look in the mirror.

Hey, the future is lookin' good.
The future is happening.
The future looks like it's goin' places.
The future is...
Actually, the future is gettin' kinda hungry.

There's definitely a place in the future for McDonald's®.
