Define Yourself

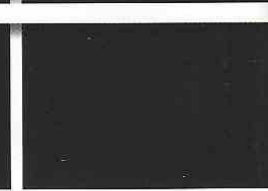

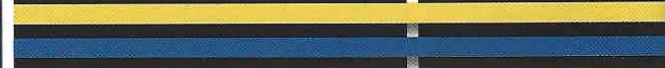

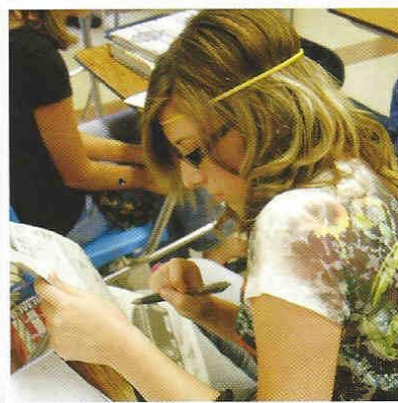

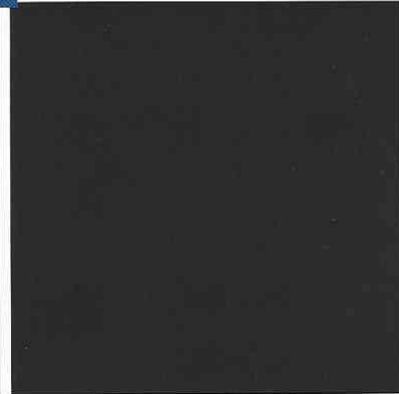

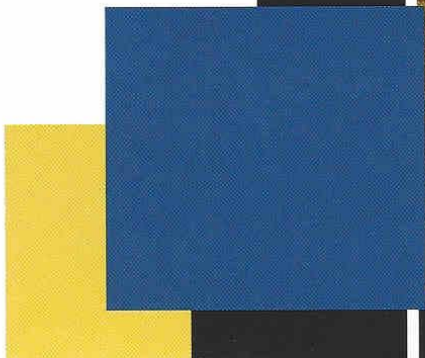

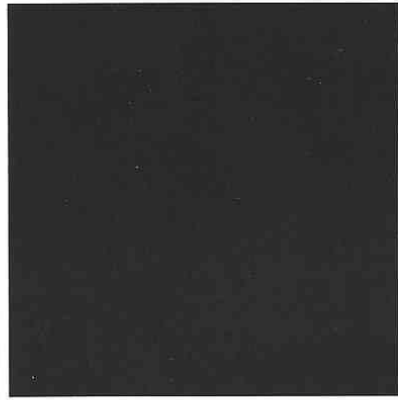

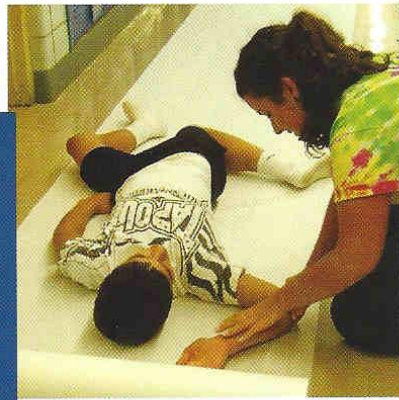

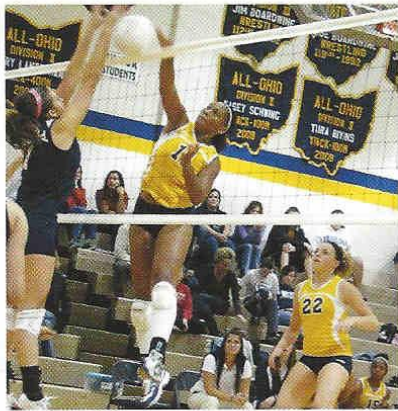

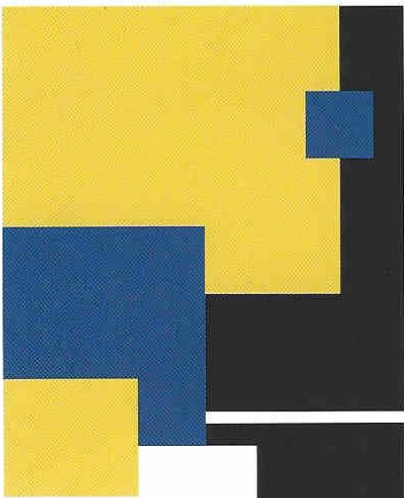

Through the fights and tears, miles and years, Streetsboro High School is defined throughout these pages. High school is a time for each student to step out and define him or herself. Each club and sport has its own defining moments that make each year special; however, this year stands above the rest.

Motivation

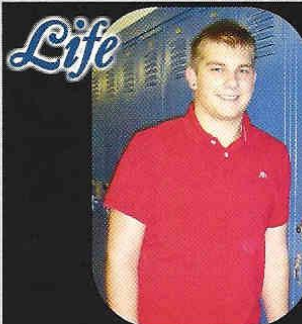

"College is coming up soon and I feel that I need to be prepared for college from high school. I want to be a nurse and I know I need to work hard to accomplish that goal."

Jennie Prentice
Senior

"Seeing sick people motivates me to become a nurse because I want to make a difference in the medical world."

Joey Pettit
Junior

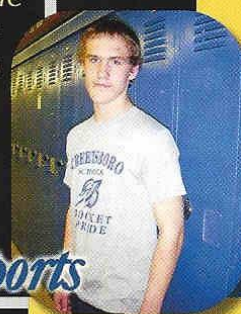

"My family and friends motivate me to get through high school and to get good grades for college. This year has motivated me to meet new people and overlook past mistakes."

Sarah Lago
Freshman

"In soccer I try to do better and I push myself further and further every time. My oldest sister is my motivation because she tells me that no one can be in your way or control what you do."

Christopher Manes
Sophomore

Looking for a pencil in his wallet to keep score against Garfield is junior David Tackett, who ended up receiving Honorable Mention All-PTC for the season.

Practicing his putting before the Southeast meet is freshman Tyler Papp, while sophomore Patrick Casey finishes his swing.

The season starts with the fresh autumn air and ends with the buzzer at the basketball game. It is a job to keep the spirit high and promote positive attitudes throughout the school. To be a cheerleader is more than primping for the game. It is showing pride and standing tall above the rest. Cheerleaders are of respect and integrity. "Remember there is always a little girl in the stands that wants to be just like you, don't disappoint her."

Primped & Proud

Adj: Showing a high opinion of one's own dignity

1. Dancing along with the band to "Give me Some Lovin'" are the varsity football cheerleaders.

2. Proudly cheering at the homecoming football game is junior Amanda Selby.
3. Supporting the freshman football team during the home game October 8 are Jordan Wombold and Kayla Tuma.

8. The junior varsity cheer squad was led by captain Da'Nae Redding.
9. The freshman football cheerleaders were coached by Amanda Dascenzo.

What's your motivation?

Coach Cristy Lindstrom: "I still personally have a passion for dance so getting to do that after school is great. Most of the time it's a breath of fresh air to go to practice. Definitely going to miss the seniors. It's fun to just go in and laugh with my girls. If I can be a light to anyone, just one person, that keeps me going."

Camp Memories

Shannon Roseberry

"When we took stink bombs to cheer camp and stunk up the COA camp store. We made our get-away in the elevator so we didn't have to smell it ourselves."

"When we had five meal cards on one key chain, and Liv lost them. We later found them right next to her dresser. We had to work out and eat late."

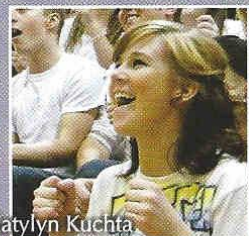

Karlie Grigoli

Olivia Allen

"When I was stink-bombing our fellow cheerleaders' rooms [at camp], I threw one into my own room onto Katylyn's clothing."

"When I free-style rapped a wake-up song for all the other cheerleaders at 3 a.m. while booty dancing in the hallway during cheer camp."

Katylyn Kuchta

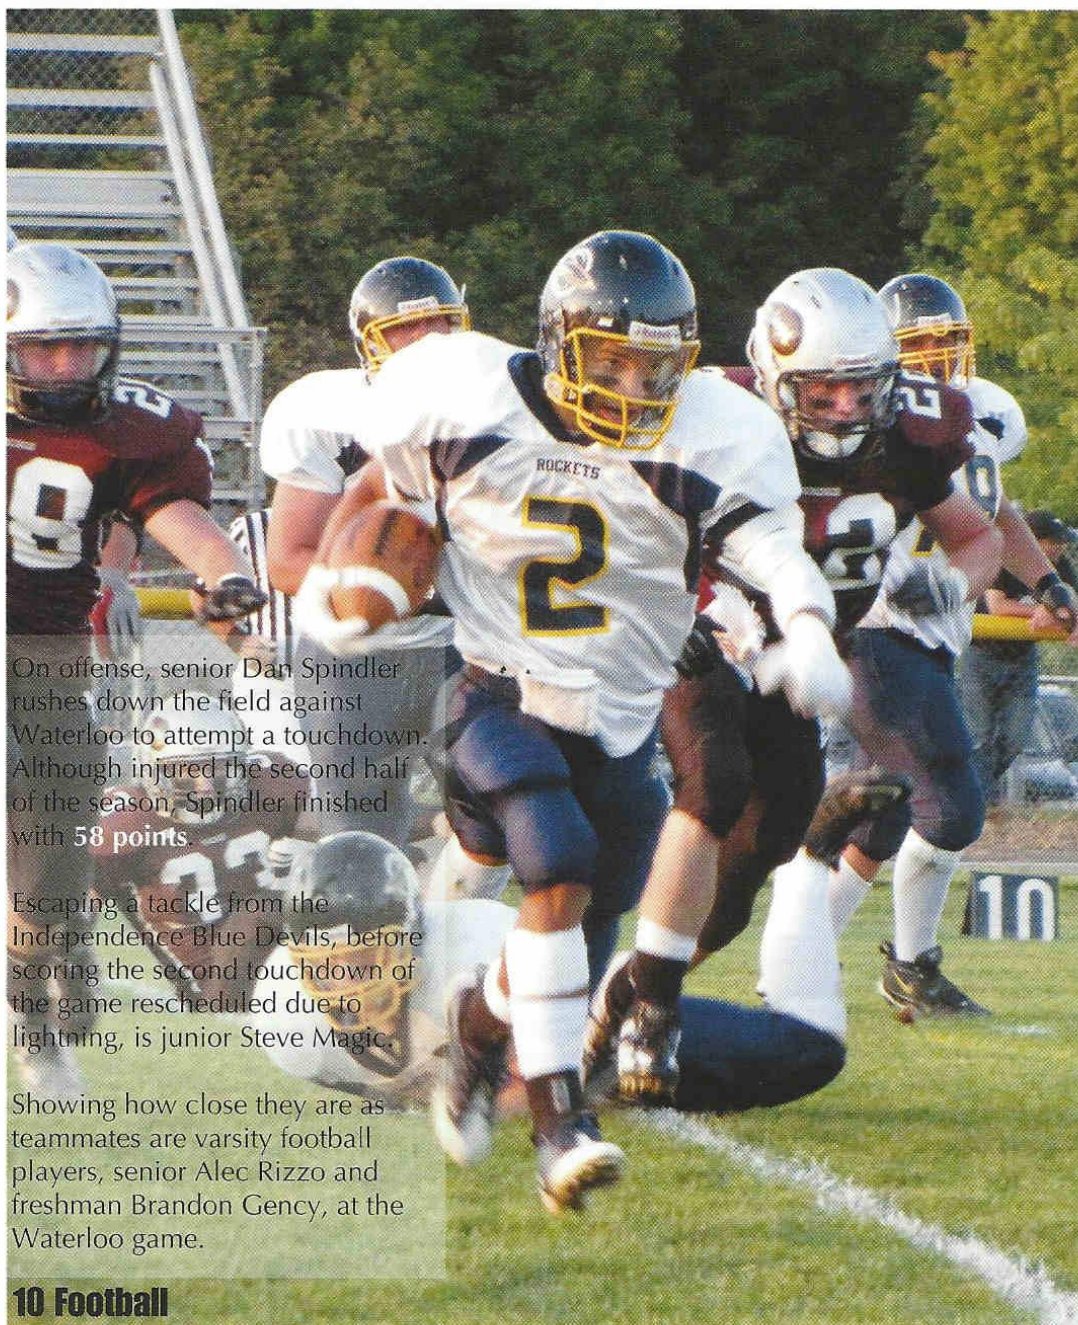

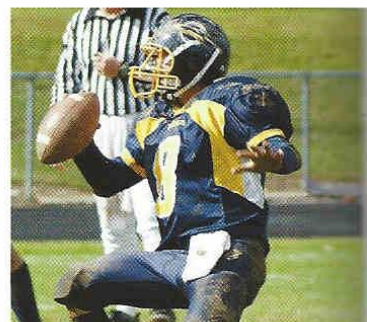

Michelle Brown

"Definitely the shaving cream fight. How we ganged up on the freshmen and they got all mad, and the coaches got involved so it was fun!"

[Be - lieve]

Verb: to have faith and confidence that your team is the best.

Football is a way of life, not just a sport. The 2009 season was one of ups and downs, but the guys stayed strong and kept fighting until the end, finishing with a 5-5 record in the PTC league. The season highlight was after a sloppy, uncontrolled first half against the Crestwood Red Devils, the varsity guys came out and huddled up close to the sidelines for one last pep talk before returning to the field. Coach Arlesic said that the outcome of the game would all come down to which team wanted it the most, and which team believed they were the best. The final score was Streetsboro 35, Crestwood 14.

The Inside Scoop

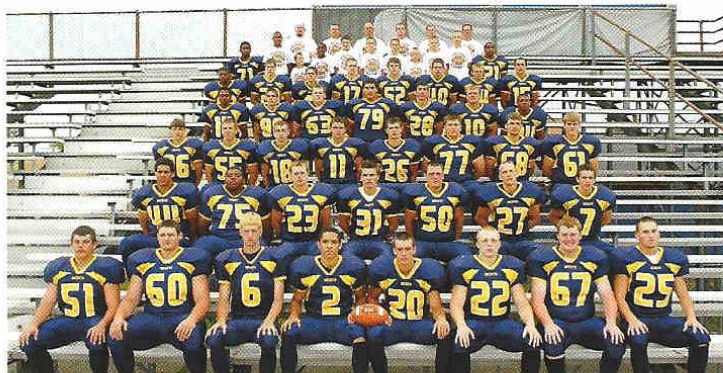

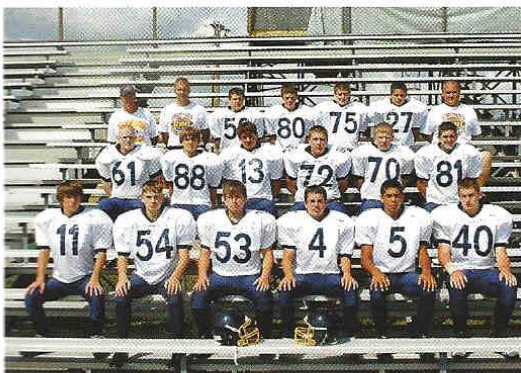

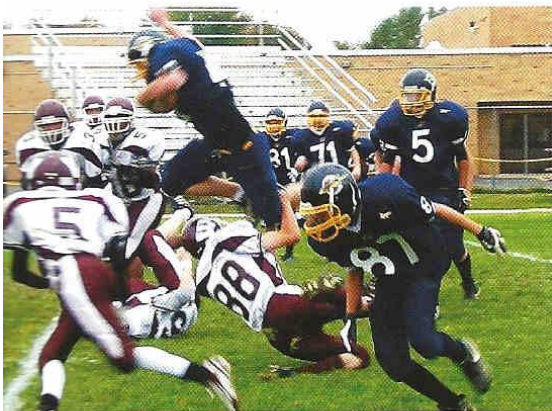

The locker room becomes another home to the players, the site of traditions and moments some will never forget. Before the games, music like "Ice Cream Paint Job" would blast. They would all sing along, although senior Alec Rizzo would always dance solo. After games, seniors Jared Owen, captains Jason Cook and Bobby Hegedish would shout "Scrubs!" to all the boys who did not shower. Owen, Cook, and senior Jason Silvis, along with juniors Chris Williams and Nate Mountain, would stay after practices for at least an extra hour, transforming barrels into a hot tub by filling them with hot water.

Huddling before the Ravenna game are the varsity and jv.

Hurling over Woodridge players toward the goal post is freshman Camren Sackett.

The freshman team, coached by Bob Sternburg and Todd Muckleroy, finished with a 1-7 record.

The jv and varsity team, under Head Coach John Arlesic, finished the season with a total of 208 points.

Leave everything on the court:

The volleyball team is known for its hard work in the off-season, for dedication, and repeating championships. A typical summer practice for the girls consists of being up and ready to play at 8 a.m., conditioning, running from the back of Defer to the baseball field backstop, turning around and running up to the weight room, lifting for 20 minutes, running back down to Defer, running 9-3-6-3-9s, then playing the last 20 minutes or so of practice. This year those workouts and the theme of "ICE: Intensity, Concentration and Enthusiasm" payed off, as the team finished with 19 wins and 5 losses. Season highlights were beating the Crestwood Red Devils in five games, and beating the Rootstown Rovers away in five games.

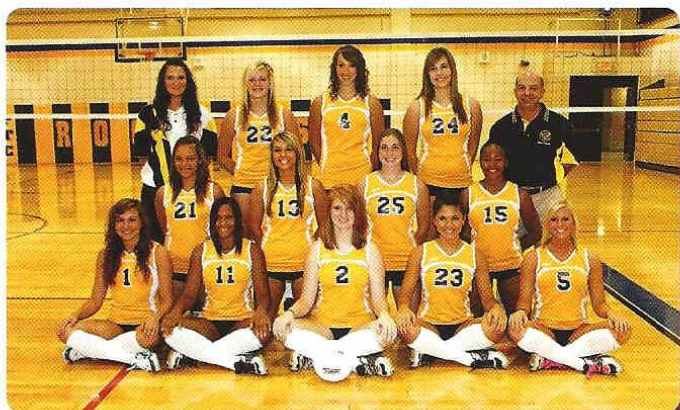

Key players were seniors Olivia Allen and Marshe Wright, juniors Jaclynn Hess and Jordan Genovese, sophomore Rachael Kolke and, rounding out the core of the offense, freshman Lexi Brewster. Setting school records for most assists in a season was senior Olivia Allen, with 611, and senior Marshe Wright for most kills in a season, with 292. Wright said she loved being involved with the team. "They are like my second family. I am an only child, but those girls are my big and little sisters."

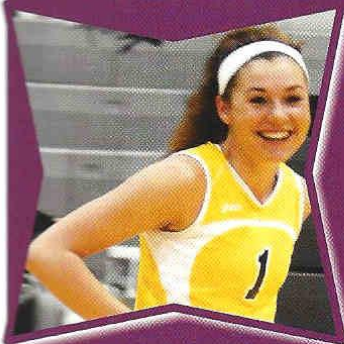

Listening to a breast cancer survivor share her story during the Sept. 16 Volley for the Cure game are the varsity volleyball players.

The varsity volleyball team won its fifth consecutive championship under "PTC Coach of the Year" Bill Smerglia and assistant Sarah Baka.

The junior varsity volleyball team, coached by Jenna Widdoes, finished with 11 wins and 10 losses.

7. Starting out the JV race at the Boardman Invitational is junior Kristin Monahan.

8. Starting to pick up her stride as she nears the end of the CVNP race is freshman Paige Verma.

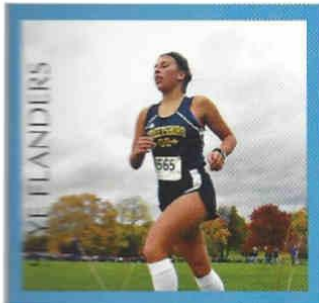

WHAT?

For the Tiffin Invitational, the girls stayed in a hotel overnight. They went swimming and out to eat. Then they got together in teams and participated in a relay, in which each person ran two miles. The participants also had the opportunity to dress up in themes, as shown in the picture on the right that features the caterpillars in the front row. The girls also went camping one weekend, toughing it out in the wild, running all day and night.

Bet you didn't know that.

Seniors

This year's senior girls have been competing in races for three to four years. Gaby Ryczek, who ran all four years, received Honorable Mention All League and was one of the captains of the team. She also received the MVP Award. Skye Flanders has been on the team for three years and met her goal of making it on the varsity A team for districts, making her finally eligible for her varsity letter. Stephanie Leshner, who has been on the team for three years, was also a captain who ran on the varsity A team.

Participating in the Akron Marathon on the day of Homecoming is junior Shawnee Spinks, freshman

What will you miss most after graduation?

"Band is like a second family to me. We all practically grow up with each other and we fight like a family too. I love it. I'll miss my friends the most after graduation." - Michelle Brown

"I'll miss the dedication I had for band the most." - Lauren Sigman

"The possessed copier." - Reed Davis

During the fall, the focus is only the marching band, with the remainder of the year focusing on concert band. Marching band begins in the summer, with 8:30 a.m. rehearsals and band camp, where the pre-game and first halftime show are learned. Also at this time, the "rookies" are taught how to march and play music at the same time. During a typical season, the Marching Rockets perform at 10 football games, three band shows, a marching band concert, and other performances at various locations in and around the community. This year, they performed at all the football games, the Cuyahoga Falls Band Show and the Medina Band Show. Immediately after the conclusion of the football games, symphonic band begins. This group plays three concerts, participates in solo and ensemble contests, performs at commencement, and participates in the Memorial Day Parade. In December, the group featured arrangements of "Mars" and "Jupiter" from "The Planets," a challenging band standard called "Havendence," a "Fanfare for Christmas," and Mannheim Steamroller's rock version of "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." In May, they lightened up and played familiar pieces like medleys from movies and new Broadway shows. Pep and jazz bands also perform during the year. Pep band plays upbeat pop music for a number of the home boys' and girls' basketball games, while jazz band performs styles like swing, funk, bossa nova and Latin; students are often featured soloists with improvised material.

"A lot of it is about group dynamics. You work on a group project to end up with something you're proud to put your name on and put out there," said Adviser Tom Fesemyer. TV production classes and Morning Announcements both teach students the basics of video and what it is like to be behind the scenes of broadcasting through television. Senior Zac Puster said he likes being able to be in control of everything, but not having to be seen. Students in the TV production and Morning Announcement classes show their creative sides when they put together their projects with editing programs on the Macs. It is an important job to serve the school with all of the most important memos and news that is happening within it every morning. As the technology in society grows, so does the class. It has been growing since the first class began in 1998, and it will continue to grow.

>>Getting in tune with the staff:

In the past year, 88.9 WSTB has gone through multiple obstacles to keep itself afloat and uphold its reputation as one of the only high school student-run radio stations in the area. The purpose of WSTB is to serve the community with a genre of music many other stations do not play. Some students choose to be DJs because they want to "bolster their journalistic experiences" and others say it allows them to be stronger public speakers. WSTB has an annual fund drive to raise money for the following year. Staff members pitch a tent at the Relay for Life, and also take a break in the summer to go on the Goodtime cruise. Leaders of this group also took a trip to Austin, Texas in the fall for a national convention. They learned multiple things about broadcasting and were able to experience a whole new city most had never been to before. Although WSTB has been through a lot as a group, the station and its members are still standing strong.

>>To be a DJ:

1 energy

You have to enjoy what you're doing. If you're not having a good time with it, the listeners will not have a good time either.

2 outgoing

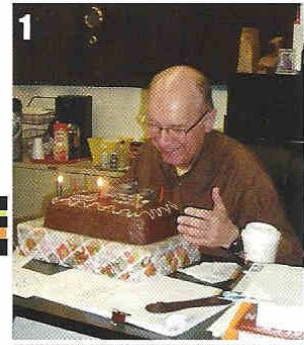

Being shy just won't cut it. You need to show your true personality on the radio.

3 brains

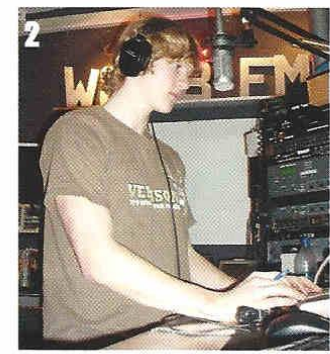

Just getting good grades does not mean you're smart. You should know the music you're playing. Know what you're talking about on the radio.

4 multitask

Being on air, adding new songs to the playlist, interviewing bands. There's a lot that goes on in the station, and sometimes you have to do more than one thing at once.

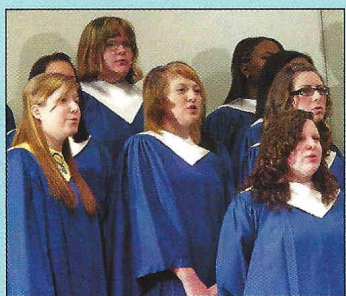

1. Attempting to blow out the trick candles on his birthday cake is WSTB manager Bob Long.

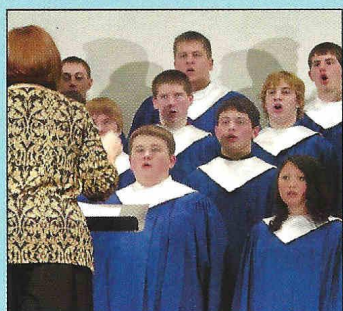

2. Prepared for a live phone interview with Set Your Goals in the station is senior operations manager Greg Coffee.

Financial issues made this a rough year for the choral music program. Due to the financial cuts --a result of three consecutive failed levies -- the treble ensemble was unable to travel to Cleveland to sing the national anthem at the Cleveland Cavaliers game.

"Singing for the Cavs last year was a honor and accomplishment," Spurlock said. Her group would not have had to audition again "due to their superior rendition" last year. Spurlock said the superintendent and school board refused to let the ensemble travel to "The Q," even after she devised several different scenarios to cover the cost. Despite such issues, Spurlock said all choirs worked hard this year.

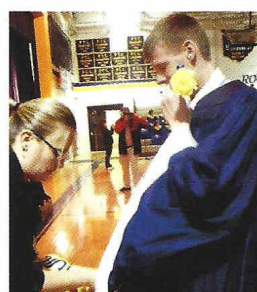

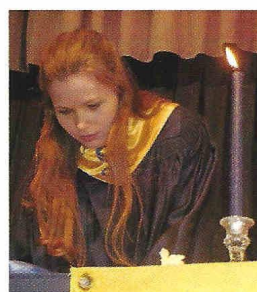

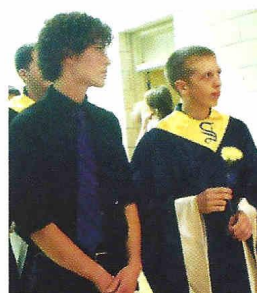

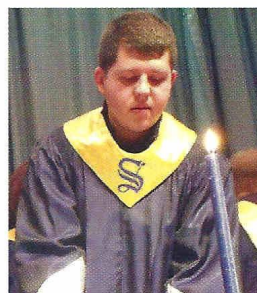

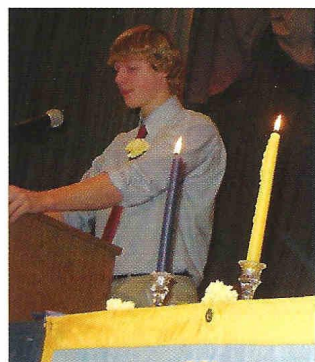

The director is facing another challenge as the year comes to a close: preparing for the loss of 12 seniors in treble ensemble and 25 seniors total.

How is Maplewood Career Center different from Steetsboro High School?

Music, usually classic rock, is played in the halls throughout the day, even while classes are in progress.

Students are allowed to wear hats while working in labs.

Several labs are open to the public, including Careers with Young Children, cosmetology, and the Maple Leaf Restaurant, which is open to students twice a week and takes reservations from the public.

With a total of 10 school districts attending MCC, students meet many new people.

As juniors, students have the option to attend Maplewood Career Center in Ravenna with nine other school districts. Students can choose from 25 career and technical labs -- ranging from welding to culinary arts -- to work hands-on and get a head start on their future professions.

When school begins at 8:21 a.m., juniors attend three-hour labs while seniors are in 40-minute academic classes. The schedule switches in the afternoon: juniors are in academic classes while seniors are in labs.

During their junior year, students spend more time learning about their labs. Then, during senior year, the labs are more independent and hands-on. Several of the career and technical labs at Maplewood are open to the public.

The school day at Maplewood ends at 2:21 p.m., which gives students enough time to head back to their hometowns and stay involved in sports and other activities.

“My lab...is fun and hands on. I'm learning what I want to. Not what everyone else is.”
Junior Dustin Monroe

“I like it that as a senior you go out for a job with your related lab.”
Senior Frankie Diehl

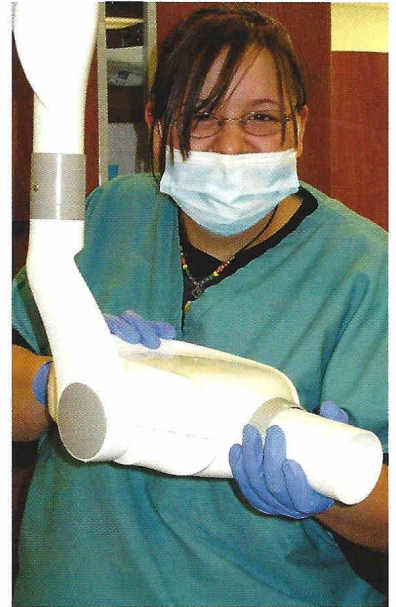

“I like that you get a head start on life.”
Junior Samantha Cheatham

Noun: The quality of mind which reaches definite conclusions; decision of character; resoluteness.

Behind the sweat and tears:

Wrestling started November 13th, and practice was held every day after school from 3-5 p.m. It takes a lot for a high school teenager to dedicate themselves to a full season of wrestling. Making weight and conditioning are the most important tasks in this sport. So is obtaining a hectic eating schedule, such as with junior Anthony Skulina (130 lbs). He would eat Saturday through Tuesday, and not Thursday. After the weigh-in on the day of the tournament, the team was finally able to pig out and eat for the weekend. The close bond the team maintains keeps their heads high, and the winning traditions alive. Our wrestlers put their hearts into three harsh months of numerous matches, tournaments, PTCs, districts, finals and states. Sophomore Cory Stainbrook (103 lbs), has successfully made it to states the past two years. The state championship, held in Columbus, featured other schools from all over the state to determine the best. Cory was there from March 3-7 and took third place.

Fighting to keep his Crestwood opponent on the mat is junior Ruben Martinez (152 lbs).

Relieved after achieving a win against his Crestwood opponent is sophomore Bubba Baker (215 lbs).

Holding an opponent to the mat for two points in the January 21st home match is junior Tyler Verma (130 lbs).

Seniors

Jason Cook

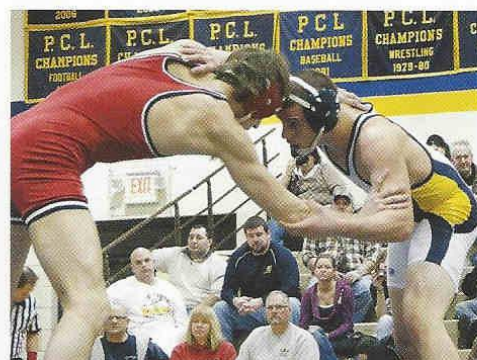

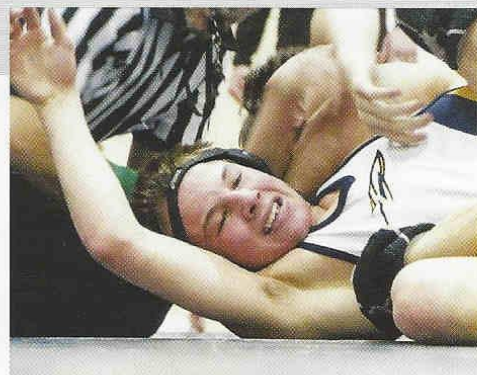

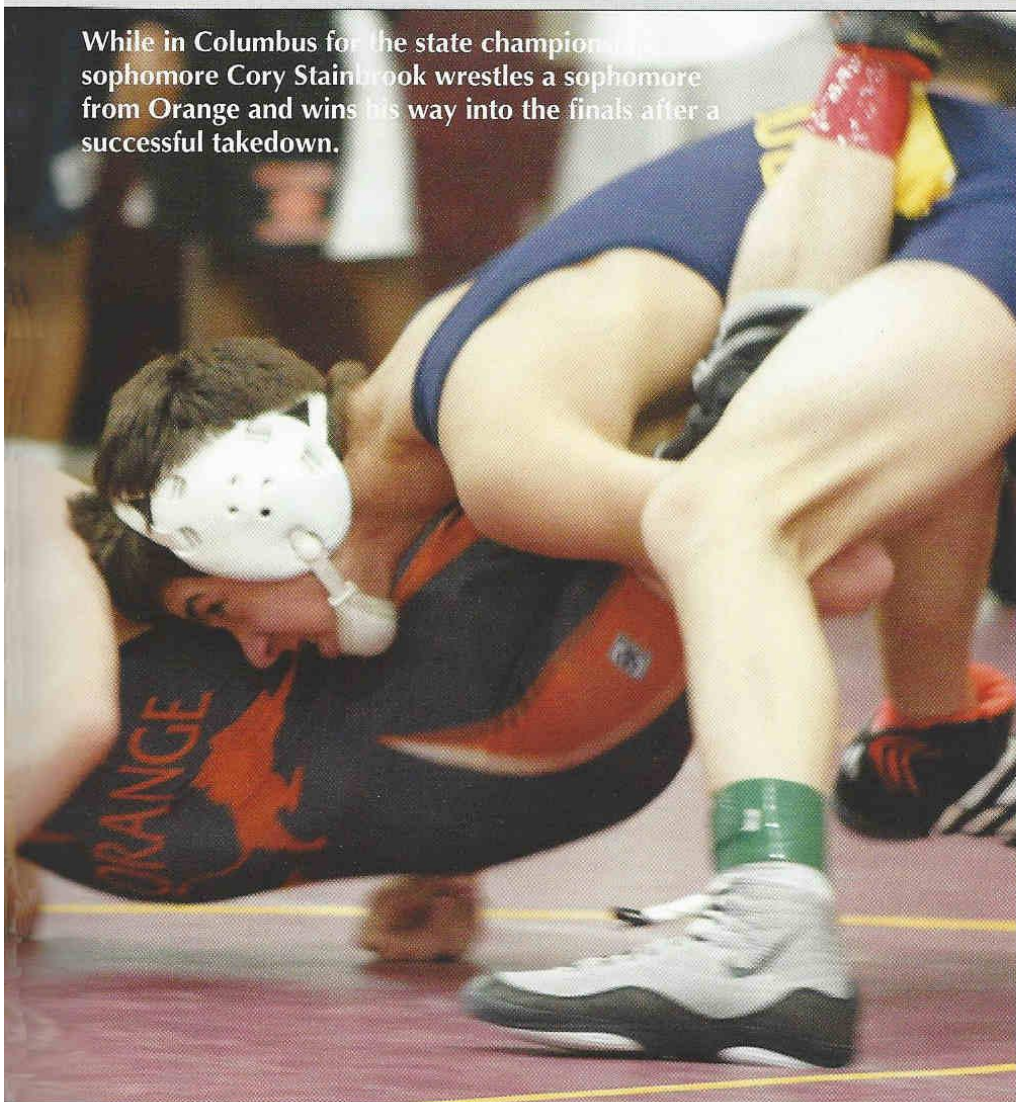

Cook wrestled at 285 lbs two years in a row and received the First-Year PTC award. His teammate, Chris Ashburn, would always sing to him before his matches!

Mike Wisniewski

In his first year of wrestling at 189 lbs, 17-year-old Wisniewski joined to get in shape, learn and help the team work toward winning a state championship.

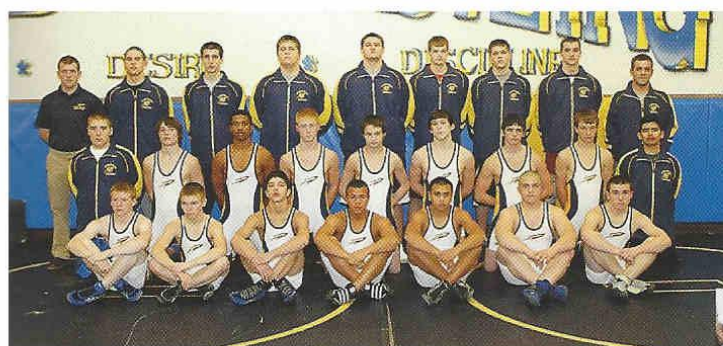

While in Columbus for the state championships, sophomore Cory Stainbrook wrestles a sophomore from Orange and wins his way into the finals after a successful takedown.

Attempting to get out of a Crestwood opponent's hold is sophomore Zack Baratko (119 lbs).

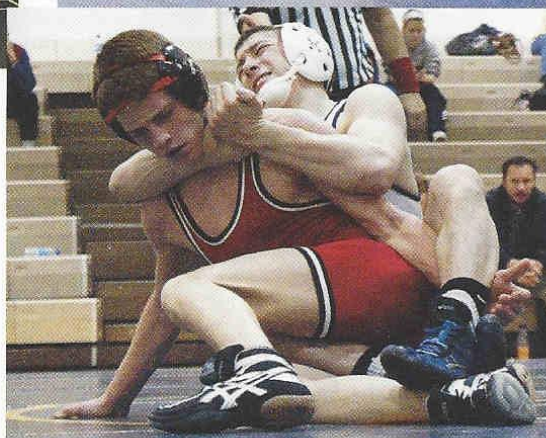

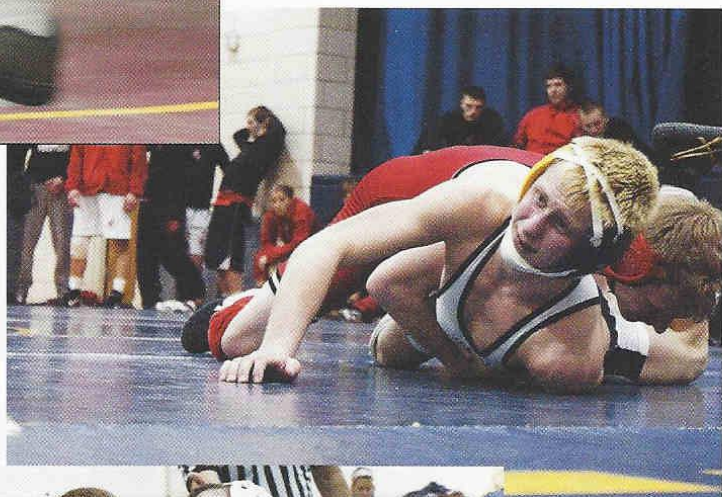

Testing his opponent's strength at a home match is sophomore Chris Ashburn (171 lbs).

Struggling to keep himself off the mat and fighting for a victory is junior Drew Kluchurosky (125 lbs).

The 2009-2010 wrestling team was coached by Rick Charlton and Bob Kirtley. The team captains were sophomores Cory Stainbrook, Chris Ashburn and senior Jason Cook. The team finished its season with an overall record of 4-4.

Fighting to beat a Crestwood opponent is junior Anthony Skulina (130 lbs).

Front Row: Taylor Morris, Megan Densmore, Makayla Johnson, Mikaela Dombrowski, Peyton Julian, Simran Bhatia and Aleeyah Norvell

Team means family

From inside jokes such as making race car noises while running at practice, to ending the season with 6 wins compared to the previous year's 2, the girls take the definition of family to a whole other level: sisterhood.

The Varsity team

On the bench: Injuries

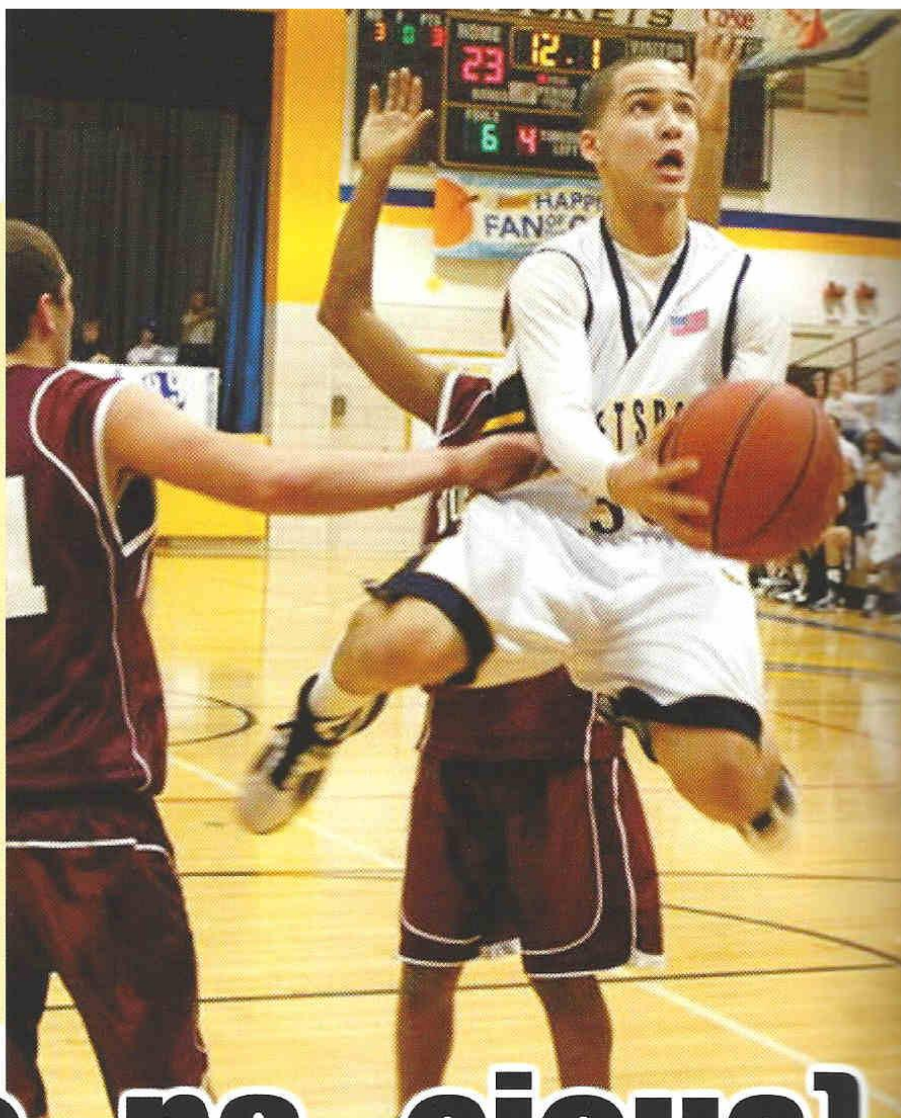

Ending his senior year short by playing only 3 games, Malcolm Brooks had 4 surgeries on his back due to a spinal infection. Doctors removed an infected bone, placed a tube for fluid drainage, and finished with internal stitches. When able, Brooks could be found sitting the bench to cheer on his family.

After undergoing surgery for a football injury, senior Dan Spindler began this season 8 games late. Problems progressed in his foot, and after the East Canton game, another surgery was performed. A bone was removed from his foot, as was a previously placed pin.

After the East Canton game, sophomore Ben Gency had to have 2 root canals. He was out for a few weeks, and was told to wear a mouth guard for future games. Not long after returning, Gency was out for the last games due to a fractured growth plate.

Adj: Characterized by fighting strong and never giving up

Since the first day Todd Muckleroy became the varsity coach, he has focused on creating a sense of family amongst the players. His Rockets set out this year with three goals: finish at the top of the league, be a district qualifier by winning the third sectional title in a row, and maintain a winning/undefeated record for the season. The team finished second in the league but was not a district qualifier. Although the Rockets were not undefeated, they still had a winning season. Coaches and players faced a number of challenges: from injuries, a few overtime games, to living up to last year's expectations. At the beginning of the season, people expected a big loss for the boys at home against Kent Roosevelt. The Rockets were underestimated and gained the respect of still being a great team, despite having lost key players from the previous year. Next year's team will be living up to this year's success as it says goodbye to seniors Asante Banks, Malcolm Brooks, Vince LaVallee Jay Lugo, Dan Spindler and Mike Zitkewicz. For these guys, March 3rd, 2010, was their last high school basketball contest. "Because the type of people that they are, I am certain that they will go on and perform positive accomplishments in their life," said Muckleroy. "But I know that one day in the near future, they will miss the stories and events that they experienced."

What moves can you do?

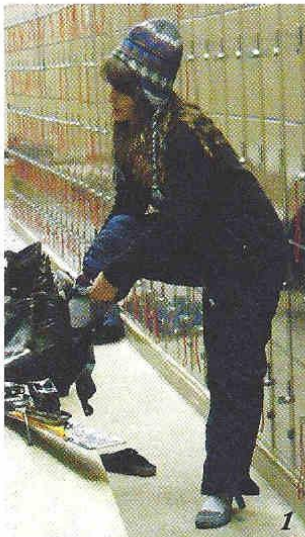

Junior Keith Martin:
Butter, Grind and a Backside 180.

Describe those moves:

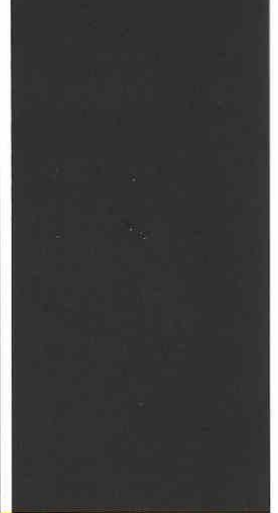

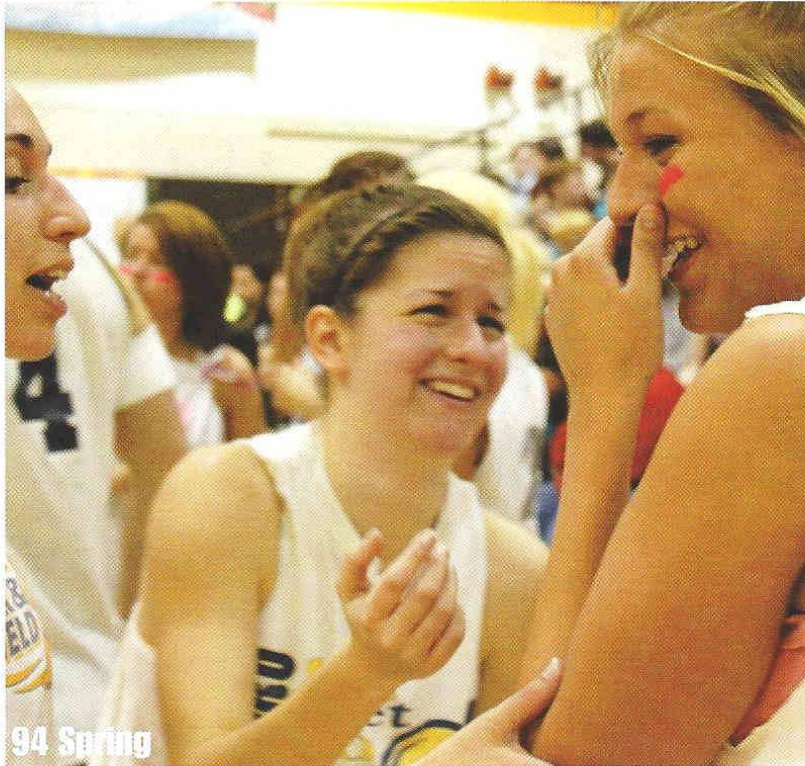

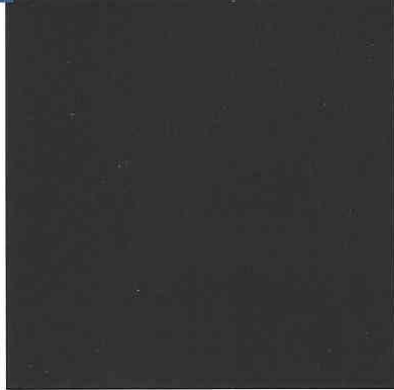

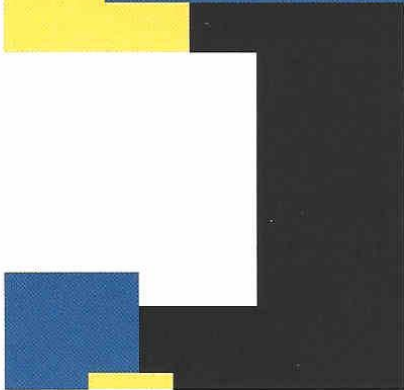

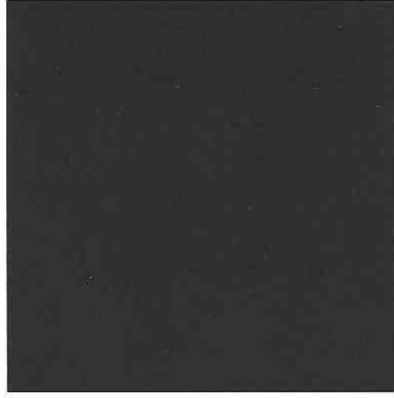

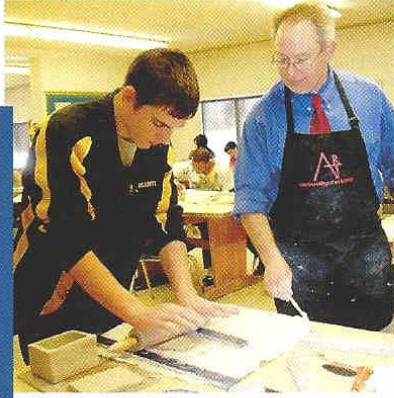

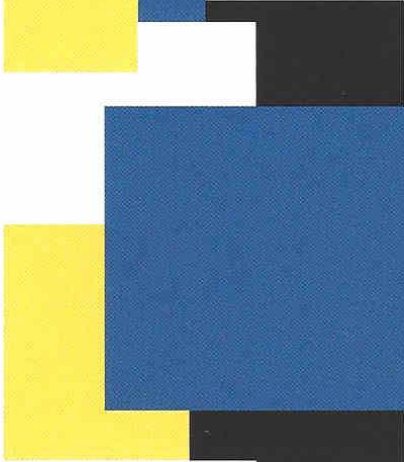

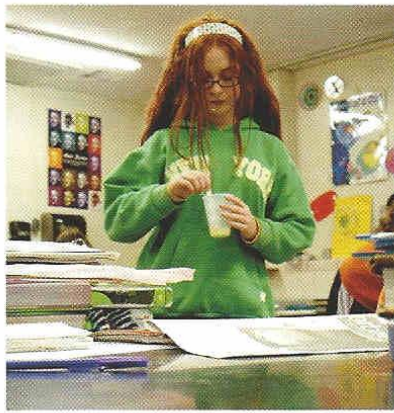

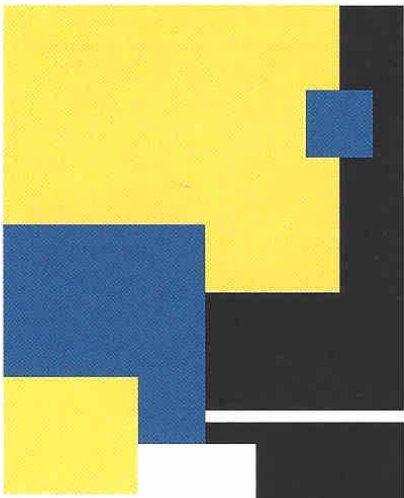

The Butter is where you shift all your weight over to the nose of the board and then do a rotational move, either a 180 or a 360.

To Grind you ride objects such as boxes and handrails with a snowboard.

The Backside 180 is where you take the jump with your back to the launching point and land forward.

1. Talking to fellow classmate freshman Ashley Garman while putting her boots on is freshman Olivia Beale.
2. Checking to make sure she is strapped in before hitting the slopes is freshman Olivia Beale.
3. Helping strap freshman Ashley Garman into her ski's is freshman Olivia Beale.

Expression

"I express myself through my band T-shirts and my hair. My favorite band T-shirt is A Bullet for My Valentine. I also write on myself a lot. I draw my own symbols. I scream to my favorite song, "Braille," by Bring Me The Horizon. I feel that the way I express myself will shock people because I'm kind of distant and far off.

Cam Gomula
Senior

I express myself through math, by trying to learn new things. Math is my favorite subject because I like simplifying big problems into something easy. I've always got good grades in math and Mrs. Robitaille inspired me because she told me I can do anything I put my mind to.

Dalton Cupka

Kristin Monahan & Bobby Hegedish

Senior Bobby Hegedish and junior Kristin Monahan started dating February 8, 2008 -- her freshman and his sophomore year.

Kristin's favorite memory of her and Bobby is...

"One day after a softball game I walked in my front door and all the way up my stairs was Hershey kisses leading into my bathroom, and in my shower was a bundle of flowers and a note saying:

'Now that I have kissed the ground you walked on and showered you with flowers; will you go to prom with me?'

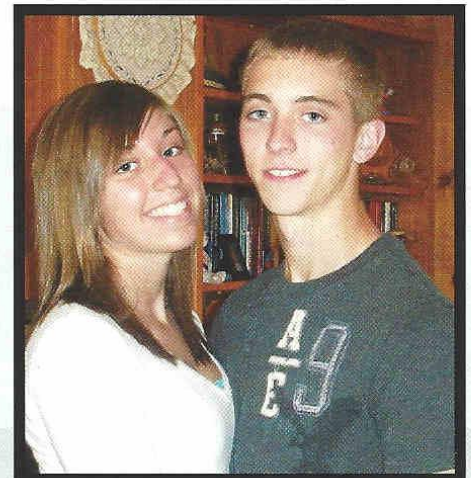

This is how Bob asked me to prom my sophomore year and his junior year."

Stan Rocuskie & Stephanie Lesber

Stephanie remembers their first kiss...

"We were hanging out at a friend's house when I asked him if he could take me home. When he took me home we said goodbye and I went into my house. All of a sudden my phone started to ring and it was Stan. I answered and he told me that he needed me to come outside. I went outside and he was standing by his car. When I got to him he told me he didn't say goodbye right. He gave me a huge hug and then just grabbed me and kissed me. I thought it was so cute and, less than a week after, we were dating.

Amanda Anderson & Jason Cook

Amanda shares...

"For our one-year, Jason made us lunch for a picnic and took me to the Cuyahoga Valley waterfalls and he brought a CD player. He danced with me to Taylor Swift's 'Love Story' because he told me he would never dance to that song."

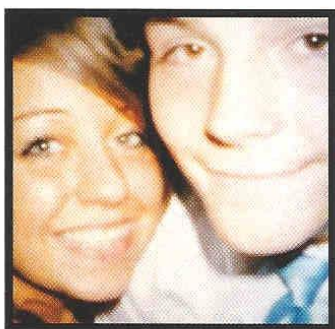

Kyle Willa & Peyton Flanders

Shawnee Justus & Bubba Baker

Shawnee Remembers:

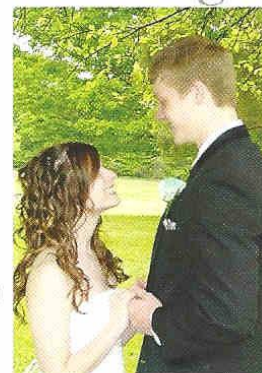

"I met Bubba at my cousin's house when I was 13 and he was 12. He was a rambunctious boy and I was a preppy brat who threw his shoe in the sewer. I left thinking he was the most annoying boy I ever met, and he left telling my cousin, 'I'm going to marry that girl one day.'"

Courtney Sackett & Gregory Coffee

Courtney Reminisces:

"I remember the first time Gregory told me he loved me. For so long, we were both too nervous to say it because we wanted it to really mean something, so we invented a new word, 'lirst.' A few months after we started dating, I was about to go to bed when I heard a knock on my window. I opened it and he was standing there smiling at me. When he climbed through, he leaned in toward me. When I couldn't take the anticipation any more, I told him to just say it. He said 'I love you, Courtney,' and I kissed him immediately. When his lips finally left mine, I whispered, 'I love you, Gregory.'"

Adj: having great effectiveness on the ears of an audience

> The Audience

"I enjoy things like the Poetry Slam and Rock Off because it's nice listening to people that know what they're doing on stage. They really know how to connect with the audience and have fun up there."

>>Senior Lindsey Fitzgibbons

What is the best way to ROCK OUT?

"In your bedroom jamming to Dave Matthews in your underwear."

>>Junior
Jordan Genovese

"Anywhere in my house, listening to the radio with my hairbrush."

>>Junior
Alyse Golak

"Just go out and show the world what you got. Make everyone recognize you."

>>Sophomore
Brett Boardwine

Center Stage:

musician's job is a hard one. He must create a work of art that will capture the ears and souls of everyone listening and must hold that attention throughout the entire performance. The audience will not feel the passion if the musician does not have it within himself.

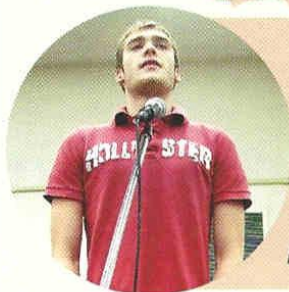

When it comes to the songwriting program, many new doors have opened. Performing with famous singer and songwriter Amy Kuney, competing in the annual Tri-C High School Rock Off, and having their own concert, "Lipstick and Guitar Licks" are just some of the opportunities the program has been given.

Having three bands as semi-finalists in the High School Rock Off was a tie for the most in the state. The semi-finalists included sophomores Maddie Finn (real name Maddie Utrup) and Brett Boardwine, juniors Jordan Genovese and Alyse Golak and seniors Stefani Reeder, Brian Poston and Justin Packwood. Students were not the only ones with remarkable accomplishments, though.

Songwriting teacher Jim Boardwine performed a Christmas song he wrote, "A Little More," live on 94.1 WHBC, alongside special education teacher Marjie Arida's daughter Amy Arida.

Boardwine also started a new record label called Gateway Records, geared mostly toward young singer/songwriters, which has helped motivate students interested in music careers to get started in the right direction.

The writer is the engineer of the human soul >>Joseph Stalin

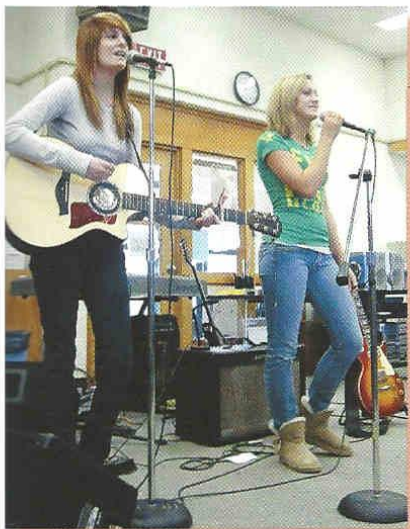

"Ever since fifth grade, I looked to poetry as a creative outlet. It's a great way for me to get my thoughts off my mind and onto paper. I like to think of where I'll be in five years when I can write lyrics and put a melody to it."

>>After messing up a couple times, senior Brandon Rolko pushes through and performs a poem he wrote titled "The Almost" at the fall poetry slam.

"For me, writing is essential -- much like eating and drinking -- a means of expression, communication, even purging. For almost every important occasion, some kind of writing plays a crucial role. I believe we were created to be creators. To write is to be human."

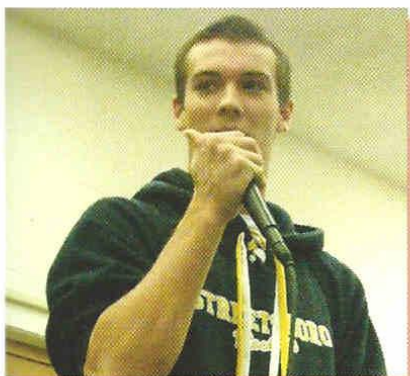

>>Songwriting teacher Jim Boardwine gives singer and songwriter Amy Kuney an applause at the Lipstick and Guitar Licks concert.

>>Doing a cover of "Just Dance" at the poetry slam are seniors Sarah Henderson and Cailey Schwind.

>>Covering the song "Ice Ice Baby" by Vanilla Ice during the poetry slam is senior Alec Rizzo.

>>After competeing in the Tri-C Rock Off semi finals and then finals, sophomore Maddie Finn, seniors Brian Poston and Justin Packwood, and senior Kyle Tresch, from Cloverleaf High School in Medina, won the competition.

3 keys to success

1 Connect emotionally with your song:

"Whether the song is well arranged or not, you have to feel it with soul. Even the best song won't 'wow' an audience without passion behind the players. Play what you feel and disregard what's 'right' to others."

>>Senior Stefani Reeder

2 Hard work and a lot of practice:

"You need to have determination. In order to get what you want, you have to work for it and in the end, you just might end up getting what you've reached for. Practicing is the only way to reach your goals."

>>Senior Billy Beiger

3 Be true to your creative style:

"You should not compromise your sound for anyone. If your artistic statement is just screaming for vocals, then that's what it is. You have to know why you're doing it and then stay true to that no matter what."

>>Sophomore Maddie Finn

What's in it: Books, notebooks, i-pod, clothes, phone.

History: "I got it from Dick's for basketball and to carry stuff. It's just easier." He has not gotten in trouble for carrying his bag, but was once yelled at for having it.

Inside the trend...

The boys of Streetsboro have all begun to wear "murses." Senior Brandon Rolko thinks it's only fair that boys should be able to wear their bags, if girls can carry huge purses. "Women get to use the right that they have 'personal needs.' Well, I'm a man and I have personal needs myself."

Hot Spots

Dunkin' Donuts

The famous hot spot for coffees and donuts of all sorts. The perfect place for morning rejuvenation and a sugar coma.

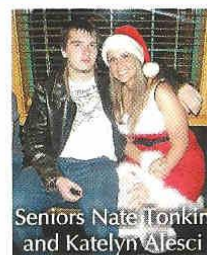

"Iced coffee is my energizer bunny," said junior Matt Fronek. He goes twice a week to buy a glazed donut and enjoy an iced coffee.

Seniors Katylyn Kuchta and Sarah Henderson

Applebees

After basketball and football games, the fans and players would always head to "The Bees" for re-fueling grub. "I ordered the chicken tenders and fries every time," said freshman Caitlin Davidson. Her favorite memory was trying to fit 10 people into a small booth.

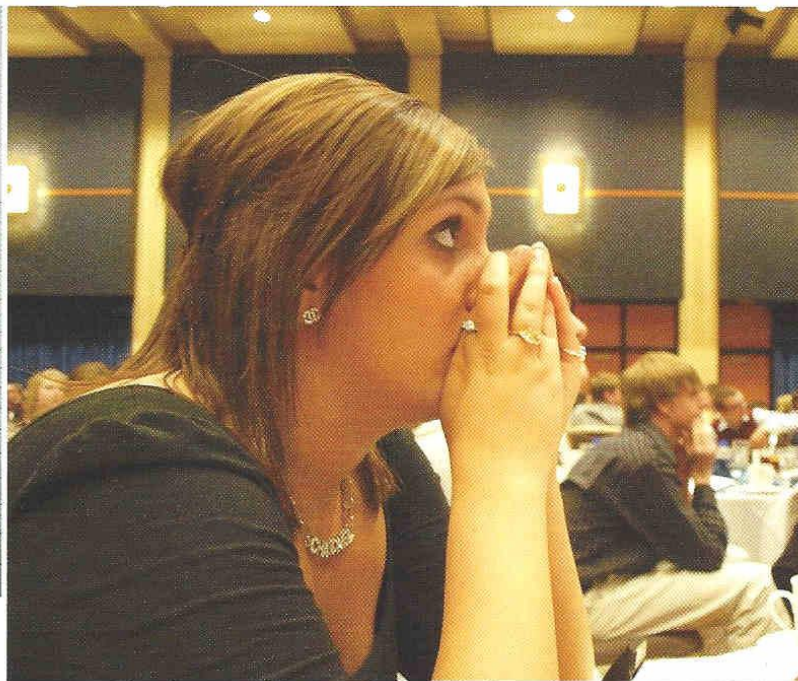

Seniors Nate Tonkin and Katelyn Alesci

Movie Theater

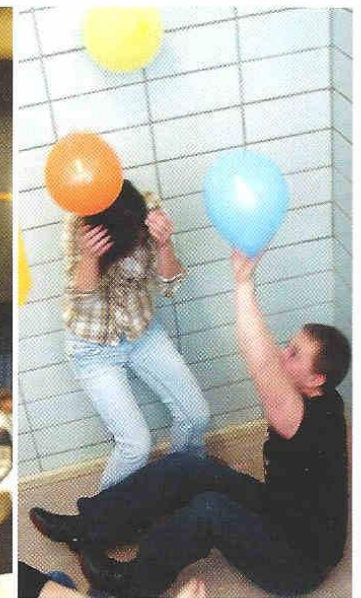

There may not be much to do in Streetsboro, but the Aurora movie theater is only about 10 minutes away. It's the perfect place to catch up on the latest movies. "I usually go with my mom and dad about two times every three months," said junior Nate Mountain. He recalls that his favorite movie was "Stepbrothers" because it "was funny."

673 attended graduation

Making sure Sam Reese looks perfect for the ceremony is Brandon Rolko.

Tyler Harris returns to his seat after walking across the stage to receive his diploma.

Hanging out with some friends before the ceremony are the Clark twins.

Pensive as he stands waiting for the rest of his classmates to return to the row so they can all be seated together is Corey Blondeaux.

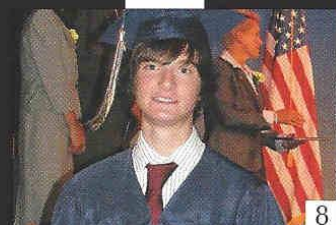

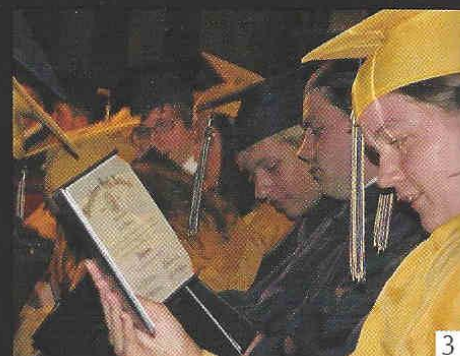

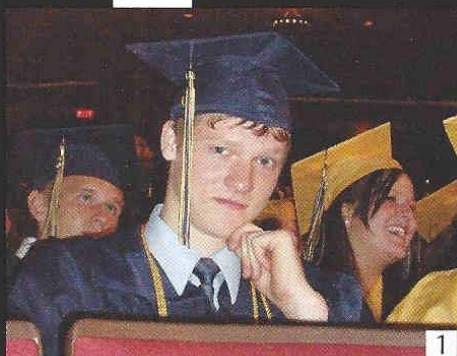

Struggling with his tassel as he walks across the stage is Michael Fruscella.

Shawnee Justus and Megan Humphrey relax before lining up in the balcony.

Michael Ross, assisted by teacher Bev Nissel, receives a standing ovation from his classmates as he heads across the stage to receive his diploma.

Sam Easley tells junior Cody White, senior class president-elect, he is doing a good job helping grads down the steps.

Alyssa Savel and Gaby Ryczek are excited to have received their diplomas.

1 Greg Coffee waits for the next speaker to reach the podium, as Shawn Flaitz and Dana Folan look on behind him.

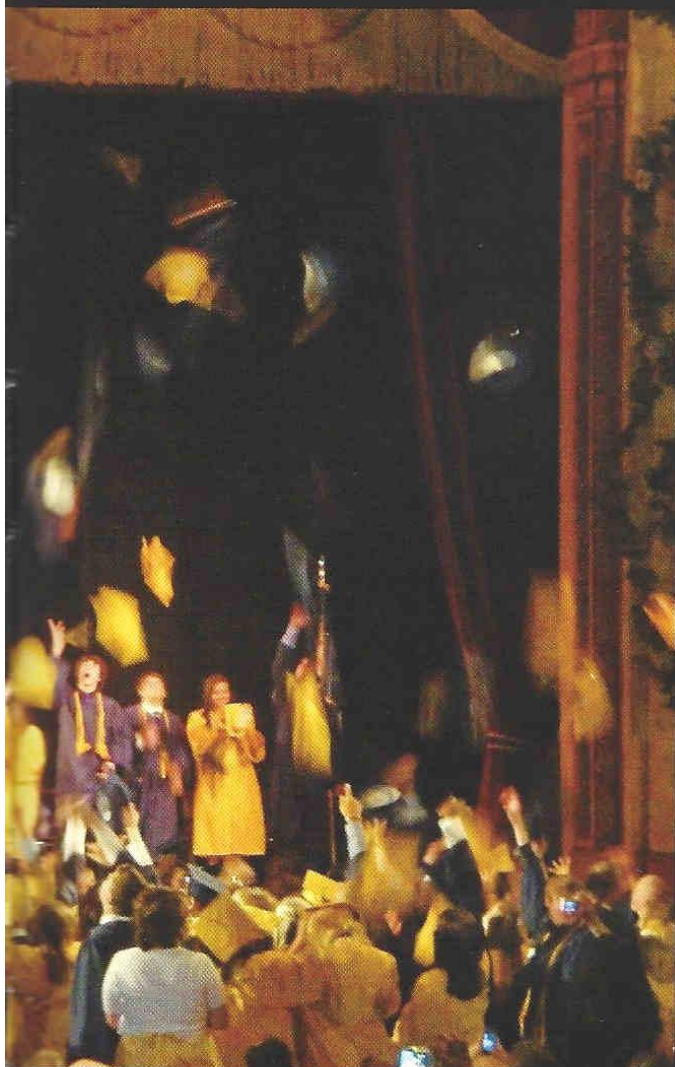

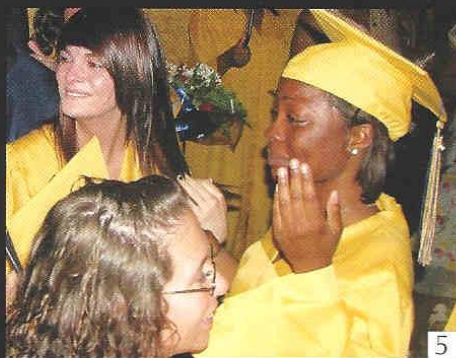

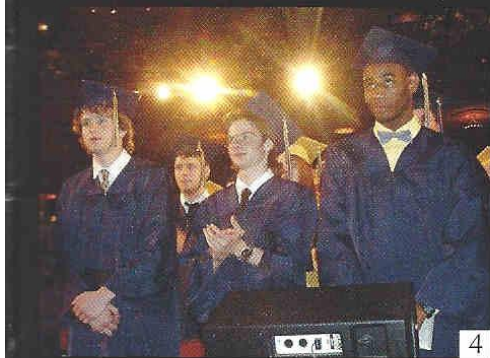

2 After walking into the theatre, the top five students of the Class of 2010 watch from the stage as classmates take their seats in the front rows.

3 Admiring their newly-received diplomas are graduates Patricia Henderson, Tyler Harris, Matt Hanish and other classmates.

4 Moments after the turning of the tassels, Corey Blondeaux, Jon Bores and Malcolm Brooks (and Reed Davis behind them) prepare to sing the alma mater.

5 Sarah Henderson tells Tanisha Hill through laughter and tears, "I didn't think I would cry!" as Alyssa Savel passes by.

6 Receiving a standing ovation and cheers from the crowd is Zach Roberts, doing the Worm across stage before accepting his diploma.

No one can ever tell how their future is going to pan out, but I'm going to work hard to help people to fulfill my dreams because you have to work hard but also enjoy yourself."

Tanisha Hill

"I will miss all the times I laughed so hard I cried. It seemed like I was always laughing at someone or something."

Dani Radic

"[I feel] kinda like I've been running through a meadow chasing after a butterfly for four years and I'm finally catching it."

Taylor Landgraf

"I'm scared. It's always scary to close a door before knowing what's on the other side. But I am excited for my future."

Shawnee Justus

"For a while I was so anxious and couldn't wait to get it over with. But after prom, I realized I'm not quite done yet and I want more time."

Katie Schlegel

7 Full of excitement, Heather Werner makes her way down the stairs to return to her seat after receiving her diploma.

8 Graduate Nick Schmitt walks down the stairs to return to his seat after finally walking across the stage to receive his diploma.

9 With a look of shock, Kelly Jagusch returns to her seat after accepting her diploma.

10 Being guided down the stairs by junior Cody White after receiving her diploma is Megan Kopcak.

11 Patiently waiting while their classmates file into the theatre are Brad Heeter, Kyle Dolovacky and Tyler Harris.

12 Smiling through her tears and trying to wipe them away as she talks with some friends after the ceremony is April McClure.

Noun: Those moments we will never forget

"When the whole class just didn't do the project for Miss Lucia over Thanksgiving break and she didn't even care."

-Junior John Sulik

"Going to all the games because it's really fun to hang out with everyone."

-Sophomore Tiffany Burton

"The senior campout because it was nice to see all the seniors there having fun...It was a nice end."

-Senior Sarah Gause

"Homecoming-- the music was popping, non-stop dancing... and I loved the beads. I still have mine."

-Freshman
Naasira Stafford

"When Zach [Roberts], Alex [Westerh], Ryan [MacMillan] and I painted our bodies for the homecoming football game, and then it ended up being pretty cold. After the game we went to Rockne's and paint was flaking off all over. Then I spent like a hour having to scrub it off."

-Senior Brett Nola

"Cheer camp -- especially the stinkbombs and rapping."

-Junior Brittany Johnson

"Having a good sports season in all my sports."

-Sophomore Tyler Dixon

What was yours?

"Dressing varsity as a freshman for football."
-Freshman Nick Belsito

"Finally going to prom with Gregory. He's perfect and it's a night I'll never forget."
-Junior Courtney Sackett

"When the freshman cheerleaders got to cheer with varsity at the homecoming game. It was pretty cool getting my hair done...and experiencing that moment out on the field cheering in front of all those people"
-Freshman Ariana Iorillo

"Definitely the campout and hanging out with people I wouldn't normally hang out with for an entire night was awesome."
-Senior Alyssa Nichols

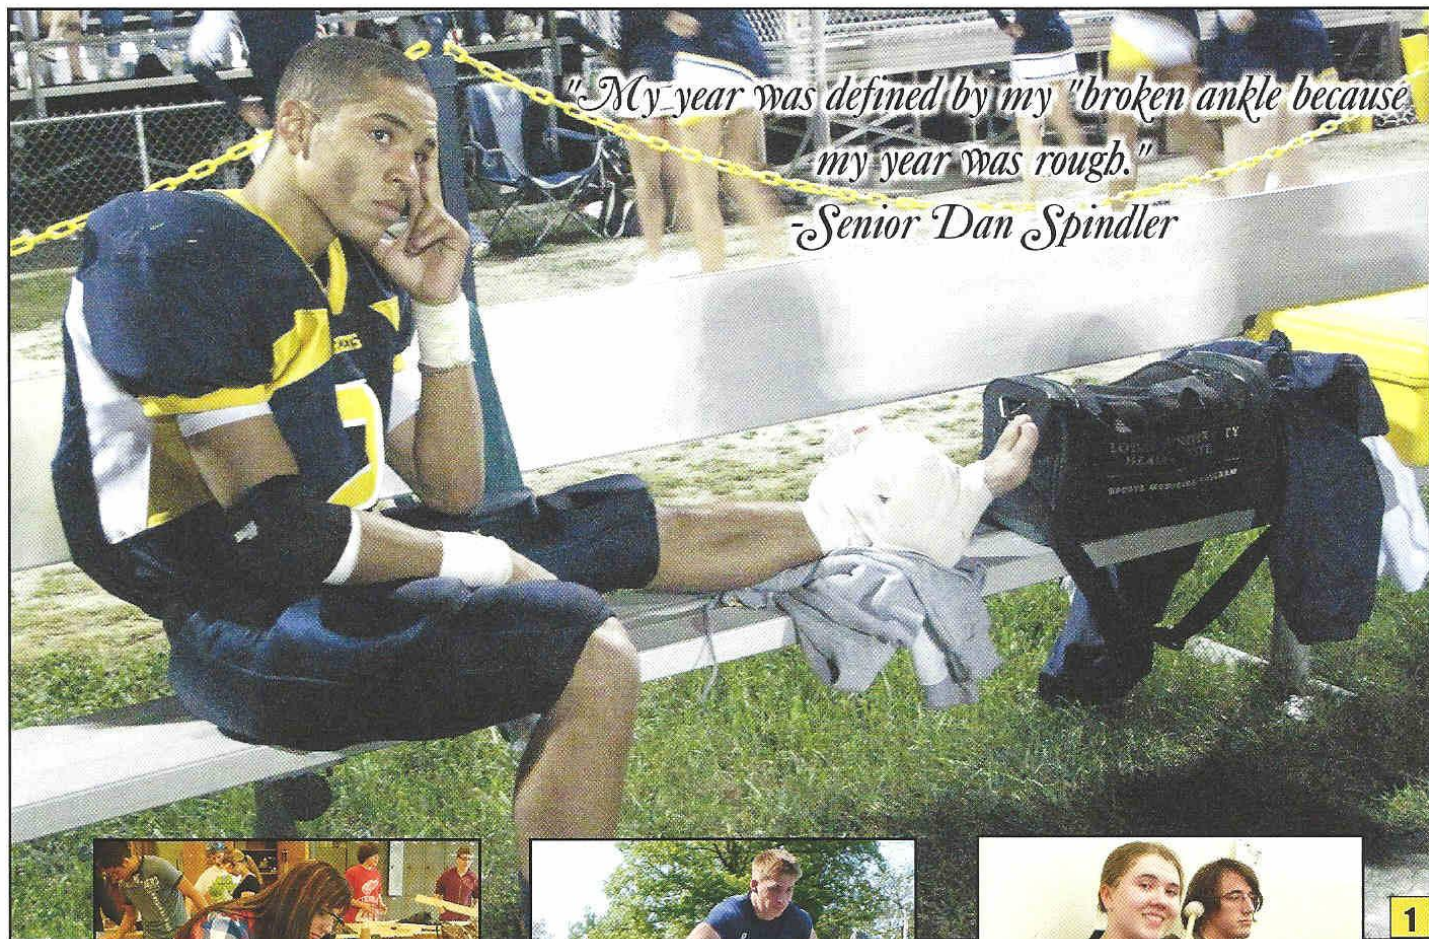

"Leading the Rocket Rowdies during home basketball games."
-Junior Cody White

"One of my highlights was OGT week when Featherstun let me take his sick Jeep to lunch, and it was amazing."
-Senior Jared Owen

"Shopping online all the time in advanced desktop."
-Sophomore Hali Crouso

"The the thing that defined my year was track. It was fun listening to Jeff Dowdall, Ray Nevels and Sean Levert freestyle on the way back on the bus rides."
-Junior Craig Hoover

The year was defined by "... all the cool new people I met and the classes. There is so much more to do in high school than middle school."
-Freshman Jacob Reynolds

"My year was defined by my 'broken ankle because my year was rough.'"
-Senior Dan Spindler

Define Your Year

- 1. Watching his teammates finish out his last homecoming game on Friday, September 24th, after breaking his ankle is senior Dan Spindler.
- 2. Concentrating on perfectly sanding her bench in tech-ed is freshman Arianna Iorillo. 3. Trying his best to not hit the hurdles in the 100 at Mogadore is junior Craig Hoover. 4. Freshman Allison Gunnoe tries to entertain herself by twirling her drum stick while hanging out in the band room with her boyfriend, senior Brandon Diener.

"My year was defined by the school dances. Whether it was homecoming, or at a party at Taylor Landgraf's, it seemed every one of those nights defined this year: laid-back, fun and everyone was there to experience it with me."

-Senior Cam Gomula

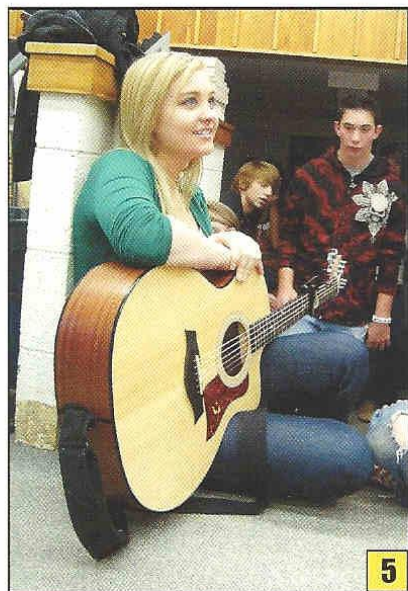

"The 'lasts': The last football game with all the boys in tears, holding hands on the field; the last basketball and volleyball games; the last school dance. All of it just reminds me to cherish the moment because I will never get these days back."

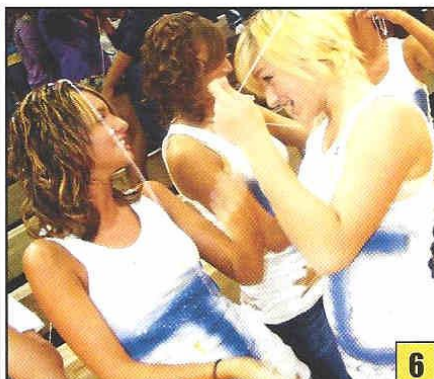

-Senior Toni Tylicki

"This year has been a blast. From spending it with my big sis to spending it with my boyfriend Kyle, I have had so many amazing memories throughout this year. Some of the memories I could never forget."
-Junior Peyton Flanders

"It sorta sucked because upperclassmen have more privileges. A lot of people changed from middle school to high school. Some kinda disown you for other people, and personalities change."
-Freshman Kenneth Franchino

You never cease to amaze us. You touch the lives of all those that you meet. You have aspired to achieve from the moment you could walk and talk. Continue to always hold your head high and be proud of who you are. You have become a beautiful, confident young lady with strong morals and values. You are such a blessing and have brought joy to our lives.

Even when it hasn't been easy, you have faced adversity & overcome obstacles to get where you are today. Remember that it is through our struggles that we grow & become who we are.

It's time to begin a new chapter, put one foot in front of the other as you continue on this journey called "life." Embrace change and experience all the opportunities that you can. Continue to let God be your guide. Know this for sure, our love is forever and will never change. If you ever need a soft, safe place to land, just know we will always be right here.

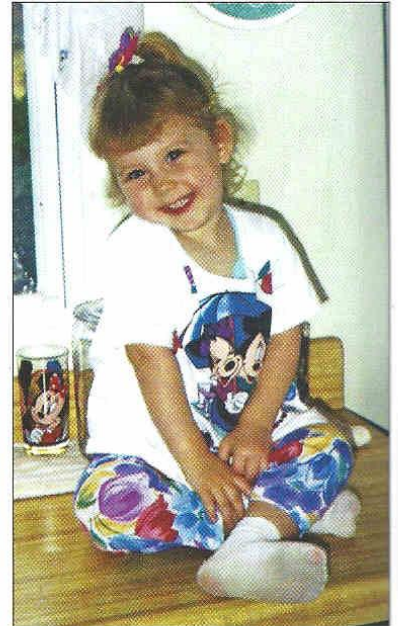

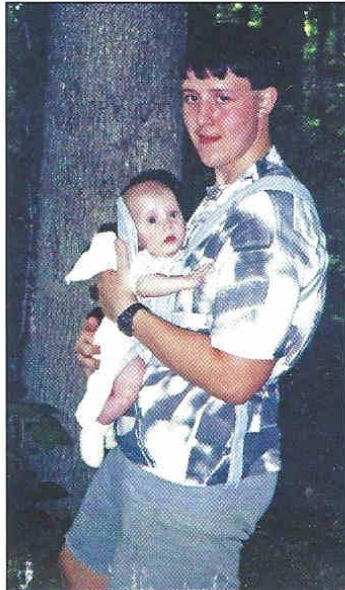

Love Always,
Mom, Dad, and Jim

★ Here's to the {night}

Noun: An attempt to start a tradition by camping out on the school's front lawn; learning more about each other and developing a bond; wishing you would have opened up sooner. Although glad to leave high school, moments like these will be the ones remembered.

Seniors get together on their campout night, May 20, after games such as boys vs. girls hide and seek.

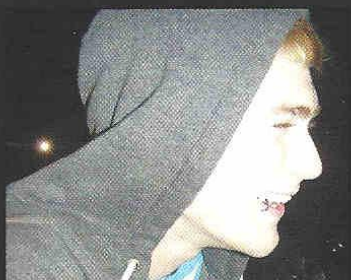

Lining up down the parking lot while holding hands, seniors wait to be traced with chalk.

Standing together after walking down the sidewalk singing Backstreet Boys are Craig Donovan, Mario Valenti and Nick Wiseman.

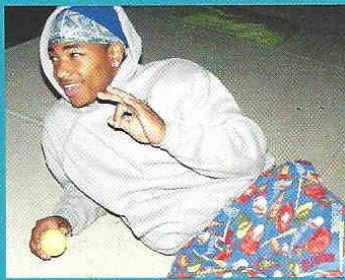

Trying to warm up on the chilly campout night, singing along to Colbie Caillat's "Realize" and a few country songs, are seniors Tiffany Dalton and Cheyenne Frederick.

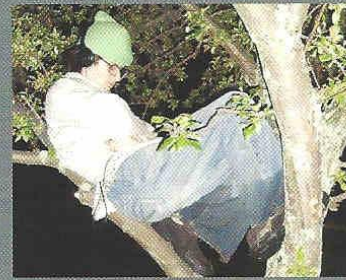

Never Have I Ever...

"All of my favorite Never Have I Ever's are not school appropriate. We learned a lot about each other through this game. I never would have expected some answers."
-- Brandon Rolko

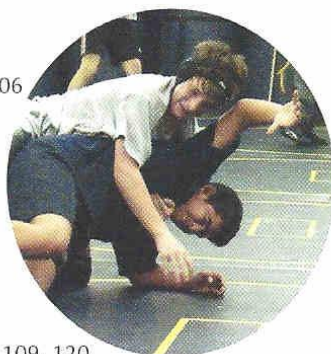

From senior John Bores to classmate Jay Lugo:
"Never have I ever worn sports pajamas in public!"

To take away a finger for John Bores, Jay Lugo said:
"Never have I ever slept in a tree!"

A summary of this school year would be incomplete without mentioning the fire that broke out in the school's gymnasium on Tuesday, June 2.

Due to damages and structural concerns, school was cancelled the following day. Open exams were then given June 4 and 5 at nearby St. Joan of Arc Church.

As of press time (June 8), the fire -- thought to have been electrical, but still under investigation -- is said to have caused an estimated $2 million in damage.

Production of this book, (thankfully via an online program), nears its end exactly one week after the fire. Due to very limited access to the school building, it was the communication via (sometimes desperate!) phone calls, e-mails, and facebook and text messages that wrapped up the project. Thanks is most especially due to the following girls, who kindly gave of their time when it counted most: Shay Colescott and Lauren Groff (who designed and edited well beyond their graduation!) and Courtney Sackett, proofreader and indexer extraordinaire!
