Memories are the key, not only to the past, but also to the future. Reminiscing about the times that have weighed us down, and the times that have lifted our spirits, we have stuck together through the good and bad. We move on as a student body knowing the memories of '14-'15 will remain with us forever.

As summer break ends, and the leaves and temperatures start to fall, country concerts, mission trips and camps all fade into memories. The '14-'15 school year begins with a new head principal, Jamie Hogue, and assistant principal, Vince Suber, who are now allowing girls to wear yoga pants. Friday night excitement surrounds the Crucial Catch game, also the Fox 8 Game of the Week, against Kent. Senior Philip Lago is the first Rocket golfer to advance to the state tournament in Columbus, as the team finishes 14-5 overall. Girls soccer blasts off with its best-ever record, 8-5-3, locking its position in the record books. Streetsboro Theater receives rave reviews for its fall show at the Macklin Center. While the Ebola virus breaks out around the country, then hits close to home in Akron, students and staff strive to stay informed and healthy. In the midst of these changes and events, SHS unlocks new memories and keeps hold of its traditions.

Chilling trend breaks into warm fall

SHS makes tasty splash into a new year

As a refreshing start to the 2014 school year, students and staff participated in the ALS Ice Bucket Challenge. During the first school meeting August 29, students dumped ice on staff members' heads. Staff also donated money to the ALS organization to help raise awareness for amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, better known as Lou Gehrig's disease. Rocket Rowdies ended the school meeting by leading the traditional roller coaster. The second school meeting involved a cheerleading fundraiser in which teachers were pied in the face. Students bought tickets for the chance to shove the pies. At the end of this meeting, Rocket Rowdies adviser Brittany Kidd taught the student body a new cheer, The Rowdie Wobble.

Been there, rocked that Practicing music and charts was almost a daily occurrence since July for the marching Rockets, including senior Lilly James, who sways her arms to the beat of "The Horse." The band had two different shows under its belt by the end of the season. Their first show featured "Pompeii," "My Songs" and "Get Lucky;" in the second one, they played "I Don't Wanna Stop," "Bully" and "Unbelievable." Changes this season included the new auxiliary coach, Rachel Lenk, and leadership of drum major Quintin O'Boyle, a senior, and assistant drum major, Faith Carey, a junior.

Seniors take over sidelines

Varsity gets on Coach Ogden's nerves, one game at a time

Q SENIORS
2015

What is your most memorable cheer moment?

"When Maddie attempted to do a kick at the Woodridge game and she fell flat on her face. Everyone was laughing for at least 10 minutes!"

- Senior Bethany Gency

"My favorite moment was the West Branch game my sophomore year, because we got to bond with the other cheerleaders and band and we had a really good time."

- Senior Kailee Kowalski

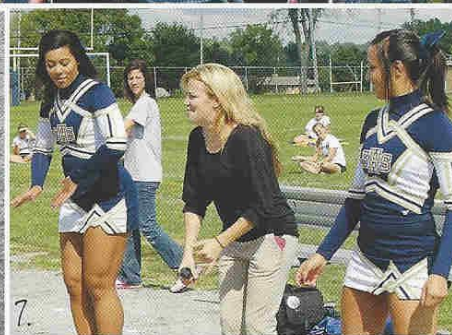

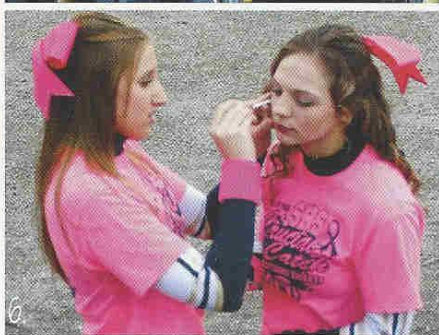

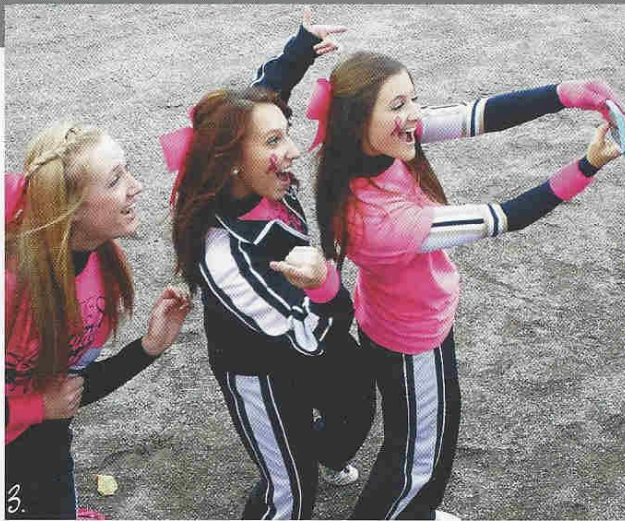

"My eighth grade year...bus rides with Miss Jurkovic. Shania, Beth, and I were the troublemakers and there are too many inside jokes to name!"

- Senior Brooke Bolyard

"I will always remember my freshman year, cheering with Varsity at the homecoming game. I looked up to those girls and it made me feel like I was one of them."

- Senior Shania Williams

3. SNAPPING a selfie before the October 17 Crucial Catch game against Kent are junior Lindsay Washinski, sophomore Nicole Tacsar and junior Jenna Oravec. "Being on Varsity allowed me to meet a lot of upperclassmen," Tacsar said. "I'm looking forward to being on JV [basketball] season because I get to bond with people in my age group. With football season, I got to bond with the older girls; I had the best of both worlds."

4. SENIOR Kailee Kowalski gets a hug from sophomore Raquel Davis on Senior Night, October 31. "I was really sad on Senior Night with Kailee because we've become really close this year, and I don't want to see her leave, especially because she's going off to college," Davis said. "She kind of took me under her wing and it was nice having someone like that around."

Q

What was the highlight of the season for you?

A

"Definitely beating Kent. It's the first time a Streetsboro team has beaten them, and is the last time we will play them, so it was a very special win for us!"

- Junior Avery Van Reeth

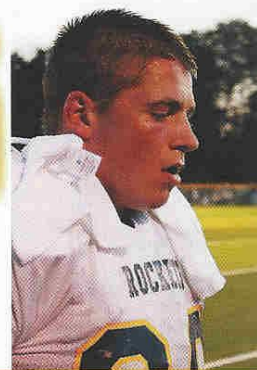

"The Homecoming game and the weekend around it. Friday was my birthday and it started off fun with the senior breakfast. Then we won the game and I had fun at the dance on Saturday."

- Senior Dylan Keba

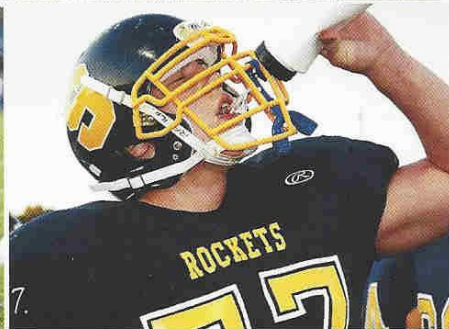

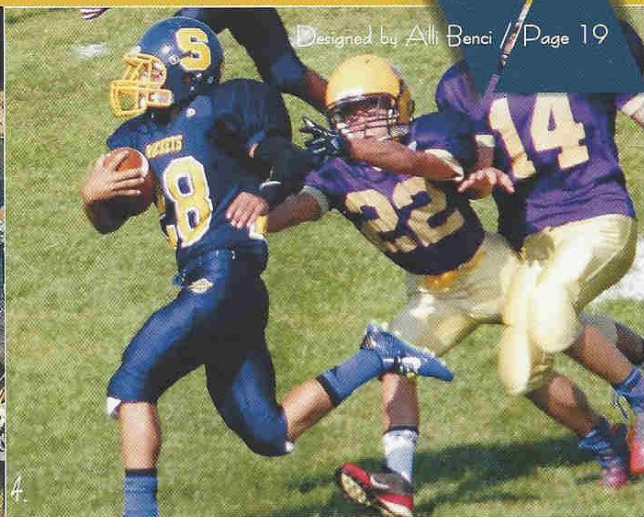

"I don't have one specific highlight but this was the funnest and the most exciting season in my eight years of playing football. I can honestly say I enjoyed every second of it."

- Junior Johnathan Williams

"Going to Grove City for three-days, which helped us become closer as brothers, was the highlight of my season."

- Senior Titus Fredd

3. REVELLING in their last home game are seniors Nick Morris, Dylan Keba, Dante Tamburro, Titus Fredd and Josh Reyes. "The most memorable moment for me would be all the 'bro nights' we have had and all the stuff we did at them," Morris said. "I'll never forget that I love these guys."

4. FRESHMAN Russell Kendall runs past Champion during the August 30 JV game. Kendall broke this tackle and scored a touchdown early on in the game. "Football is my life," Kendall said. "I love playing during Friday nights and hearing my name being announced for a block or a run. It's baller when the Rocket Rowdies chant, 'He's a freshman'."

5. SENIOR Thomas Benson and the Rocket starting line face the Champion Golden Flashes at the home opener. "I know I'm part of the closest group of guys on the field," Benson said. "I'll stay by their side through anything."

- Senior Tyler Garman

"The team was like my family, and I loved my family."

- Freshman Bailey Deever

"Run fast and don't let anyone beat you."

- Senior Jake Gould

"Don't stop running until you're dead."

- Sophomore Jake Suttell

3. FRESHMAN Tommy Duncan competes to secure a spot in front of an opposing Woodridge runner. Duncan also ran cross country during middle school.

Breaks record for most wins in SHS golf history

Q

Describe your journey as an SHS golfer in one word:

"GRATEFUL: For having great friends along my side to do what we love."

-Senior Cody Johnson

"IRRITATING: I got worse as the season went on."

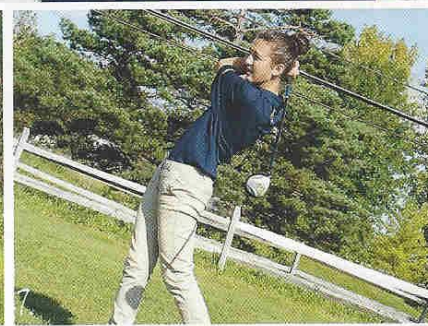

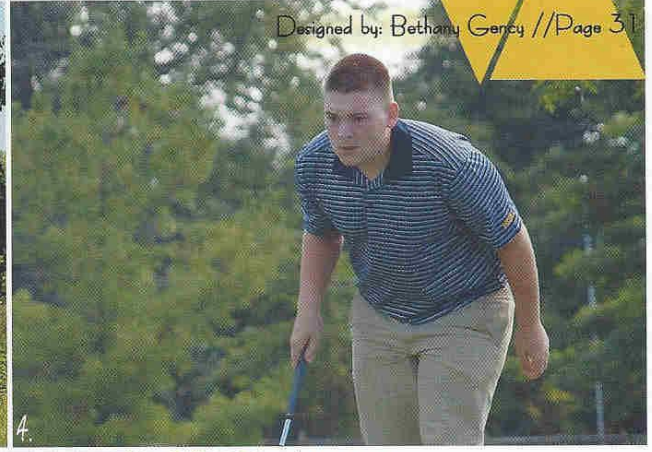

-Senior David Bilski

"SPECIAL: Not everyone has what we have, great friends and great memories together."

-Senior Evan Meisinger

"DETERMINATION: I started off bad but by the end of the season I ended up being pretty good."

-Senior Donald Prince

3. JUNIOR Ty Butler prepares to putt. "My absolute favorite memory from this season was going to states with Phil Lago, just because it was a big moment and it has never been done before," Butler said.

4. EYEING his putt is senior Brandon Miller. "My favorite part of golf are the bus rides, just because they're always entertaining," he said.

5. SENIOR Philip Lago takes a moment with coaches Timothy Foster and Bruce Thomas before states. "Golf is a very mental game and part of getting focused is to learn to forget about the last shot and move to the next," head coach Bruce Thomas said.

6. TEEING off is sophomore Jon Sowell, who said he decided to play last year, "because I really had nothing else to do and my dad golfs."

7. FRESHMAN Madison Danna casts during a match. "It's kind of weird being the only girl and the only freshman, but I get along with everyone very well," Danna said. "My goal is to be on Varsity next year."

8. FOCUSING on his next putt is senior Glen Butler. "I started golf my freshman year because I was real bored," Butler said. He described the beginning of his season as "god awful," but as time went on, he improved.

Halloween show takes new stage

1. PERFORMING in the fall play, "This Is Halloween," is junior Faith Carey. "I've been involved with the plays for three years and this was my favorite one yet, because I was the lead and it made it really fun," Carey said. "I was slightly nervous being the lead, but you can't see the audience, so it made me feel like I was the only one in the room, and that made it a lot easier."

2. JUNIOR Savannah Fitzgerald performs for her second year as a part of Streetsboro Theatre. "I really enjoyed both plays I've done, but 'Alice in Wonderland' was my favorite, because that was my first experience in theatre," she said.

3. SENIOR Emily Fernandez performs alongside sophomore Joe Beaver. "I've been in theatre for four years, so I wasn't nervous," Fernandez said. "It was as if I was having a simple conversation with Joe."

Saying Hello to Alumni

Aside from performing in Streetsboro's newly-opened Macklin Event Center instead of on the high school stage, "This Is Halloween" also involved more community members and alumni than any show before it. Director Jim Boardwine said, "With people returning, like (2014 grads) Zack Madden and Jake Edgerton, it made the play more entertaining, but also was like a pay-it-forward for Jake and Zack to teach the younger actors what they have learned over the years."

NHS inducts 19 upperclassmen

1. RECEIVING a carnation from his girlfriend, Devon Klein, in the tradition of National Honor Society induction is senior Josh Reyes. Klein, also a senior, had been inducted into NHS the year before. "I hope it'll look good on a resume and show really good characteristics," Reyes said of his new affiliation with NHS.

2. JUNIOR Maddie Zupko has just received her induction carnation from senior Brionna Reynolds. "It felt like a lot of hard work payed off and I will never forget the induction ceremony," Zupko said.

3. SENIOR Lauren Swim captures a moment with junior Casey Bacon, who Swim has just inducted. "It's a huge honor to be chosen by the school to induct others, and it shows good leadership skills," she said.

4. SENIOR Quintin O'Boyle lights the service candle to begin the induction ceremony. "I inducted [junior] Faith Carey, and I think it's a great opportunity to bring in others to experience it too," O'Boyle said.

Presidential Privilege

Delivering the ceremonial speech as NHS president is senior Alex Hahn. "It was probably the most difficult performance I've ever had, including radio and plays," Hahn later recalled. "I felt like it was something that people would definitely remember, and was one of the defining moments of my high school career."

Homecoming

With homecoming scheduled for September, a week earlier than usual, student council gets busy planning right away. Spirit week features new dress-up themes, including Disney, Camo and USA days.

Senior Nick Morris and junior Jenna Oravec win "Most Spirited" honors for going all-out each day. Sophomores' hall wins, and juniors dominate the fence-decorating contest, with their creative takes on the "Dancing Through the Decades" theme. The homecoming pep rally features students shoving pies in the faces of their teachers and Principal Jamie Hogue. Cheerleading coach Jackie Ogden ran this activity as a fundraiser, and raffled off the chances to "pie" staff members for $1 each. With 80 minutes this year for the rallies, cheerleaders and administrators utilize the time to have the festivities both indoors and outdoors. The football team dominates the nominations for court, with each candidate a member of either the JV or Varsity squad. Capturing the titles are queen Taylor Tuma and king Prince Franklin.

1. SENIOR Nick Morris and junior Jenna Oravec are the lead characters from the movie, "Up," for Disney Day. The couple won the best dressed award for their participation the entire Homecoming Spirit Week.

2. DRESSED as Walt Disney on Disney Day is senior Phillip Lago, who said, "I googled images of Walt Disney to create the signature look."

3. SHOWING off her apparel on Camo Day is senior Lauren Swim. As a member of student council, Swim helped decide the spirit week themes. She later said this was her favorite day because "it was nice to see lots of people dressed up for it."

6. SENIOR Taylor Tuma is dressed as Sleeping Beauty on Disney Day. "Over the summer at cheer camp we had a Disney theme and so all the senior cheerleaders decided to be princesses," Tuma said. "We made our own tutus out of tulle and tank tops based off of what princess we were. I ended up being Sleeping Beauty because we wanted to do princesses that we had similar features with...I had the blonde hair and love the color pink!"

Athletic Hallway or Lovers' Lane?

"I chose to decorate the athletic hallway with 'Lovers Lane' because my athletic training room is in the midst of the hallway," explained athletic trainer Rachel Cummings. "It started last year when I would go into the hallway after the last bell of the school day and I would see the athletes kissing and holding hands with their significant others before having to get ready for practice. I started calling it Lovers Lane and wanted to do something fun this year to signify this hallway. It was more of a joke at first, but now most of the teachers and coaches know the hallway as 'Lovers Lane.'"

6. SENIORS Josh Reyes and Colin Lynde take a break from decorating their hallway. "The '60s theme was really colorful and fun to work with,"

Reyes said.

7. HELPING decorate the fence is junior Ethan Nichols. "They came to me and said '50s theme, and they thought 'guitar' but I thought 'drive-in sign and cars,'" Nichols said. The juniors locked in first place with Nichols' fence design.

The Royal Family

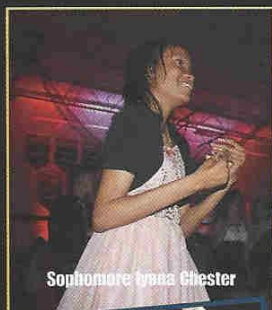

Following in her sister's footsteps of being crowned Homecoming queen is senior Taylor Tuma. "I was just glad to get on (court)," Tuma said. "Yeah, I was hoping I'd win, but I wouldn't have been upset or anything if Auliah or Lilly got it, because they deserved it, too. When I won I was shocked, because I didn't think I was going to get it. My mom and I looked at each other like 'Woah.' When I was going around, I was just so glad and thinking, 'This is so cool.' My sister was happy too; she was crying. It was neat, but sometimes I feel at Homecoming, everyone is a queen. It kind of makes you feel good."

Selfies: The future is here

Selfies have become a part of students' everyday lives. Taken constantly, they have evolved from actual, one-person selfies to big groups squeezing together, leading to the invention of the "selfie stick." Filters and emojis change the mood and outcome of photographs as well as text messages. Instagram and snapchat are a popular way to share images with friends, whether it's "liking" a picture or viewing someone's snapchat story. Since the Twitter update, users of the social media site have been tweeting videos to share funny moments, or adding on to the vine sensation of a remix of the "Little Einsteins" theme song. Superintendents -- including our own Mike Daulbaugh -- have even turned to Twitter to inform students about snow and cold days. Social media has come a long way from Myspace and Facebook, the original Twitter, which transitioned users from having "friends" to having "followers." During the evolution of social media sites, Time Hop has captured old pictures, tweets and posts to allow users to reminisce. Face-to-face communication has evolved as well, moving from skype to face-time. Face timing is a popular mode of communication between iPhone users. In the realm of phones, the competition between the iPhone and Galaxy is still existent, due to the annual phone releases. Technology advancements will continually unlock new adventures and opportunities for future generations.

A Tribute to Justice Buchanan

November 22, 1996 - December 18, 2010

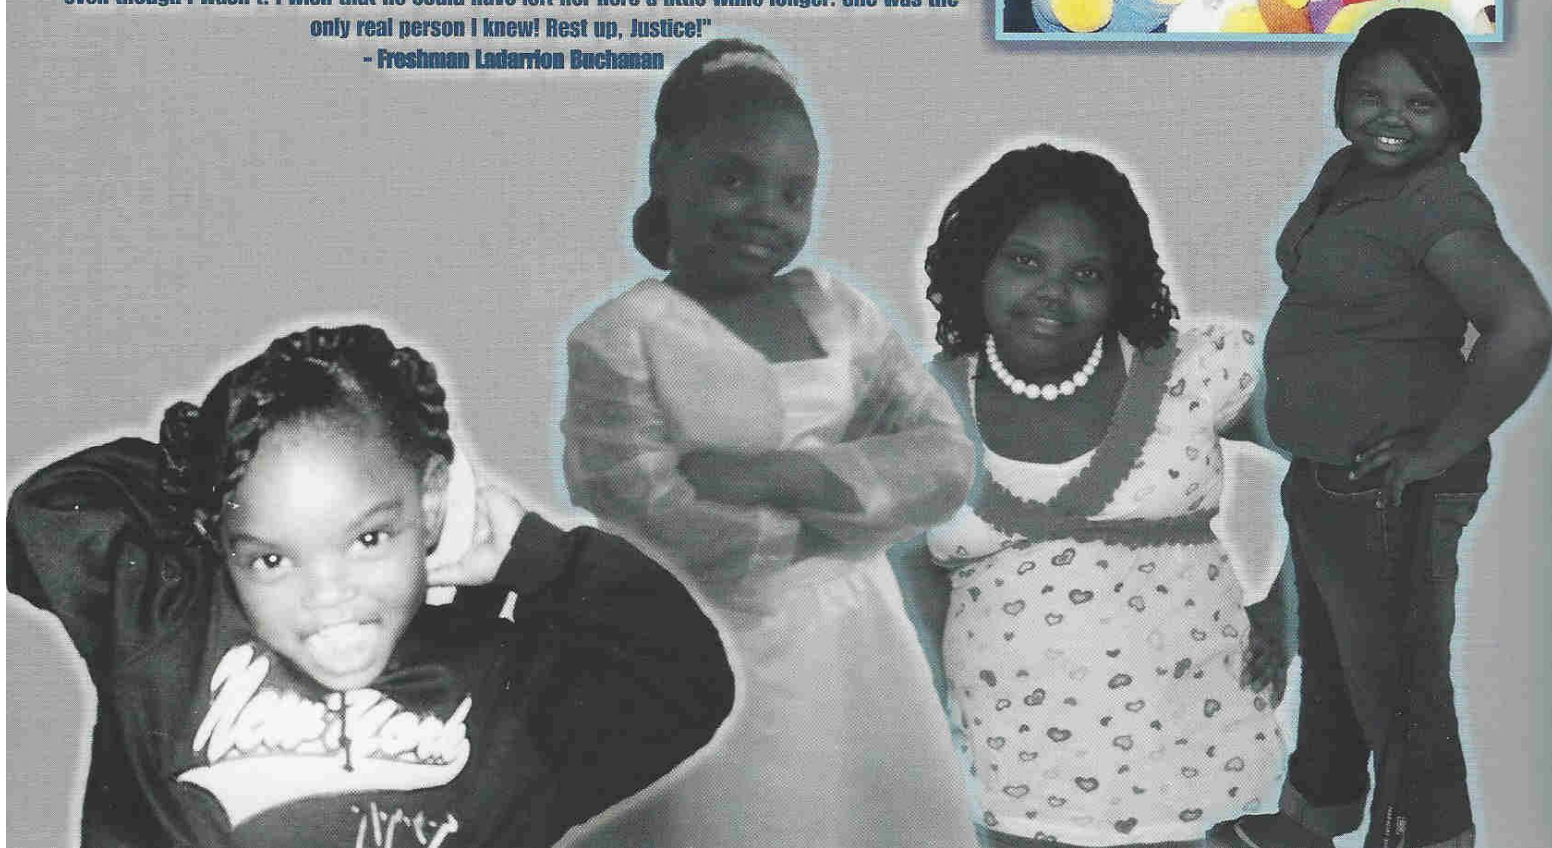

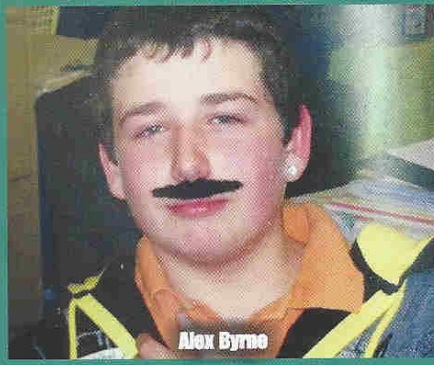

"Although I only spent 13 years with her, I wouldn't change a single thing. She was not only my cousin, but my best friend, from the moment I was born. Losing her was the hardest obstacle I've ever faced, but I still have a long life ahead of me, and I just hope I can make her proud. She made me strong, and for that, I am eternally grateful."

- Junior Dominique Buchanan

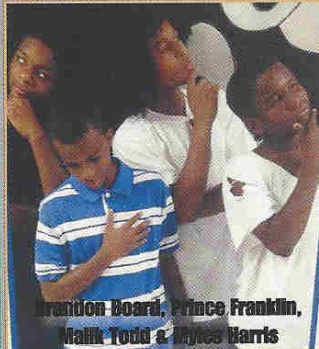

"Justice was a great sister! I hated that she had to go, but I know that God was ready for her, even though I wasn't! I wish that He could have left her here a little while longer. She was the only real person I knew! Rest up, Justice!"

"My favorite memory of senior year was when I was put on homecoming court, because it was just so surreal that I was put on court in the first place. In fact, my dad was cleared with no evidence of cancer that same day, so that was really cool. He also was able to walk me down the field instead of being wheeled in a wheelchair. I also enjoyed Maggie Sopcak (former auxiliary instructor). She was always so encouraging. I remember this letter she gave us before a game that I still have."

James plans to spend two years at Mesa Community College, then transfer to Arizona State to study non-profit organizations management.

"I have matured immensely. I have become friends with so many people, and have been exposed to a lot, and I'm really excited for what the future holds. I wasn't as nervous going into high school because my mom worked at the school, so I knew most of the teachers, but not the students. The main thing that high school has taught me, is that everyone has a story, and you have to be open to everyone else's side. You can't be on-sided. The reason people are who they are is because of something that has happened in their life."

Swim plans to major in pre-med, but has not yet decided on a college.

"One of my favorite memories was sophomore year around homecoming season, and I really didn't think I was going with anyone, but the person who asked me used the band to spell out, 'Ewelina will you go to homecoming with me?' It was just like something you would see in the movies, and no one could top that. I also remember last summer with my best friends when we took a trip to New Jersey and played in this huge soccer tournament. It was like a vacation but still playing the sport you started together...I'm definitely going to college, finally getting out of this small town. I want to become someone after high school and leave my mark."

"Sophomore year was probably my favorite year of high school. I feel like I grew as a person, and I wasn't noticed as much, so I could work on myself. I solidified friendships, and found a lot of my passions sophomore year." As he looks ahead to the future, Benson said, "I'm looking forward to having the freedom I didn't have in high school, and focus on what I want to do other than what others want me to do. I'm excited to mature, and I am ready for the opportunities that are presented in the future. My advice to a freshman would be: Don't ever change for anyone. If you ever end, you'll break, and won't be the person you expected to be. Let yourself develop before you can find someone else."

"Freshman year was my favorite year because it was fun and exciting," Maxwell said. "I really enjoyed all the plays because they were so well put together, and my best friend was there, so I could support her at the same time. I also enjoyed Honors English with Mr. Boardwine, because he made us all branch out, and take us out of our comfort zone...I will also remember NHS inductions my junior year, because that was the starting point of where all my hard work is starting to pay off. I'm looking forward to starting the next chapter in my life, but will not forget everything I've learned and experienced here."

"My favorite memory was freshman year during spring break when the band went to Disney World. Most of my friends were in band, and we became like a family. It was a great experience to share with those people. We didn't have chaperones, so we could make our own plans. When you are with those people, you are more comfortable doing things you wouldn't usually do. If you don't find those people your freshman year, then keep looking to find those friends. My advice to anyone would be: I know things change, but don't regret anything; they make you who you are. I don't regret anything I've done because [those things have] made me, me."

"I was a lot more nervous freshman year. I didn't know myself so I think I grew more as a person. I definitely feel dumber than I did freshman year...This year was probably my favorite year of high school. I am a lot happier, and am a lot more lax with my beliefs. I was nervous for the future earlier in the year, but after hanging with my friends that graduated last year, and it made me realize it will be different, but not something that is hard to adapt to. I plan to take a year off of school, and work and collect a cash cloud so I don't have to eat Ramen Noodles every night. After, I plan on going to Akron, and maybe major in theoretical physics, maybe not."

Reminiscing about the old, looking forward to the new

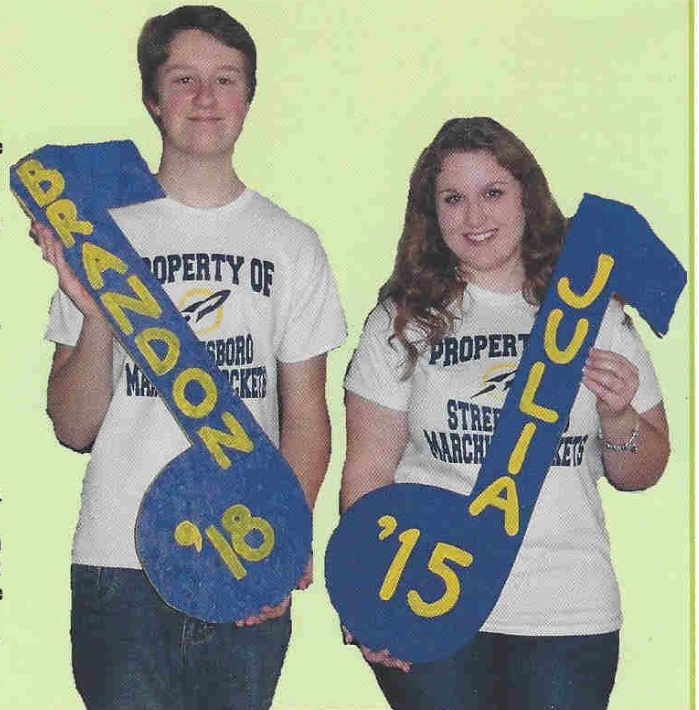

Trusniks

"MY favorite memory with my big brother," senior Destiny Trusnik said of Robert, who is a year older yet sharing her senior year, "is when we used to stay up late and watch movies all night." The Trusniks will graduate together this spring.

Sanders

MUSICAL siblings Robert and Julia Sanders got to play together in the marching band for the last time this season. Senior Julia Sanders said one of her favorite memories of the season with her freshman brother was, "One of the first couple days of school this year, when the weather was really nice, Brandon and I were listening to 96.5 on the way home when 'Fancy' by Iggy Azalea came on. We rolled all of the windows down, opened the sunroof and were yell-singing the song together and dancing in our seats. This moment perfectly describes our friendship and our connection as siblings, because we were just being weird, loud and the carefree best friends that we are. It has been really awesome to share my senior year with him."

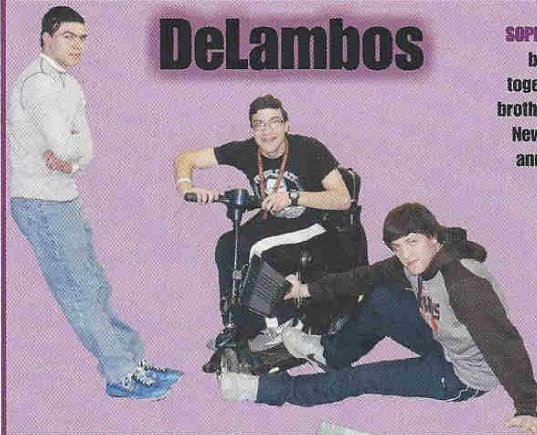

Kebas

JOKING through life are senior and sophomore brothers, Dylan and Nick Keba. "Being able to play alongside of him on the football field will always be my favorite memory with my brother," Dylan Keba said.

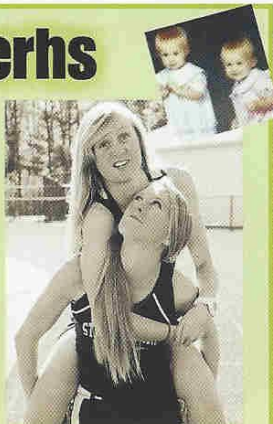

DeLambos

SOPHOMORE twins Mitchell and Bradley, along with senior brother Ricky DeLambo, continually have fun times together. Ricky DeLambo said a favorite memory with his brothers was, "When we went on vacation to Cooperstown, New York, for my brother's tournament, we got to trade and collect pins with all the other teams from all over. Then we got to go to the Baseball Hall of Fame."

Westerhs

IDENTICAL twins seniors Meghan and Maddie Westerh may look alike but have totally different personalities. "Our favorite memory together is when Madison and I switched classes, and switched identities for the day, and no one ever caught on," Meghan Westerh said.

Tumas

GETTING closer and funnier as they grow up are the Tumas siblings, sophomore Jared and senior Taylor, shown above with older sister Kayla. "Being able to cheer for him as he played football was one of my favorite memories," Taylor Tuma said. "Jared also got to announce my basketball games, which was nice, because we don't spend a lot of school time together except for sports."

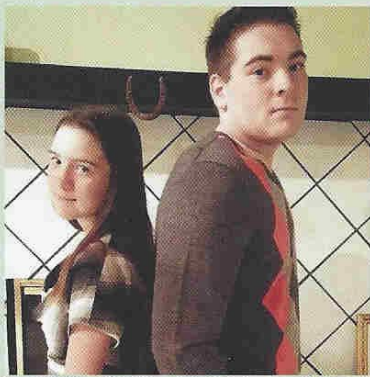

Kendalls

SENIOR Aullah Kendall recalls teasing her younger brother, sophomore Russell Kendall, by telling him he was adopted, although he is not. "Everyone would tell us that we look so much alike and I hated it," she said. "We were on the bus one day and I told him he was adopted and he started crying."

Millers

ENJOYING their time together are siblings Alexis and Brandon Miller, a freshman and a senior. "My favorite memory with my sister is when we'd go out to the boat when we were younger and we always would go inner-tubing and fishing out on Lake Erie," the older Miller said. "We always enjoyed our time that we spent together."

Hardens

Designed by: Alli Benci //Page 83

CLOSE siblings Jordan and Justis Harden, a junior and senior, have memories of playing dinosaurs together. "When we were little one of our favorite movies was 'Land Before Time'," Justis Harden explained, "so when we would get bored, we would make up games and we would get on our hands and knees and crawl around the house pretending that our parents were dinosaurs that were after us even though they paid us no attention."

Robles

WITH three years between them, senior Hannah and freshman Haley Roble maintain a funny and interesting relationship. Hannah Roble recalls one such memory: "We were in D.C. Me and my dad wanted to play a prank on Haley. She was in the shower, so we told her that we had to evacuate the hotel because of a fire alarm. She ran out crying, wrapped in a towel, asking why we weren't leaving."

Flemings

SIBLINGS Becca and Tyler Fleming have a confusing relationship. "We fight but he is my best friend," senior Becca Fleming said of her brother, a junior. The older Fleming recalls, "Family Days one summer, when we were younger, we went on the big yellow spinney ride. Ty didn't want to. When the guy put the chain around his waist, he peed himself. He had those pee pants on the whole ride. After the ride he came up to me and said 'I think I peed my pants.'"

Reynolds

TWINS Seth and Brionna Reynolds have attended separate schools as upperclassmen, as Seth attends Maplewood. Brionna Reynolds recalled an interesting memory with her twin that happened on their way to go see the new 'Harry Potter' movie when they were about 10. "My brother ate one too many honey buns," she said. "I was lucky enough to be sitting in front of him. He leans over the seat and throws up on my head. I then smelled like honey buns. My mom washed out my hair & we went to the store to buy new clothes. We then continued on to the movie theater."

Braynard & Simpkins

SENIOR Corrine Braynard and sophomore Cale Simpkins have a love-hate relationship. Braynard picks up Simpkins for school every morning. "One morning, no lights were on, so I walked in and he was still sleeping, so I left him there," Braynard said. Simpkins said, "My favorite memory is when my mom was making hamburgers and I said I wanted one while Corrine shouted '3!' from the back bedroom."

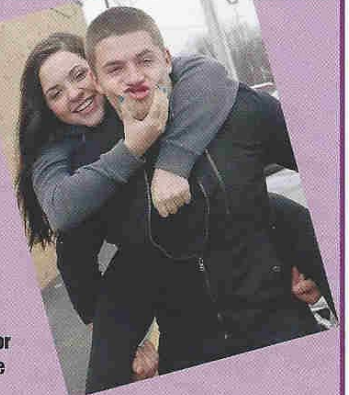

Galinsky & Rhodes

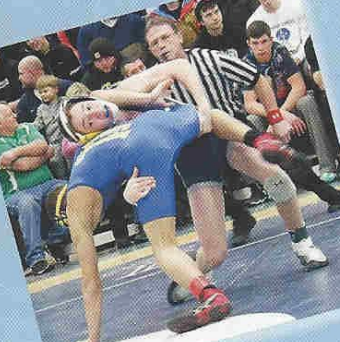

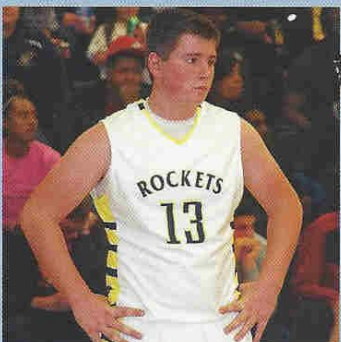

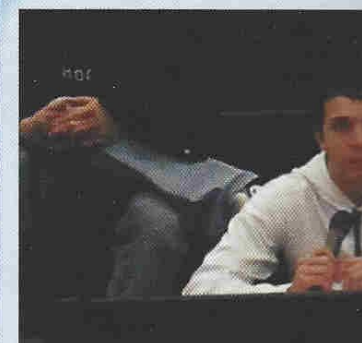

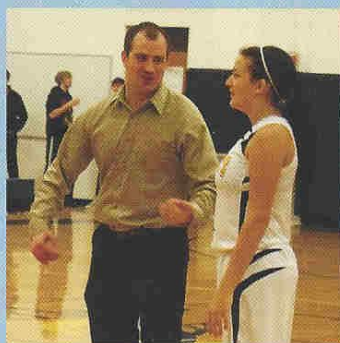

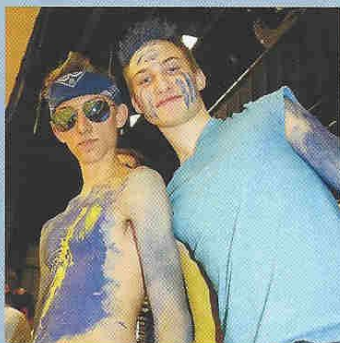

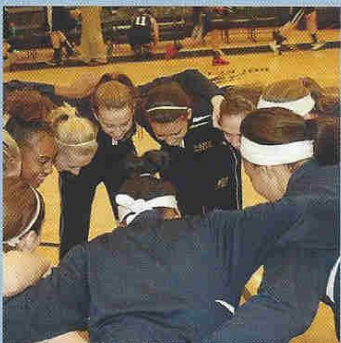

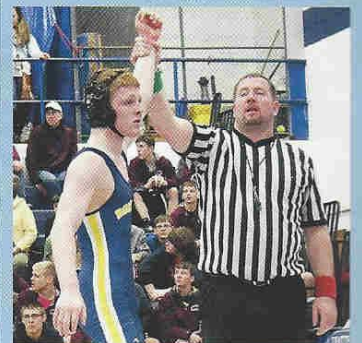

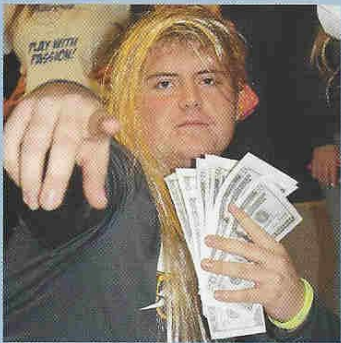

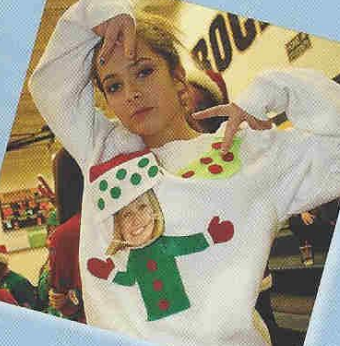

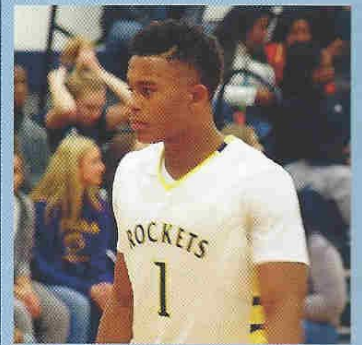

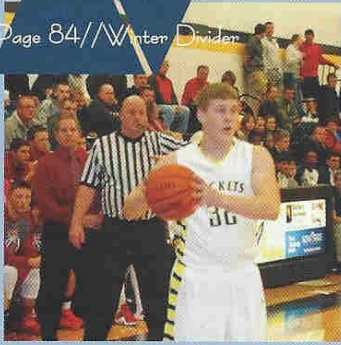

SENIOR Chase Galinsky has three younger siblings, two who attend SHS: freshman Hanna, junior Justin and sixth grader Matt Rhodes. "My favorite memory with my siblings would have to be when we went to Disney World," Galinsky said. "We stayed over spring break my freshman year. While we were there, we went to the beach and tried to catch the geckoes that were running around, and I'll never forget, I got yelled at by one of the workers for standing on something I wasn't supposed to."

Fredds

GOOFING around all the time are sophomore Lydia and her brother, senior Titus Fredd. "My favorite memory of me and Titus was when we used to get along," Lydia said. Titus agreed with her.

Early signs of the winter season came in a November snowstorm that left several inches of snow blanketing the area. With no powderpuff football game this month (due to field condition and lack of staff participation) students began to worry about the future of the tradition. Heading into December, the snow disappeared and did not return until after break, in January. Winter break ended up being longer than expected due to four snow days called during the scheduled week of return. After eight total calamity days, students were assigned three days worth of blizzard bag work. Despite it being one of the coldest winters on record, the basketball, wrestling and bowling teams did not let up. Senior Becca Fleming became Streetsboro's first district-qualifying bowler. Senior wrestler Tyler Rowland took fourth place at states, with senior Aaron Dantimo as an alternate. In basketball, senior Shania Williams broke the school record for career rebounds. Nearing the end of the winter season, the cold weather did not let up, leaving people wondering when spring would show up...

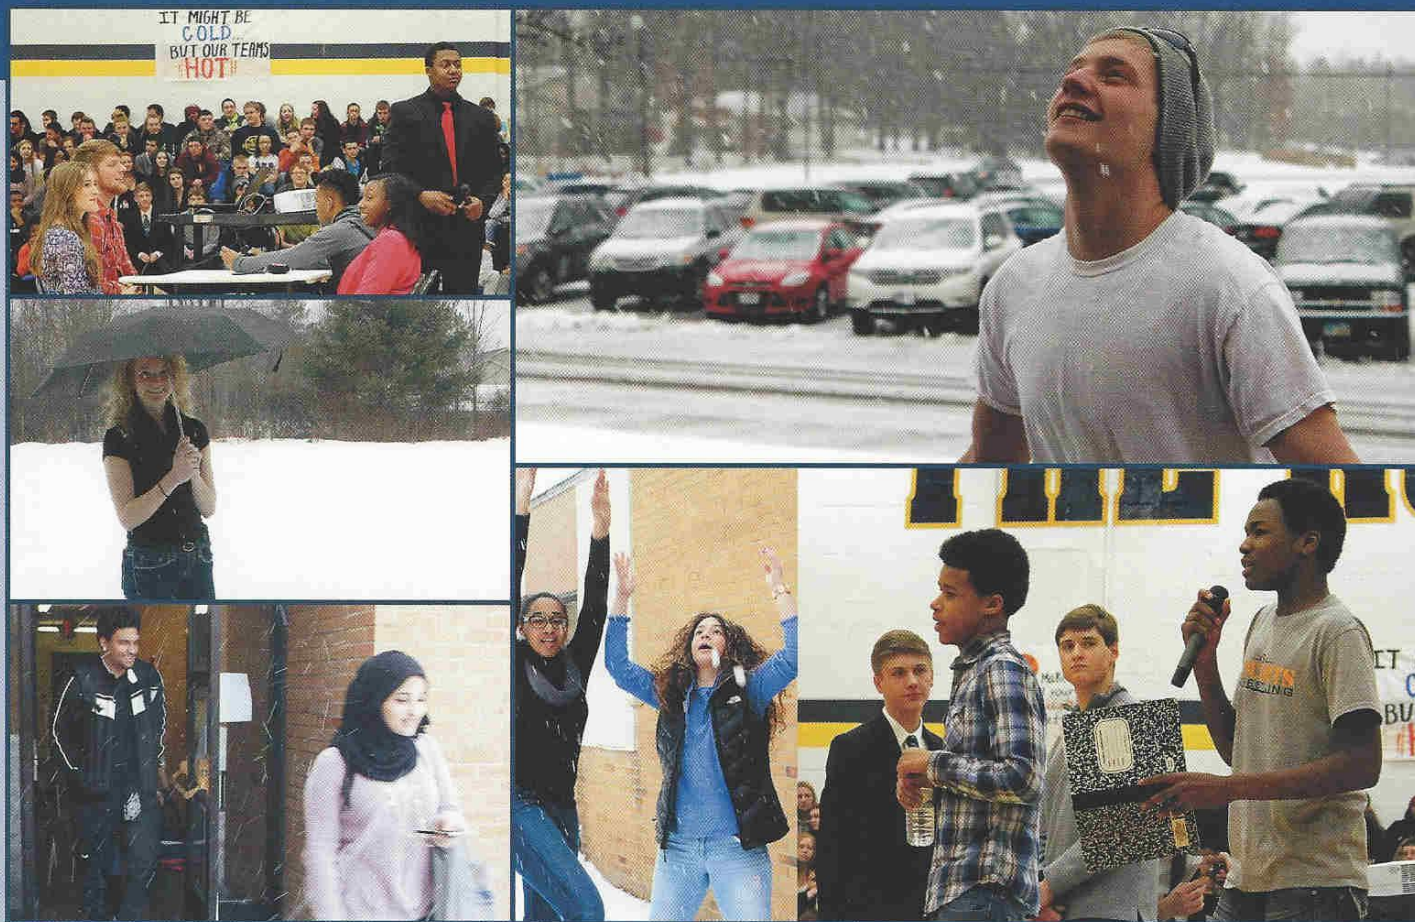

FIGHTING for a jump ball against Mogadore is Alison Targosky, while senior teammate Taylor Tuma waits for the possible tip her way. The Lady Rockets went on to beat the Wildcats 62-54 and improve their PTC record.

Winter frozen in time

Despite eight calamity days, school activities heat up

Snow & cold fire up winter spirit

Despite the cold outside, the Rocket Rowdies started out their winter sports season with warm, sunny thoughts via a luau night. The week before winter break, while cramming for exams, students and staff participated in a holiday spirit week highlighted by ugly sweaters and Christmas costumes. Later, Black History Month was celebrated during the January 29 school meeting, as students spoke and read poems, answered questions and played a trivia game. The February cold and snow were, at times, brutal on walks through the parking lot, to and from classes in the trailers and, for seniors, when going out for lunch. In March, controversy over the theme for boys' basketball senior night resulted in a "Blackout" the creation of the Streetsboro Savages.

"We love ya, we love ya, we love ya."

1. PARTICIPATING in the traditional roller coaster routine are the senior Rocket Rowdies. "I've gone to all the basketball games that didn't interfere with wrestling, even though the basketball players don't go to the wrestling meets, and I still love my team," senior Tyler Rowland (far left) said. "I really enjoy dressing up for the games because I can rock short shorts. I try and put my own spin on the themes since they're not what I would choose."

2. SENIOR Evan Meisinger cheers on the Rockets at the annual holiday game against Southeast December 16. The Rockets beat the Pirates 68-34. "I liked how everyone cheered on our basketball players," Meisinger said. "I go because I enjoy watching high school sports. My favorite memory was the giant blow-up shark someone brought to the Hawaiian game. It showed the effort we put into the different themes and the enthusiasm we put into cheering on our athletes."

3. SENIOR Makenzie Dombrowski holds down boyfriend Titus Fredd as he does his traditional dog act. "I did the dog thing my junior year because I was dared by Tyler Garman," Fredd said. "I stopped because less Rowdies were showing up, so it wasn't as fun. My favorite memory was painting my whole body and looking like an ape my junior year."

4. ANTICIPATING the next play are seniors Titus Fredd, Nick Morris, Tyler Garman and Dylan Keba. "This year was different because we finally got to be on the front line at every game and cheer on our team," Fredd said. "I will never forget Nick [Morris] getting thrown out of the game for waving his wand around. I like to go to games just to spread the team spirit and make the school more fun and interesting."

Rowdies go Savage

New themes cause controversy within group

5. REACTING to a play are members of the Rockets' student section. Rowdies President Thomas Benson (in pink) took on a lot of responsibility throughout the season. "It was a fun challenge and I embraced it fully," he said. "It was fun being part of the Rowdies and cheering on the boys all season! My favorite memory had to be when Jared [Tucker] hit the buzzer beater against Field."

6. TAKING a moment at half-time to show off their Hawaiian attire during the Rootstown game are senior Miranda Vasko, junior Lindsay Washinski and senior Rebecca Fleming. "I really enjoyed going to the game because it was one of the newer themes," Vasko said. "There were also a lot of people there, so we looked really cool all dressed up in our Hawaiian gear."

7. SENIOR Nick Morris signals to fans in the stands before a game. "I had a lot of fun getting ready with my friends, and traveling to away games with my friends," Morris said. "The most memorable moment of this season was when [Jared] Tucker hit the buzzer beater against Mogadore, and we all stormed the court."

Rowdies or Savages?

The planned theme for boys basketball's Senior Night was "Senior Citizens." After conflict arose, two students (Seniors Nick Morris and Dylan Keba) took the initiative to change the theme to "Black Out" and branch off into a group of their own. "We felt an easier theme would bring more students in, [and it did], for the seniors' sake," Keba said. From posting signs throughout the school, to manipulating morning announcements, the "Savages" took over the student section. The group made another appearance at the second-round playoff game against Tallmadge with their "Back in Black-Out" theme.

3. SHOWING OFF the starting five "fat heads" during their very last game at Tallmadge are junior Jenna Oravec and her senior squadmates. The "Streetsboro Savages" made the gigantic heads for the second-round playoff game against Tallmadge. The boys lost 33-55, which ended the Rocket basketball careers of all the seniors. "It finally hit me that it was all over, and I didn't realize this earlier in the season, that it was my last moment cheering," senior Maddie Rogowski later recalled. "It's sad to think about the squad going on without us."

After the record-breaking winter whose cold and snow seemed never-ending, spring finally appears. With the end of the school year approaching, seniors cling to the few months and memories left of high school. Held earlier than previous years, and in a different ballroom than before, the Gatsby-themed prom has students dancing until the floorboards break and the music ends. Also broken are hopes of the traditional powder puff game happening in spring, while new traditions take its place. Songwriting teacher Jim Boardwine revives the annual talent show, and a senior-themed assembly includes the senior-teacher basketball game and the first-ever college signing event. Both the baseball and softball teams have their best records yet and finish second in the PTC. Boys track and Coach Tom Fesemyer and his crew finish as runners-up in Division II, while numerous athletes look to take titles in Columbus. Graduation also features Susan Spurlock directing her last choir performance before retiring, and SHS also bids farewell to another retiree, attendance officer Pam Rumsey.

Year's end is bittersweet

Athletes spring into record-breaking seasons

Goodbye seniors, staff, coaches; hello new traditions, future

As the seniors prepare to head off to college, the military and work force, some of their teachers and coaches transition toward new opportunities as well. Allison Denisco and Rick Charlton resign from coaching girls' basketball and wrestling, respectively, for parenthood. Denisco's daughter, Jordan Audrey, arrives before school ends. Along with the retirement of school resource officer Pam Rumsey and choir director Sue Spurlock, SHS says goodbye to Brittany Kidd, who heads to a new district to teach Spanish. Before also bidding farewell to their spring sports careers, seniors contribute to record-breaking seasons. Softball and baseball pitchers Makenzie Dombrowski and Ricky DeLambo both earn PTC MVP honors. In the midst of a spring blood drive, play, talent show, senior/teacher basketball game, college signing day, band and choral concerts and award assemblies, schoolwork and class are a whirlwind before wrapping up in May.

1. JUNIOR Faith Carey performs the opening song "Fairy Tale," by Sara Bareilles, dressed as Disney Princess Belle. "Being in the play gives me the another place to call home, and more people to call family," Carey said. "I love being a part of it because it's nice to come together with people who have just as big of a passion for it as yourself. Everyone works so hard to put on these huge shows, and it's relieving to see the countless hours finally amount to something amazing."

BATTLING it out via rap are seniors Emily Fernandez and Cassidy Emch, while junior Alexis DeToro, sophomore Katie Curran, and junior Faith Carey look on. "It was a rap from a YouTube video that we found this past summer and thought it was hysterical, so Mr. B added it to the show, and made me Elsa and Emily Snow White," Emch explained. "It's just about the two snow princesses duking it out over who's the best. It was a lot of work keeping the tempo."

2. SIGNALING for applause from the audience is senior Alex Hahn. "A lot of times, people take that, since we actors love being on stage, we just want to be the center of attention," he said. "To a certain extent, this is true, but there is something so much more influential: when I'm up on stage performing – whether it be in the foreground or background – it's like I'm lighter than air, heart racing, adrenaline flowing, doing all that I love in that instant: making people feel something real, moving them in some way with my actions up before them. I will definitely try and find the opportunities as I continue through school, so I won't."

3. PLAYING a dwarf and Snow White are freshman Braden Tucker and sophomore Emily Wilkinson. "I do it because I always loved acting as a kid, like for my family and stuff," Tucker explained. "It was a very fun first year with great people."

5. SOPHOMORE Katie Curran sings "Part of Your World," from "The Little Mermaid." Curran said she originally auditioned for the play her freshman year because she loves to sing. "I figured that if I auditioned, I would go far," she said. "I ended up auditioning for the fall show, 'This is Halloween' and got one of the lead roles. During these past few shows I've realized I want to pursue a music career, whether that be a music producer or singer."

Nevels locks into states

Freshman is only female track member to advance

2. PREPARING her throw is sophomore Autumn Meek, who competed in both shot and discus.

3. HANDING off the baton to junior Delisha McMiller is sophomore Jayana Taylor. The team of McMiller, Taylor, senior Takita Williamson and freshman Savannah Nevels finished fourth in this race, with a time of 54.1 seconds. "I feel like if I would've better prepared myself, then I would have accomplished more of my goals individually, and as a team," Taylor said afterward. "I'm looking forward to making it past regional prelims and hopefully to the next step (states)."

4. SENIOR Takita Williamson sprints past her Aurora opponent April 17. Williamson and her team ran a 53.01 in the 4x100 relay.

5. TAKING a break from the action is junior Mikaila Brown, who has been running track since seventh grade. "I do it because I enjoy it and it's my favorite sport," she said. "I will be running track next year and...considering it is my senior year, I look forward to it being my best and a very successful season," she added.

6. GOOFING around on the track are sophomore Kayla Flick and senior Madison Westerh. Flick said she went out for track this year because her volleyball and basketball coaches encouraged her to do it, and because she wanted to stay in shape. "The most memorable part was talking to girls from other schools while waiting for our race," she added.

"Everyone was always really nervous, so we talked about how we were just going to walk around the track and all tie for first place."

7. JUNIOR Delisha McMiller prepares to run the 4x200. "I run track because I like to be a part of a team and it teaches great leadership and teamwork skills," she said. "One of the most memorable moments was when Coach Macer talked to us before and after our races [and] she would tell us how proud she was..."

8. RUNNING the 300-meter hurdles is senior Auliah Kendall. "It was funny, because at my first and last race, I fell over the same hurdle," Kendall said.

9. IN the PTC division finals May 15, sophomore Aajah Chapman throws the discus 90-02, finishing fifth.

10. RUNNING in one of the four events she competed in for the team is sophomore Kayla Flick.

11. SOPHOMORE Racquel Hubbard competes in the shotput. She said, some of the most memorable parts of being in track were "meeting new people at the different schools we traveled to and making PRs at most of the meets."

12. SOPHOMORE Kayla Flick passes the baton to senior Alison Benci in the 4x800m relay. The team of Flick, Benci, and seniors Madison and Meghan Westerh finished sixth with a time of 10:54:04.

Two Friends, One Goal

Freshman Savannah Nevells (left) finished 10th overall in the 200-meter dash at the state track meet with a time of 25.38. "It felt good to be the only girl on the team, but I was also shocked because of it," Nevells said. "I never thought I could make it to states for an individual event. During the meet I was very nervous and a little overwhelmed by all of it because it was my first time to states, and I was the only girl running for Streetsboro. Even though I didn't quite get the results I wanted, after the meet I was still satisfied with myself because I got that far, and improved so much from last track season." Nevells' best friend, sophomore Jayana Taylor (right), was by her side throughout the entire experience. "Jayana was very supportive of me the whole weekend," Nevells said. "She also helped me stay focused the whole meet, because I was so nervous that I couldn't relax. She would say, 'You got this, Savannah, I know you do. You wouldn't be here if you didn't.' She was right. I was psyching myself out before I had even ran." Taylor said she felt a mixture of 'excitement and nervousness' while watching her friend compete. "She was running at such a high level during the regular season and she was constantly doubting herself. To finally see her running at the state meet meant she accomplished so much. My job as her support system and best friend was to make sure she was focused and there was no negative energy around her..."

3. JUNIOR Ryan McCormack goofs around as he prepares his shot put throw May 5. "Track is a good time, even though I'm not that good," McCormack said. "I love joking around with my buds at meets and being serious in the weight room. Lifting at practice has made me so much stronger. I definitely don't regret joining."

4. SPRINGING into the air during his long-jump performance against the Ravens is freshman KeShun Jones. Jones was out for the first half of the season due to an ankle injury. "Now that I'm back," Jones said midway through, "I can't wait to show people what I can do." Jones ended up finishing fifth in the state in the 200m.

5. SENIOR Robert Conner throws shot put during the Ravenna dual meet. Conner said, "Track is a fun sport, and I've made a lot of new friends from other schools by doing field events."

6. FRESHMAN Benny Shaffer competes in the hurdles. Aside from doing both the 110 and 300m hurdles, Shaffer competed in long jump and in the 200m.

7. JUNIOR Jonte Florence hurdles in the 300-meter race during the May 5 dual meet against Ravenna. Florence finished first after catching his opponent at the last second.

8. RUNNING in the 400-meter race at the Aurora Invitational is sophomore Myron Jones. Jones finished close behind his Berkshire opponent, his 52.17-run earning him second place.

9. SOPHOMORE Jake Suttell runs at the Ravenna meet. Suttell prefers cross country over track because of the change in scenery.

10. RUNNING the 1600m race is senior Dante Tamburro. He refers to himself as "the fifth man," because Tamburro typically does not participate in distance relays and serves as an alternate. "Track is not life," Tamburro said. "Sometimes people take it too serious."

11. FRESHMAN Bailey Deever runs the 1600-meter race at the Ravenna dual meet.

12. CAPTURING a moment at the Ravenna meet are a group of throwers. "Milton Wilson and Louie McCallum have potential to earn big throws over the next few seasons," said the team's top thrower, senior Thomas Benson.

To my Super Six Seniors,
 Thank you so much for making this program what it is today. I have truly enjoyed every day that we have spent together in the past 4+ years and will miss each and everyone of you! ELE!!
 -- Coach Denisco (But always Coach Carey to you!)

Alexa Lutynsky

Congratulations, Alexa! I am so proud of the amazing and talented young lady you have become. Always believe in yourself, make good choices and be proud of your accomplishments. You are destined for great things!

Love,
 Mama

Auliah Kendall

I am very proud of you, all of your accomplishments, and most of all, for you being humble! Keep up the good work...You are the greatest young lady, beautiful inside and out.

Love, Mom

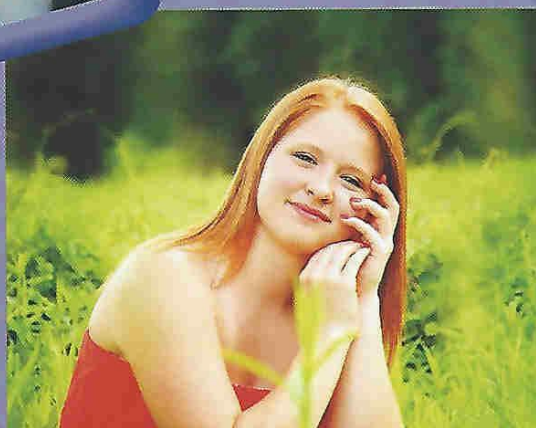

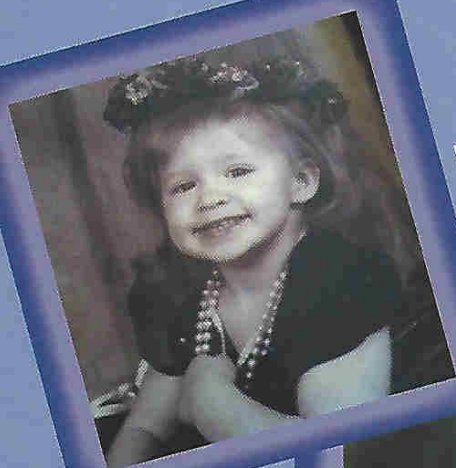

Allison Benci

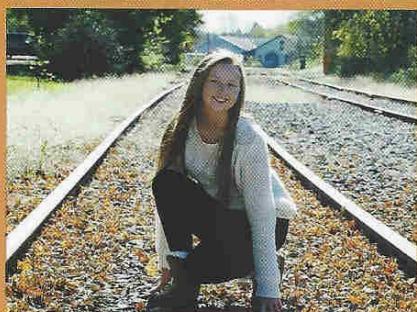

We couldn't be more proud of the young woman you have grown to be.

We love you!

Mom, Dad, Autz & Jer Jer

Becca Fleming

Becca, as your grandparents we have felt that you were our Miracle Child. You went from scooter to one who has shown your incredible passion for anything you do. Even though you are of short stature, you have shown that you are able to defend yourself and your position. Your spirit is strong, your sense of fair play is unbreakable and your personality draws many to you. Your presence has taught us parts of life we would have never otherwise known. Whenever you are not around us, your absence is very difficult to bear. Your sense of humor and ability to see humor in other people is one of your greatest assets. We want you to know that we have loved you deeply and always will. We both believe that you will have the ability to make the best of everything.

Brooke Rose Bolyard

The best gift we have ever received was becoming parents. We are truly blessed that you are our daughter. We are so proud of your dedication to academics, cheerleading and basketball. Wherever life's journey takes you we will be here to support you. You are our sunshine! Love always,
Dad, Mom, Rachel & Gizmo

Marissa Campisi

Marissa, we are so proud of you... You continue to strive toward your goals and we have no doubt that you will succeed. You have become such an amazing young woman and we wish you a lifetime of happiness and success on your new journey. Congratulations and we love you,
Bean! - Mom & Dad

Lauren Peel

Congratulations,
Lauren Taylor Peel!
You've reached the end,
only to find a new start.
We are proud of how much you've done to become who you are today!
We love you,
Mama & Papa Pancho
Dad & Diane

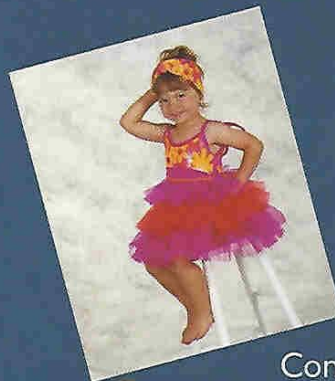

Natalie Schneider

Natalie,
We are so proud of the person you have become. The world is a better place because you are in it. Never hide that beautiful personality of yours.
Good luck in college.
Love,
Mom, Haley, Josh & Dad

Taylor Tuma

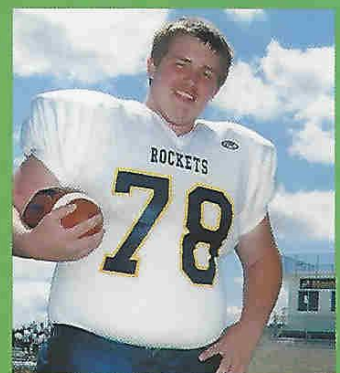

Congratulations, Taylor! We are so proud to be your parents! Being a part of your journey has been second to none. We admire your leadership, determination and, most of all, your heart of gold! We believe in you! You're a shining star and we love you to the moon and back!
Mom, Dad, Kayla & Jared

Brionna Taylor Reynolds

You are an amazing person. I am so proud of you. You are beautiful, smart and hard working. You can become anything you want to be. Remember to dream big and continue to choose the right.
I love you, Brionna!
Mom

Seth Tyler Reynolds

You are so awesome. I am so proud of you. You are a smart, amazing, considerate young man. I love the way you are not afraid to try new things. Remember to dream big and continue to choose the right.
I love you, Seth!
Mom

Jake Gould

You are our gift from God and such a blessing to us - not a day goes by that we are not thankful for the love and laughter you have brought into our lives. In the blink of an eye, our precious little boy grew up and we are so proud of the strong, confident and compassionate young man you have become.

We love with all our heart and wish you happiness as you reach for the stars in the next exciting adventure called life.

Mom & Dad

"Don't cry because it's over.
Smile because it happened."

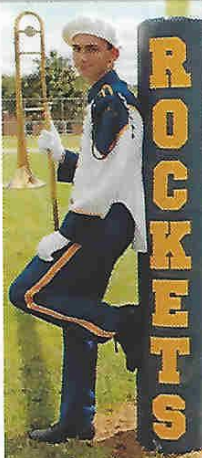

- Dr. Seuss

Dylan Bertka

Your family is so proud of you! Good luck at Kent State University. Hope all your dreams come true.

Love you,
Mom & Dad, Chad &
Brandon Bertka
& Grandma

Takita Williamson

We thank God for such a beautiful young lady that you have grown into.

Continue to let God lead you throughout life's end endeavor's.

-Angela, Ferand,
Daja & Vivian

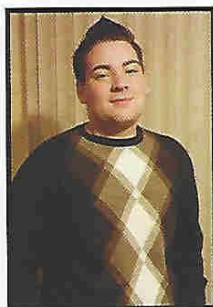

Brandon Miller

Brandon,

I blinked my eyes for a moment, and suddenly you became a man. I may not carry you in my arms anymore, but I will ALWAYS carry you in my heart, You have given me so many reasons to be proud of the man that you have become, but the proudest moment for me is telling everyone that you are my son.

I love you now and Forever!

Love Always, Mom

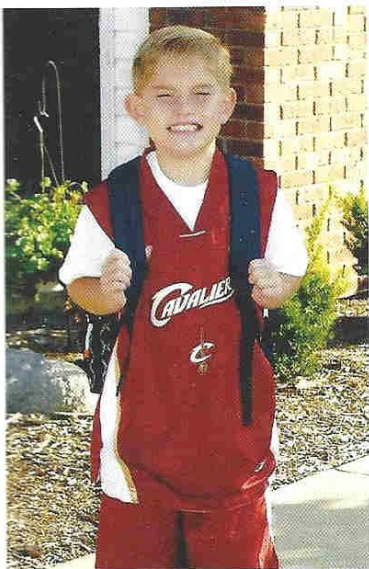

Dylan Rhome

Dylan, words cannot describe how proud we are of the young man you have become! You are such a sincere person with a heart of gold. Make waves, take chances and chase your dreams into reality! "Try not to become a man of success, but rather try to become a man of value" -Albert Einstein

We love you,
Mom & Dad

Cody Johnson

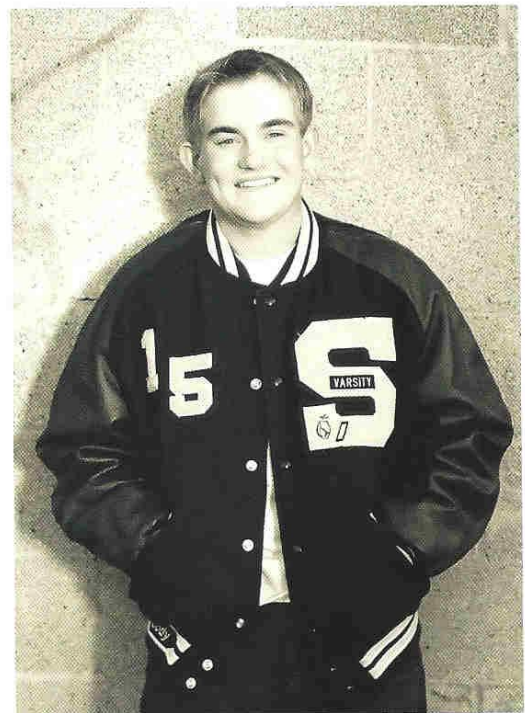

We are proud of all of your accomplishments, but are even more proud of the young man that you have become. We know that your future is bright.

Cody, in everything that you undertake in life, always remember to "Play like a champion today."

We love you.

Mom, Dad, Brooke, Andy, Blaik, Lissette, Drew & Ryan

"You were 6 months old and full of fun,
With a blink of an eye you were suddenly 1.
There were so many things we were going to do,
But I turned my head and you were 2.
At this time you were still dependent on me,
But independence took over when you were 3.
Your 3rd birthday - another year I couldn't ignore,
But seems as I lit those candles, you weren't 3 but 4!
This was the year you really strived.
You went to sleep and woke up 5!
Now you're ready for books and rules
For this is the year that you go to school...
The big day came and you were anxious to go.
We walked to the school bus, oh so slow.

As the bus drove away
and you waved good-bye,
I felt a lump in my throat and a tear in my eye.
Just as soon as the bus brings you home and you jump to the ground,
Well now, soon you will wear
your cap and gown.
Time goes by so fast, so hard to believe.
Seems like yesterday you were home with me.
So, I'm holding on to these memories
as long as I can,
Because the next time I look,
I'll be seeing a WOMAN..."

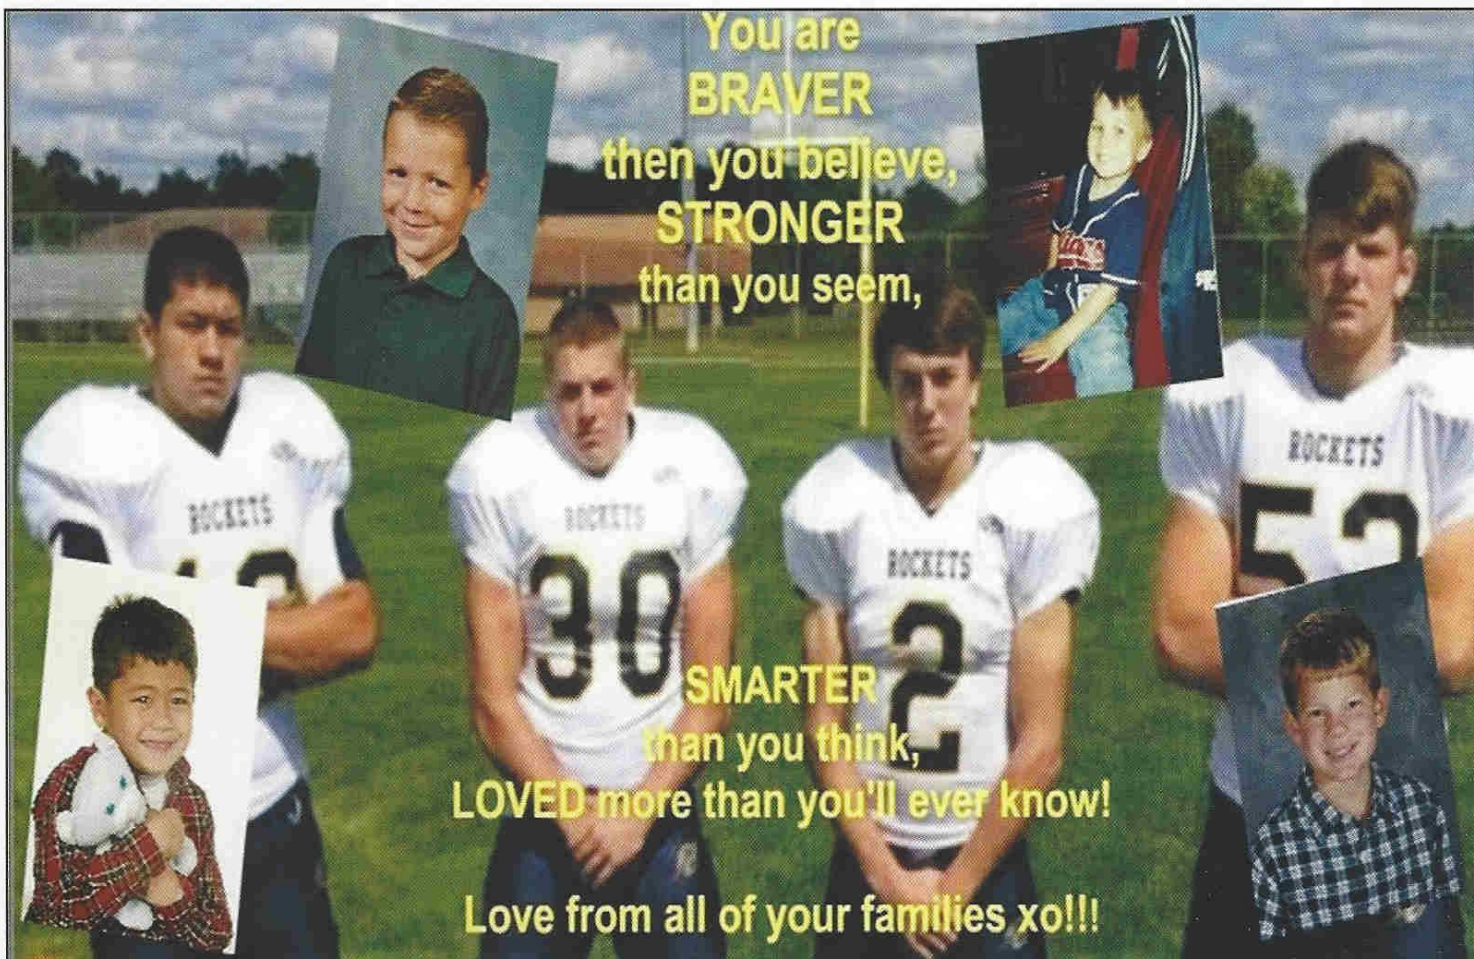

Congratulations, Malia!
Love, Mommy, Papa G. & Bear.

You are BRAVER
then you believe,
STRONGER
than you seem,

SMARTER
than you think,
LOVED more than you'll ever know!

Love from all of your families xo!!!

Chase Galinsky

Congratulations, Chase! We are so proud of you!

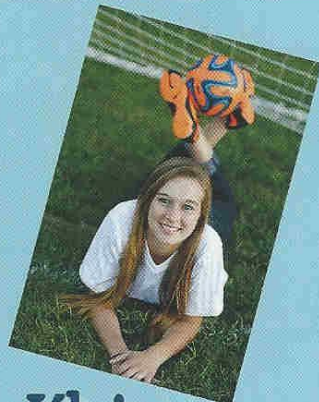

Love,
Dad, Mom, Justin, Hanna & Matt

Devon Klein

We are so very proud of you. Congratulations on your graduation! Good luck, and reach for the stars. We love you to infinity and beyond.

Love,
Dad, Mom, Kaylee, and Lainey

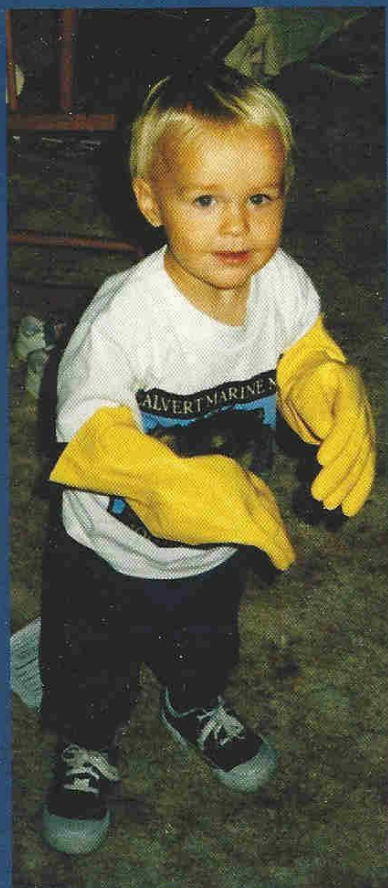

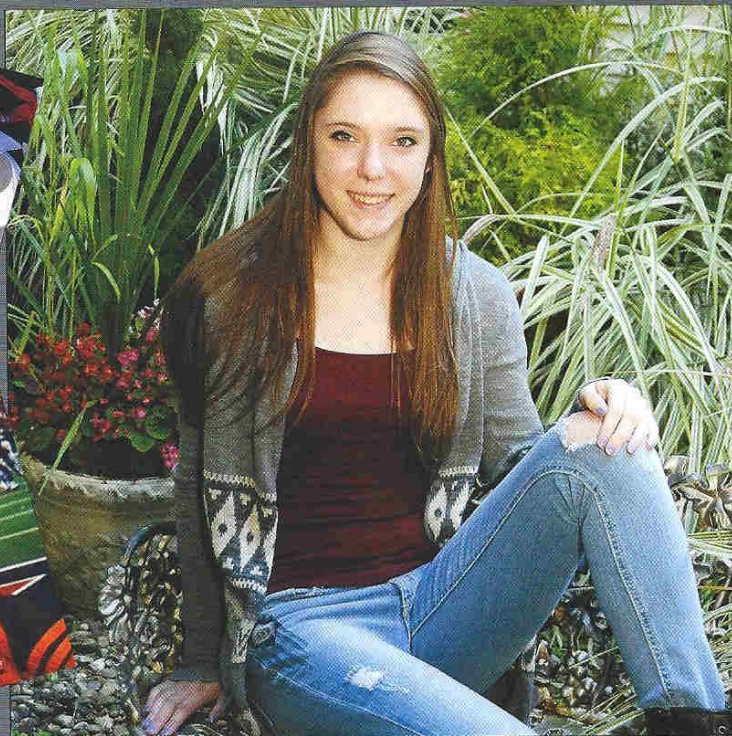

"We hope you never lose your sense of wonder,
You get your fill to eat but always keep that hunger,
May you never take one single breath for granted,
God forbid love ever leave you empty handed,
We hope you still feel small when you stand beside the ocean,
Whenever one door closes we hope one more opens,
Promise us that you'll give faith a fighting chance,
And when you get the choice to sit it out or dance,
We hope you dance."

2015 Yearbook Staff

"Sixth period with this yearbook staff has been my favorite time of the day. They have been a delight to teach and work with because they care so much about making this book fantastic, and about working hard for me. I am so sad about losing all my seniors, but can't wait to see what the future holds for all of them."

< Adviser Polly Dierkens

Eighteen students and adviser Polly Dierkens met during sixth period – and any other time they were able to fit it into their schedules – to put together this 160-page yearbook in Room 302.

Since seniors filled 17/18 positions on the staff, they were constantly looking back and reflecting on their earlier high school years. After searching Pinterest, the group debated between the memories theme and another involving travel/destination. Then, at the fall Jostens' yearbook conference at Lakeland Community College, senior Daman Singh sketched a cover graphic featuring a lock, prompting the class to favor the memories theme. Senior Shania Williams then created a design for the title page, but the class loved it enough to make it the cover.

Blue and gold were pulled out of the photos via Adobe Photoshop for the custom litho cover, which features process color 317 and shine FX. The theme, "Locked in 2015 Memories" is carried out through headlines, content of the Q & A and in the alternative copy.

The 8.5x11 book was created using Jostens' online "Yearbook Avenue" program. Primary headlines are 48 pt. Genuine, with the secondary heads in 32 pt. Cursive Hand. Captions are 10 pt. Chantilly, with the first word of each highlighted in all caps and a coordinating color. Photo credits are in 10 pt. bold, AYT Albert, matching the color of the first word. (AYT Albert is also the font used for alternative copy on fall sports pages.) Subjects of COBs are identified in Genuine 8 pt. COBs were created via yearbook avenue's "Effects" and/or in Adobe Photoshop. Photoshop was also used to crop and edit the lighting on many of the pictures. Photos were shot using the three classroom Canon T3 Rebels, and various other cameras staffers owned/borrowed. Venditti Studio took the posed sports team photos. Lifetouch handled the majority of the portraits, though seniors were permitted to submit shots taken by other photographers.

The basic book was on sale for $60 until September 15, $65 until Thanksgiving, increased to $70 through March 31 and finally sold for $75.

Jostens rep Larry Intihar helped inspire, motivate and try to push an eggshell color for the endsheets. (It didn't work!). With the help of plant consultant Joy Woomeer, Mrs. D. and the class completed pages in record time, despite the year's challenges and distractions. A new principal at the helm led to changes such as no powder puff game, eventful class meetings on the schedule, and the re-introduction of a talent show. The page ladder had to be revamped numerous times, and the staff had no choice but to be flexible. Schedule changes following the first semester turned an initial three boys on staff into senior Kyle Bish as the "last man standing." Despite drama, technology challenges, and eight snow days, the class came together to critique/revise each other's pages to make sure everyone was happy with the end product. They accomplished this in the midst of frantic studying for anatomy, watching Kid President and the Weingart wedding videos, constant selfies, senior Maddie Rogowski answering the phone like a secretary and repeatedly knocking over Mrs. Dierkens' seashells, and everybody listening to "Shut Up and Dance" by Walk the Moon.

Senior Ali Benci >

"Yearbook has been an experience in itself of being both stressful and enjoyable."

Senior Maddie Rogowski > "Yearbook has taught me a lot and has inspired me to go into the design field. I will never forget this class."

Senior Bethany Gency > "It's only fun 'cause Hannah Roble is in it."

Senior Kyle Bish > "The prettiest girls in the school are in yearbook :)"
